"wir bitten die delegierten jeder gruppe, sorge zu tragen, dass die schließung des bauhauses in der tages- und fachpresse auch nachträglich gebrandmarkt wird. es wäre auf die befruchtende tätigkeit und die bedeutunmg des bauhaus hinzuweisen, und zwar gerade in bezug auf seine weitgehende ausstrahlung, die anscheinend in deutschland immer noch nicht verstanden wird."

" We ask the delegates of each group to take care that the closure of the bauhaus in the daily and specialized press is also subsequently branded. it would be necessary to point out the stimulating activity and the importance of the bauhaus, especially with regard to its extensive significance, which apparently still does not seem to be understood in Germany."

10 Döcker, Richard. Terrassentyp. Krankenhaus, Erholungsheim, Hotel, Bürohaus, Einfamilienhaus, Siedlungshaus, Miethaus und die Stadt. Stuttgart, Julius Hoffmann Verlag 1930. (4), 141, (3) pp. with 217 plans and photo illustrations. 30 x 23 cm. Original cloth. EUR 180

When the Werkbund was planning its exhibition 'Die Wohnung' in Stuttgart in 1927, it was Döcker who was the spokesman for a group of young architects and artists who were eager to make sure that the orientation of the exhibition would be towards the 'New Building' philosophy. The plan that was finally accepted for the Weißenhof housing development was designed by Mies van der Rohe, but Döcker himself was in charge of the building works, and it was he who designed and built numbers 21 and 22 of the houses (which were later destroyed in the war). As a result of his assignment, and, even more, the Waiblingen Hospital, designed on his terrace principle, Döcker became internationally famous. He developed his ideas on this kind of building in his book 'Terrassentyp'. Muriel Emanuel (Hrsg). Contemporary architects, New York 1980, S. 208-209.- Jaeger 0538 Abb. 202. Upper and lower spine slightly frayed.

11 Ehrenburg, Ilya. Moi Parizh. Moscow, Izogiz 1933. 240pp. With 121 illustrations after photos by Ilya Ehrenburg and El Lissitzky (2). 16 x 18,5 cm. Original publisher's boards. EUR 700

The book was designed by El Lissitzky who also provided preliminary photographs, and photomontages. The Paris of Ilya Ehrenburg knows no Louvre or Notre Dame and shows the Eiffel Tower crouching behind shabby facades and building timber. The Paris in which the Russian revolutionary lived from 1908 to 1940 was a place in which completely normal people with little money and hope struggled through life. Ehrenburg photographed them at their doors and in cafes, at work and at rest, in their poverty and dignity, and wrote brief texts that describe them. My Paris is an impressive work of photographic social reporting. It presents portraits of the elderly and children, workers and outcasts and stands in contrast to the glamorous Paris of so many idealized representations.

The edges of the spine slightly rubbed, the cover slightly dusty and stained.

Collaborators in the years 1915 to 1920 at their partnership, Wilhelmwerk, they focused especially on trademark and branding design, developing new ideas and styles for the corporate logo that remain influential today, exemplified in their book “Handelsmarken und Fabrikzeichen” of 1917. 19 Itagaki, Takao. Kikai To Geijutsu Tono Koryu [Dt. Titel: Der Kulturelle Austausch von Maschinen und Kunst]. Tokyo, Iwanami 1929. 4, 181 Seiten. 35 Kunstdruckseiten mit zahlreichen Abbildungen. 20 x 15,5 cm.
Original Leinenband mit zwei montierten Fotos. EUR 1800

Das Buch "Der Kulturelle Austausch zwischen Maschinen und Kunst" ist eines der bedeutendsten japanischen Avantgarde Bücher, das den Einfluss des Bauhauses in Japan aufzeigt. Die Gestaltung und die Darstellung der Entwicklung von Kunst und Architektur hin zur Versachlichung und zur Maschinenkunst ist eine der schlüssigsten Darstellungen dieser Entwicklungsrichtung in den 20er Jahren in Japan. Takaho Itagaki (1894-1966) studierte Deutsch und Philosophie an der Universität Tokio. Dort spezialisiert er sich auf die Geschichte der westlichen Kunst und Medien. Mit seinen zahlreichen Veröffentlichungen zur Fotografie, Film und Architektur gilt er als wichtiger Transformator der westlichen Kultur und Ästhetik nach Japan. Itagaki zeigt in seinem Werk "Der Kulturelle Austausch zwischen Maschinen und Kunst" Entwicklungslinien von der Renaissance bis zur Modernen Baukunst auf, die teilweise mit Balkendiagrammen in Bauhausmanier in Bezug gesetzt werden. Über die Architektur hinaus wird die Fotografie und der Film als moderne Medien dargestellt. Ein letzter Textbeitrag stammt von Dziga Vertov. Es werden u.a. folgende Bildbeispiele von folgenden Künstlern gezeigt: Le Corbusier, Gropius, Mies van der Rohe, Behrens, Mendelsohn, Vesnin, Garnier, Lissitzky, Tatlin, und Tschernikow, Amerikanische Hochhäuser und Industriebauten, Bauhaus Dessau, Stahlstühle von Breuer und Gropius. Fotos von Richter, Man Ray, Leger und Biermann. Es finden sich Bilder und Skulpturen von Futuristen und Konstruktivisten wie Delaunay, Archipenko, Gleizes, Belling, Severini, Beckmann und Schlemmer. Eine Reihe Bildbeispiele zeigen Flugzeuge Maschinen und Autos in ihren Entwicklungslinien. Das bekannte Bauhaus Frontdesign wurde dem Bauhausbuch Nr. 8 Moholy Nagy; Malerei, Fotografie, Film, 1925 auf S. 116/117 entnommen und als Prägung auf dem Frontdeckel ausgeführt. Das Foto mit dem Kamera-Auge stammt von der berühmten Überblendung aus "Der Mann mit der Kamera", 1928 von Dziga Vertov.

20 Kaufmann, Emil. Von Ledoux bis Le Corbusier. Ursprung und Entwicklung der autonomen Architektur. Wien and Leipzig, Verlag Dr. Rolf Passer 1933. 64pp, with 88 illustrations. Original wrappers with original illustrated dust jacket. EUR 320

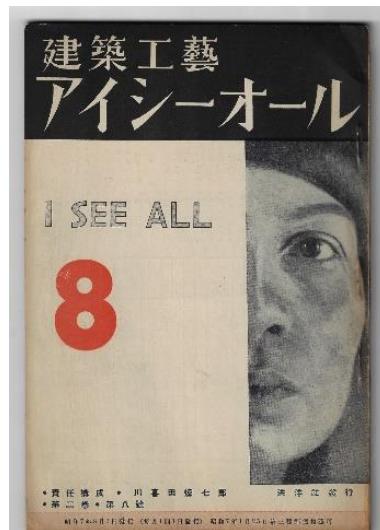

Emil Kaufmann (1891 in Vienna – 1953 in Cheyenne, Wyoming) was an Austrian art and architecture historian. Kaufmann is best known for his studies of neo-classicism. From 1913 he studied at both the University of Innsbruck and the University of Vienna. In Vienna he studied under Max Dvořák, Josef Strzygowski and Moriz Dreger in the spirit of the so-called Vienna School of Art History, such as Alois Riegl and Franz Wickhoff, who attempted to give greater objectivity to the study of art. Kaufmann fought as a soldier in World War I and afterwards attended to his studies intermittently because of illness. He received his Ph.D. in 1920, writing his dissertation under Dvořák on the development of the architecture of Ledoux and classicism. After completing his studies, Kaufmann was unable to obtain an academic position and so earned a living as a bank clerk. In 1933, Kaufmann published the book "Von Ledoux bis Le Corbusier", which argued for a formal aesthetic continuity between neoclassicism and modernism. It was regarded by established Austrian scholars such as Hans Sedlmayr as symptomatic of all that was bad about Modernism.

21 Kenchiku Kogei. [Architectural Craft]. Aisioru. I see all. Tokyo, Koyosho 1932. Editor: Kawakita Renshichiro.

Kawakita Renshichiro (1902-1975) was an architect and interior designer and a key figure during the early phase of modernism in Japan. In 1932 he founded the Institute of New Architecture and Industrial Arts with the aim of bringing the ideas of the Bauhaus school to Japan. The present monthly magazine (also launched in 1932) showcases aspects of modern commercial architecture (shops, restaurants, theatres, cinemas, libraries, schools, factories) as well as interior design (showcases, shelving, chairs etc.) from the West and their application in Japan. Most of the articles are by Kawakita himself but there are also translations from Western sources. 'I see all' was strongly influenced by the Russian and German avant-garde and later issues discuss the influence of technology on contemporary art (Hans Arp) and photography (montage). References are made to new publications and magazines for specific countries (Germany: Die Form; Moderne Bauformen, Die Neue Linie; Soviet Union: USSR in Construction, Cobetckay Apxntektypa) showing the keen awareness in Japan of modernist trends abroad.

22 Klee, Paul. Pädagogisches Skizzenbuch. München, Albert Langen 1925. 50, (1) pp. with many drawings. 23,5 x 19 cm. Original illustrated wrappers (designed by L. Moholy-Nagy).

EUR 1600

Bauhausbücher, vol. 2. In his legendary Pedagogical Sketchbook, Paul Klee takes a theoretical approach to drawing using geometric shapes and lines. Evincing a desire to reunite artistic design and craft, and written in a tone that oscillates between the seeming objectivity of the diagram, the rhetoric of science and mathematics, and an abstract, quasi-mystical intuition, Klee's text expresses key aspects of the Bauhaus' pedagogy and guiding philosophies. And while Klee's method is deeply personal, in the context of the fundamentally multivocal Bauhaus, his individual approach to abstract form is typical in its idiosyncrasy. In this book, he presents his own theory about the relationships between line, shape, surface, and color in the visual space. Very fine copy.

EUR 900

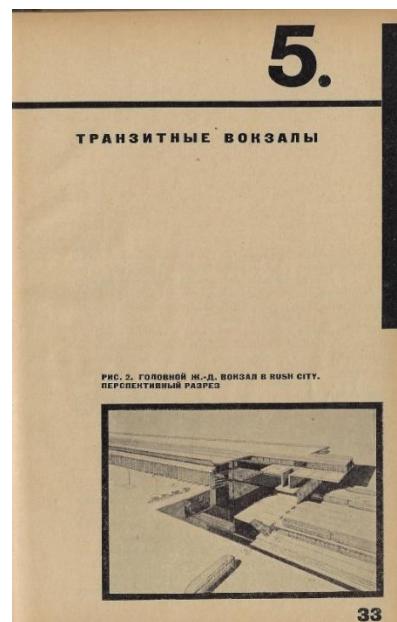

Neues Bauen in der Welt, volume 2. One of the most important immigrants from Europe was Richard J. Neutra (1892-1970), who became an American citizen in 1932. A native of Vienna, like his schoolfriend and sometime partner Rudolph Schindler, Neutra settled in California and helped to secure the acceptance of European functionalism in the 1920s. He was already familiar with Frank Lloyd Wright's work before he left for America in 1923, where he first worked in the studio of Holabird & Roche in Chicago. He visited Louis Sullivan before his death and was present at Sullivan's funeral in 1924, where he met Wright for the first time, a man who was to exert a considerable influence on him. Neutra's earliest books were devoted to describing his American experiences for the benefit of European readers. "Wie baut Amerika?" (1927), for example, gives an account of the construction of the Palmer House in Chicago, in which he had himself been involved during his time with Holabird & Roche, while his second book, "Amerika. Die Stilbildung des neuen Bauens in den Vereinigten Staaten" (1930), was written during the time when, in cooperation with Schindler, he was building the Lovell House in Los Angeles, the project which made him famous overnight. In this book he promoted Schindler's work and the Californian architecture of Irving Gill, which was almost unknown in Europe at the time. These works of Neutra's made a great impact on Europe – even on Japan – and did more to promote an understanding of American architecture than, for example, Erich Mendelsohn's "Amerika: Bilderbuch eines Architekten" (1926). 41 Rasch, Heinz und Bodo. Wie bauen? Materialien und Konstruktionen für industrielle Produktion. Jahres-Ausgabe 1928 [on cover: No. 2, 1929]. Stuttgart, Akademischer Verlag Dr. Fritz Wedekind & Co [1928]. 287pp., with 378 drawings and photo illustrations. 29,5 x 22 cm. Original publisher's cloth backed boards with illustrated cover. € 480

„Wie bauen?“ was published twice in a strongly changed concept and layout. The first book, dating from 1927, with a preface by Adolf Behne, was subtitled „Bau und Einrichtung der Werkbundsiedlung am Weißenhof in Stuttgart 1927“ referring directly to the Weissenhof settlement. The second book, bearing the same title undoubtedly because of the commercial success of the first (only adding to the front cover the year „1929“ and „Nr. 2“ in red color) is subtitled more general: „Materialien und Konstruktionen für industrielle Produktion - Jahresausgabe 1928“ (Materials and structures for industrial production - annual edition 1928).

The puzzling 1929 - instead of 1928 - on the cover must have been the publisher's choice to have a better sell over more years. In the second issue we find an advertisement of „Wie bauen?“ Nr. 3 (annual edition 1929) which, however, was never published. The advertisement promised a content showing the development of hand craft building towards recent industrial production, tables on optimal dimensions of building elements of American building industry.” Jos Tomlow.

42 Raymond.- Antonin Raymond. His work in Japan 1920-1935. Perface by Elie Faure and an article by Antonin and Noémi P. Raymond. Tokio, Johnan Shoin 1935. (6), 29pp., 104pp. 40pp with numerous photographs and illustrations. 28 x 31 cm. Original metal spiral binding. EUR 1800

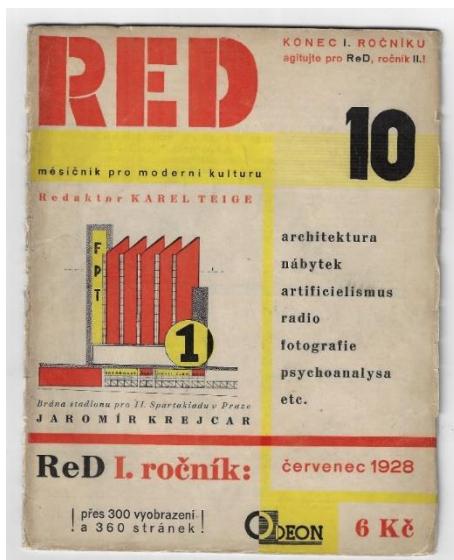

Important and beautifully designed book. Czech born American citizen Raymond and his wife and partner Noemi both worked for Frank Lloyd Wright at Taliesin and then on the Imperial Hotel in Japan. He left to do his own work in 1921. Though influenced by Wright and Corbusier he wanted to incorporate more Japanese traditions in his designs. He is considered one of the fathers of modern Japanese Architecture. Most of his assistants were Japanese and some followed him to the US in 1939. He designed projects around the world and in post war Japan following his principles of simplicity, economy, elegance and lightness.

„The most important Czech avant-garde periodical and principal platform of the Devetsil group in the late twenties - early thirties, with texts and illustrations by almost all major architects, artists and authors of the period. 44 Roh, Franz and Jan Tschichold. Foto-Auge. 76 Fotos der Zeit. oeil et photo. 76 photographies de notre temps. Photo-eye. 76 photoes [!] of the period. Stuttgart, Akademischer Verlag Dr. Fritz Wedekind & Co 1929. 18pp. and 76 full-page halftone plates. 29,5 x 21 cm. Original illustrated wrappers. Japanese-bound.
EUR 900

First edition. Design of book cover and typographic arrangement by Jan Tschichold. Photo on the cover by El Lissitzky (self-portrait). Parallel texts in German, French and English. "Two books were published to accompany the 1929 "Film und Foto" exhibition in Stuttgart organized by the Deutscher Werkbund --Foto-Auge, edited by Franz Roh and Jan Tschichold, and Es kommt der neue Fotograf!, edited by Werner Gräff. With its cover of El Lissitzky's now famous "Self Portrait" of the artist as a hand in service to the eye celebrating the monocular medium (photography), Foto-Auge served both as an catalog of the work exhibited as well as a visual polemic detailing Laszlo Moholy-Nagy's New Vision. Featuring work from the world's leading modernist photographers, as well as anonymous news and bureau photos, Roh's and Tschichold's editing and sequencing energetically riff on the Bauhausian notion of enlightened objectivity." <http://lib.stanford.edu/art-architecture-library>. Martin Parr / Gerry Badger, The Photobook, A History, Vol. I, pp. 98f. Backstrip slightly rubbed, 20mm split at spine, else a good copy of the scarce book, usually found in tattered condition.

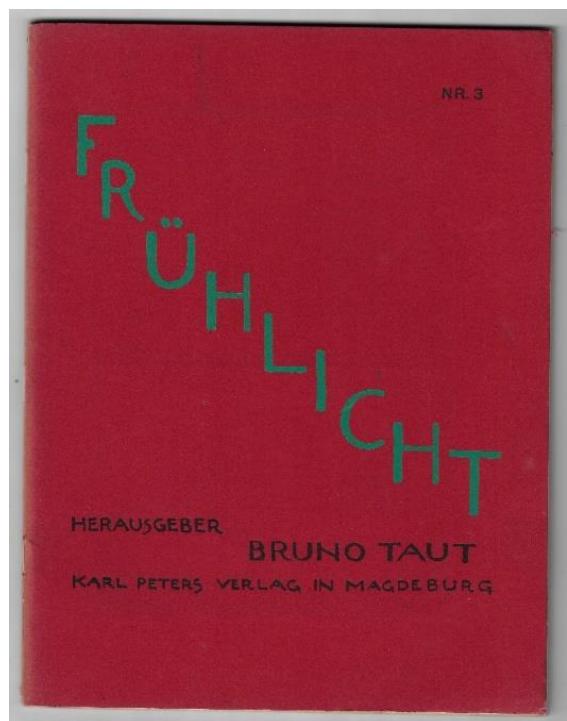

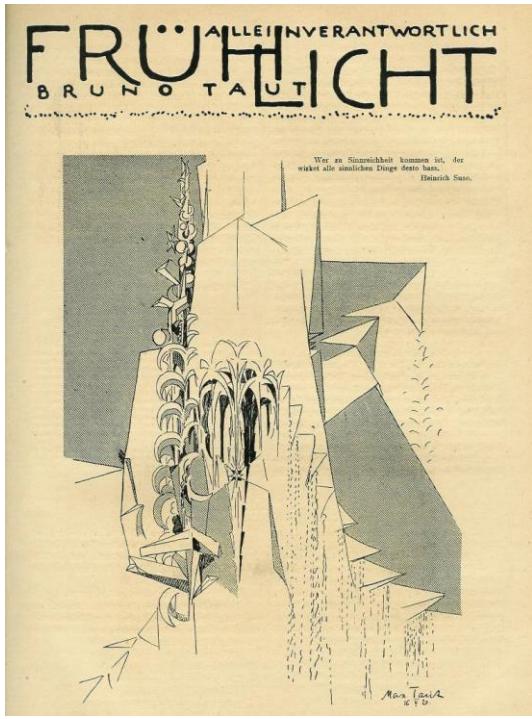

45 Scheerbart, Paul. Glasarchitektur. Berlin, Verlag der Sturm 1914. 125, (3) pp.. 20,5 x 13 cm. Original publisher's wrappers. € 450

First edition. This propagandist publication on glass architecture is dedicated to his friend Bruno Taut, who's little Glass Pavillon at the 1914 Werkbund Exhibition was in turn a monument to Scheerbart's ideas. Ground-breaking Modernist architectural text. In 111 sections, Scheerbart describes the role glass could play - and in his opinion should play - in the establishment of a new aesthetic for architecture. Strictly theoretical in tone, the work reflects the idealism prevalent in European artistic circles prior to the First World War, positing glass as the symbol of the new.

46 Taut.- Stadtbaukunst alter und neuer Zeit. Halbmonatsschrift herausgegeben von Cornelius Gurlitt und Bruno Möhring. Incl. Taut, Bruno. Frühlicht. Nos. 1-14 (all published as the supplements to Stadtbaukunst vol. 1) Berlin, "Der Zirkel" Architekturverlag 1920. (4), 400 pages with numerous plans, drawings and photo illustrations. 31 x 24 cm. Publisher's printed boards. EUR 2800

A complete set of the Berlin edition of Frühlicht. Issue 1-14 (1920) contain a section called Frühlicht, written by Bruno Taut, which became a separate periodical with the same title in fall 1921. (Magdeburg, Peters Verlag 1921-22, nos. 1-4, all published). In 1919 a group of radical utopian architects, on the initiative of Bruno Taut, began a network of correspondence through which they expressed their views on the architecture of the future. In July 1920 the editors (Bruno Möhring and Cornelius Gurlitt) of the more conservative 'Stadtbaukunst' could, in Taut's words, "no longer stand the light" and their uncomfortable association come to an abrupt end. After Bruno Taut was appointed city planner and architectural adviser to Magdeburg in 1921 he revived 'Frühlicht' as separate magazine. The Magdeburg edition is more widely known, it is the much scarcer Berlin 'Frühlicht' that best captures the mood and spirit of this group. Small section of the spine professionally restored. Very scarce.

47 Taut, Bruno. (Hrsg.) Frühlicht. Eine Folge für die Verwirklichung des neuen Baugedankens. Heft 1 bis 4. [mehr nicht erschienen]. Magdeburg, Karl Peters Verlag 1921-1922. Zusammen 132 Seiten mit zahlreichen Zeichnungen und Abbildungen und 54 Seiten Anzeigenteil. 28 x 21,5 cm. Typographisch gestaltete Orig.-Umschläge in den Farben Blau (1), Violett (2), Rot (3) und Weiss (4). EUR 2800

Das "Frühlicht" erschien in einer ersten Folge von Anfang Januar bis Mitte Juli 1920, und zwar als Anhang zu den ersten 14 Heften des 1. Jahrgangs der Halbmonatsschrift "Stadtbaukunst in alter und neuer Zeit", die von Cornelius Gurlitt, Bruno Möhring und Bruno Taut im Verlag "Der Zirkel" herausgegeben wurde. Siehe das obenstehende Angebot. Vom Herbst 1921 bis Sommer 1922 erschien das "Frühlicht" in Heftform als selbständige Folge. In der ersten Folge ging „Frühlicht“ – geprägt von Paul Scheerbart, dem Dichter der Glasarchitektur mit der bürgerlichen Kultur ins Gericht. Ohne Aussicht auf praktische Bauaufgaben zogen sich die Autoren aus der Realität zurück und planten für eine bessere Zukunft. Eine langsame, aber merkliche Wandlung vollzog sich in den hier vorliegenden Heften, die Taut als eigenständige Zeitschrift in Magdeburg herausgab. Zwar sind weiterhin Texte von Scheerbart und Mitgliedern der Gläsernen Kette abgedruckt, doch finden sich hier häufiger Berichte über ausgeführte Bauten oder ausführbare Projekte. Farbe in der Architektur bildet einen weiteren Schwerpunkt.

Bolliger, Dokumentations-Bibliothek, Band 6, Bern 1977, Nr. 762. Jaeger 1076. Ciré, Annette und Haila Ochs, Die Zeitschrift als Manifest, Basel 1991, Seite 92ff. In der Farbgestaltung der Hefte existieren Varianten, Heft 2 findet sich auch mit grünem Orig.-Umschlag. Die Umschläge am Rand teilweise gering ausgeblichen. Insgesamt sehr schöne Reihe.

52 Frank Lloyd Wright.- Eizo Sugawara. [Shinbashi Enbujo - Shinbashi Theatre]. Tokyo, Koyosha 1926. [2],10pp and 71 plates (two colour plates with mosaic designs). 26 x19 cm. Publisher's decorated white boards blocked in gilt and red, printed card slipcase. EUR 700

This could be called 'Frank Lloyd Wright's Tokyo Theatre' for it is, top to toe, Wright at his most Japanese. Even the red and gold design on the cover is pure Wright. Wright did design a never-built theatre while in Tokyo so despite his aversion to sharing credit, or fees, perhaps he had some satisfaction in seeing the theatre of his colleague and acolyte Eizo Sugawara realised so exactly in his own image. Following the colour plates of mosaic designs are measured drawings and plans and photo views of the exterior and interior, where Wright is particularly rampant, with satisfying detail. Spine a bit browned and restored along the hinges; slipcase with some small repairs.

53 Hitchcock, Henry Rusell. Frank Lloyd Wright. Paris, Cahiers d'Art 1928. (4) pp. text, photo portrait, and 30 pp. with 48 photo plates. 27,5 x 22,5 cm. Original stiff printed wrappers. EUR 280

Les maîtres de l'architecture d'aujourd'hui, vol.1. A photo study which includes representations of Wright's work completed between 1902 and 1923. Robert L. Sweeny, Frank Lloyd Wright. An Annotated Bibliography. Los Angeles 1978. # 201. Very fine copy.

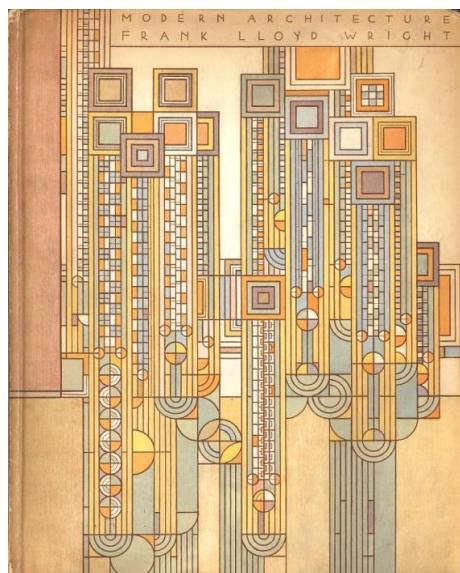

54 El Lissitzky.- Wright, Frank Lloyd. Wendingen. Volume IV, number 11. Edited by H.Th. Wijdeveld. Amsterdam: A. Wohlfeld for De Hooge Brug, 1921. 38 pages, of which pp 19-38 are adverts, with many illustrations. 33 x 33 cm. Original stitched wrappers illustrated after a design by El Lissitzky. EUR 3000

First edition. A fine copy of the Lissitzky designed covers, perhaps his most well-known Suprematist design. Spine a little worn, cover very slightly age-browned.

55 Wright, Frank Lloyd. Modern architecture, being the Kahn Lectures for 1930. Princeton, Princeton University Press 1931. Frontisp. Portrait, (12), 114, (2) pp and 6 halftone plates. 27 x 21,5 cm. Original decorated boards (designed Frank Lloyd Wright). EUR 580

In his Kahn Lectures Wright gave a summary of the ideas behind his prairie houses, setting out in a nine-point programme the principles of the unbroken transition from interior to exterior, the open plan and what he called 'the destruction of the box'. (Kruft). The present binding by Wright is a particularly pleasing and successful design. The text is also important: "One of Wright's last reasonably jargon-free publications. It is the most coherent statement of his philosophy available in his own words, a book well worth reading and keeping." Robert Twombly in: Design Book Review, 1990 issue 18, p.65. Robert L. Sweeny, Frank Lloyd Wright. An Annotated Bibliography. Los Angeles 1978. # 250. Published without a dust jacket. A very fine copy.

56 Publishing prospectus for the journal MSA published and designed by Karel Teige. 4pp. with 7 illustrations, 23,5 x 18 cm. EUR 320
