3. [American Indians]. Catlin, George. Illustrations of the Manners, Customs, & Condition of the North American Indians. With Letters & Notes Written during Eight Years of Travel and Adventure among the Wildest and Most Remarkable Tribes now Existing [Two Volumes]. London: Chatto & Windus, 1876. viii, 264 pp; viii, 266 pp. Illus. with 180 chromolithograph plates (incl. 3 maps, 1 folding) many with multiple images. Sm. 4to. Publisher's red pictorial cloth decorated in black and gilt. Howes C241. Lipperheide 1618. Pilling 689. See Sabin 11537 (1866). Streeter Sale 4277 (1866). Field 260 (1841). Wagner-Camp 84:4 (1841).

First edition printed in color. The classic work on the American Indian covering all aspects of their lives with the images taken from the close to 600 paintings Catlin produced while visiting nearly fifty tribes. First published in 1841, this is the first edition to have the plates printed in color (though a few hand-colored copies were produced earlier). "One of the most original, authentic, and popular works on the subject. Humboldt characterizes the author as 'one of the most admirable observers of manners who ever lived among the aborigines of America'," (Sabin). Very good copies, boards slightly scuffed and bumped, joints just starting, Vol. II rejoined, recased, and endpapers renewed, plates and text bright. [34295]

Peace Commissioners Murdered

4. [American Indians]. Gillem, Alvan. Letter from the Secretary of War, Transmitting, in answer to a Senate resolution of March 2, 1877, a copy of the final report of the operations of the troops in the Modoc country, by General Alvan Gillem. Streeter Texas 1343. Brunet I: 963 (1841). Leclerc 1075. Graesse I: 436 (1841).

First edition. "The most exhaustive work on this episode [the Pastry War] with illustrations, mainly by Blanchard, who, assisting also as interpreter, had additional opportunity for gaining information. He accompanied Baudin's representative to Mexico and other places, and used his pen freely in observations on the scenery, the people, and their institutions, all of which served to add variety and interest to the narrative, the attractive style of which owes much to the revision of Dauzats," (Bancroft, Hist. Mexico, p. 204). Raines, discussing Maissin's report, concludes that "Admiral Baudin's favorable report of Texas doubtless hastened the recognition of the Republic by France," (Bibliography of Texas. p. 145). Printing on India paper was not common; Sabin also notes that the book was printed for 45 fr. with vignettes and 25 fr without. A very good or better copy, boards and spine rubbed, scattered foxing mainly marginal and to verso of plates. [34080]

Palau 192632. Adams 1616. Cowan II, p. 455.

First edition. "Much of this novel relates to California in the gold rush days, and there is much about well known California characters such as Joaquín Murieta" (Streeter Sale V, p.2034). "This book first appeared in Madrid, Spain, as a serial in 1871-1872. The author writes of early California in a narrative style, but most of his book consists of flights of fancy. In the second part of the first volume he weaves Joaquín Murieta into the story and deals with him at length, following the details of the California Police Gazette version of Murieta's life very closely-so closely, in fact, that certain parts are merely translations from the English text into Spanish. He calls upon his imagination in relating Murieta's early life and ancestry," (Adams, Six-Guns and Saddle Leather, p.475). Rare. Last at auction in the Streeter Sale in 1968. Boards scuffed and edgeworn, hinges cracked, worm holes on inner margin, scattered foxing and soiling, one leaf with a marginal chip to the corner, a few signatures started, still overall a good copy of a scarce book. $150.00

First edition. One of the earliest books on New Mexico and the first written by one who had access to the archives, "this volume is mainly written from a diary the author kept during a residence of two and a half years in New Mexico," (Preface). "No book treating of New Mexico and its people, at a time when the influence of the United States was so strongly felt, contains so much information pertaining thereto, and few narratives of any period of New Mexico's later history are more interestingly written" (Larned, p. 207). "Touches somewhat on the early exploration of the Rio Grande region of Texas," (Raines, Biblio. Texas, p. 64). The "drawings ... were executed by Brevet Lieutenant Colonel Eaton [Joseph Horace Eaton] ... and F. A. Percy, Esq. [Frederic Augustus Percy], of El Paso, Texas." Contains a vocabulary of sixty words in Navajo and English. $500.00

Large paper edition. One of a special edition of two hundred and fifty copies issued in one volume and printed on large paper in royal octavo size. "Scott had been the associate of every president from Jefferson to Lincoln and the emissary in critical undertakings of most of them. In his public career of nearly half a century he had been a main factor in ending two wars, saving the country from several others, and acquiring a large portion of its territory. Supreme political preferment was doubtless denied him because of conditions and his idiosyncrasies. Called "Fuss and Feathers" because of his punctiliousness in dress and decorum, he often gave the impression of irritability. He possessed a whimsical egotism, was inclined to flourishes of rhetoric, often unfortunate, and was too outspoken in his beliefs for his own advancement. On the other hand, the openness of his generous character led him into acts incomprehensible to calculating natures. He was a scholar, but knew when to discard rules, so that the letter of directions did not shackle him. His initiative and self-reliance never deserted him. He made use of his many talents unsparingly, and the only one of his hazardous undertakings he failed to carry out beyond the most sanguine expectations was that of his own ambition to reach the presidency," (Dictionary of American Biography). Provenance: James Torr Harmer, his bookplate on front pastedown. Scarce in this edition. None at auction in the last 30 years. Spine chipped at head and heel, front joint partially split, owners' bookplates on front pastedown, 1907 photo of Scott tipped on to free front endpaper, endpaper with chip at spine, otherwise contents very good, many leaves unopened (uncut). Draper: Mormon Bibliography 8122. Abajian: Blacks and their Contributions to the American West 3418.

First edition. "Showing The responsibilities of the late Administration on account of the acquisitions which were the result of our recent war with Mexico - the entire harmony of the elements on which the prosperity of the different sections of the Union depend - the impracticability of maintaining an equilibrium between the free States and slave States, and how useless such equilibrium, if attainable, would be to the latter - the inconsiderable importance of the various slavery questions which, during the last few years, have made so much disturbance in and out of Congress - the legal, social, and physical obstacles to the introduction of slavery into our newly acquired territories, and the certainty that such territories will ultimately be admitted into the Union as free States, whether "the proviso" be or be not adopted, and setting forth the objections to the scheme of compromise and adjustment proposed by the aforesaid bill, and urging considerations to evince the superiority of the method of treating these subjects recommended by President Taylor," (from the title page). A defense of Zachary Taylor (who had offered Smith the appointment to be the first United States Secretary of the Interior, which Smith turned down, just having been elected Senator) ... Also of some Mormon interest as it quotes a letter from General John Wilson praising the Mormons for their industry and includes letters from John M. Bernhisel and Erastus Snow, concerned chiefly with the physical description of Deseret. A very good copy, browning on title, small soil spot on last page, pencil numbering on corner of each Proceedings in the House of Representatives, March 17, 22, and 23, 1870, on the Bill Explaining away the Vested Rights of the Sutro Tunnel Company. Washington, D. C.: F. & J. Rives & Geo. A. Bailey, Printers, 1870. 24 pp. 8vo. Stitched.

First edition. Sutro planned to correct the flooding of the deep mines of the Comstock lode under Virginia City, NV with a four-mile-long tunnel that would both drain and ventilate the mines. "The Bank of California also influenced Congress to give the tunnel a right-of-way across public land. Shortly thereafter, however, Ralston and Sharon [of BofC] did a volte-face. Unwilling to share their monopoly over San Francisco's desert 'colony' with an ambitious interloper, they proceeded to freeze Sutro out. Their 'bank ring' successfully blocked Sutro's efforts to get financing from New York capitalists and political help in Carson City and Washington," (DAB). Congress, Horace Greeley, and British bankers finally helped Sutro to succeed. Also found in "The Sutro Tunnel in Congress." OCLC shows 11 copies. Dampstained throughout, but mostly visible on title page, first, and last leaves; small LOC duplicate stamp; a good copy. [27906]

A Very Scarce History Of The Famous Mine

144. [Utah] Chittenden, L. E. (Lucius Eugene). The Emma Mine. A Statement of the Facts connected with the Emma Mine; its Sale to the Emma Silver Mining Company (limited) of London, and its Subsequent History and Present Condition. New York: B.H. Tyrrel, Law Printer, 1876. 76 pp. 8vo. Plain paper wrappers. Eberstadt 138-669. OCLC: 21527481. Spence: British Investments and the American Mining Frontier: pp.139-190.

First edition. Prepared for the use of the Committee of Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives, in the Investigation of the Connection of Gen. Schenck with said Company. "A very scarce history of the famous mine," (Eberstadt). The Emma Silver Mine, touted as "par excellence, THE mine of Utah" by no less than the London Mining Journal, devolved into scandal, becoming one of the most infamous mining companies in the American West. Robert Cumming Schenck (1809-90) while minister to Great Britain, (1871-76), allowed the Emma Silver Mining Company (for a large fee of course) to use his name in promoting its stock, which soon proved fraudulent. This congressional investigation forced his resignation. A very good copy, later wrapper repaired at the front hinge. [33817]

$100.00

Second printing. Sabin notes that the second printing has the same imprints and collation as the first. Spine ends worn, a few small splits at the upper joints, foxed throughout, signed Charles A. Gillette 1852 on free front endpaper, binding quite solid, overall a good to very good copy. [32910]

149. Woods, Lawrence M. Alex Swan and the Swan Companies. Norman: Arthur H. Clark, 2006. 293 pp. Illus. with 13 b/w photos and 1 map. 8vo. Cloth.

$30.00

First edition. Western Lands and Waters Series, XXII. "The Swan name is inseparable from the history of Wyoming and the West, and when Swan made his mark in Wyoming in the 1880s, ranching was king. The largest among Alex Swan's many corporate creations, The Swan Land and Cattle Company, Ltd., was one of the larger livestock companies to operate in the American West, and it survived long after its founder's financial debacle in the great winter of 1886-1887. At one time, the Swan was said to be the largest private landowner in Wyoming, and at its peak it was certainly one of the largest sheep companies in the country. This new work for the first time relates the life of Alex Swan, and offers a complete history of the Swan companies" (Publisher). A fine copy. As new. No dust jacket as issued. [37374]

150. Woods, Lawrence M. Wyoming's Big Horn Basin to 1901. A Late Frontier. Spokane: Arthur H. Clark, 1997. 286 pp. Illus. with 15 b/w photos and one map. 8vo. Cloth.

First edition. Western Lands and Waters Series, XVIII. 1 of 1000 copies printed. "This new study examines the Big Horn Basin during its frontier period. Isolated by Indian lands and impassable natural barriers, the Big Horn Basin remained a frontier for years after the frontier faded from other Western regions. The Indian Treaties of 1868 had left the Basin effectively encircled by Crow, Sioux, and Shoshoni Indians. The Yellowstone cordillera, Big Horn River and Wind River cut off travel on the west, east and south. Secluded and remote, the Big Horn Basin attracted only the most rugged and foolhardy, giving it a history distinct in the American saga," (Publisher). A fine copy. As new. No dust jacket as issued.
