01. ANQUETIL- DUPERRON: Dignité du commerce, et de l'état de commerçant. Paris, chez la Veuve Tilliard et fils, 1789. One volume in 8vo ; pp. X, (3)-312, complete ; contemporary full calf, school-price binding Lycée de Lyon, prix donné pa la ville, An VIII, stamped in gilt to front cover, spine gilt with gilt lettering-piece, upper spine end with very small repair, back cover with a few scratches, exlibris to front cover pastedown, prelims browned, title page with small stamp and a bit foxed, last two leaves wrinkled and with faint traces of humidity in upper margin, else clean and crisp, a very good copy. 880 €

First edition. Anquetil-Duperron (1731-1805) was an important orientalist and interpreter of the French king. This curious and rare work is a vehement attack against the disparagement of commerce at his time and the negative consequences of this attitude for the French economy and society.

INED 64, Menger c. 543

02. BEGUILLET, Edme: Traité de la connoissance générale des grains, et de la mouture par économie. Précédé de principes sur la connoissance et l'achat des grains, leur conservation, sur les greniers publics & particuliers, ceux de la Chine &c.. Paris, chez Pankoucke, 1775.

Three parts in two volumes in 8vo ; pp. (3), IV-XIV, (2), (1)-283, (1); pp. (3), IV-XIV, (1)-219, (1); pp. (3), 220-844; 15 engraved folding tables ; contemporary marbled calf, spines gilt in compartments with two contrasting gilt lettering-pieces, red edges, marbled endpapers, extremities a bit rubbed, spine ends of volume II a bit chipped, the engraved folding tables in good condition, clean and crisp, a good set. 1200 €

Scarce first edition. Edme Beguillet was a lawyer and a member of parliament. His writings cover education, agriculture and viniculture. This is his main work which deals with the growing, storage, trade and processing of grain, and with bread manufacturing and bread prices. INED 375

03. BLANC, Louis: Organisation der Arbeit. Nach der neunten, umgearbeiteten und durch ein Kapitel vermehrten Auflage des Originals übersetzt von Robert Prager. Berlin, Verlag von R.L. Prager, 1899. Ein Band in 8vo; X, 332, (2) Seiten; originales Halbleinen mit Leinenecken, etwas Rückenvergoldung und goldgeprägter Rückentitel, Ecken, Kanten und Kapitale etwas berieben, Exlibris auf Deckelinnenseite, kleiner Namenszug im oberen Rand des Titelblattes, innen sauber und frisch, ein gutes Exemplar.

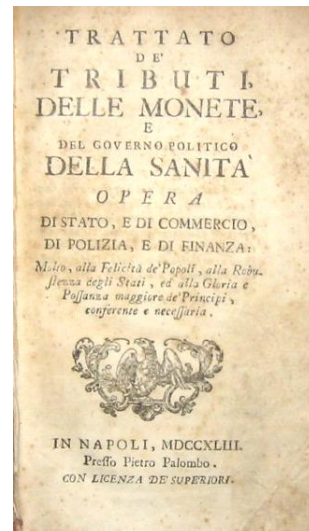

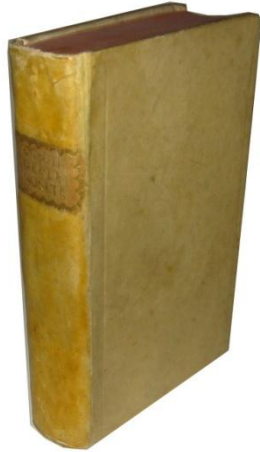

120 €

Erste Auflage der zweiten deutschen Übersetzung. Louis Blanc (1813-1882) zählte neben Ch. Fourier und Robert Owen zu den bekanntesten Vertretern des Genossenschaftssozialismus. Organisation der Arbeit besteht aus einer Reihe von Aufsätzen, die Blanc in der von ihm gegründeten Zeitschrift Revue du progrès politique social et littéraire im Jahre 1839 veröffentlichte. Mit diesem Werk legt Blanc eine Kritik der herrschenden Gesellschaftsordnung und an den aus seiner Sicht negativen Auswirkungen des Wettbewerbssystems vor. Die Gesellschaft soll transformiert und an den Grundsätzen der Gleichheit und Gerechtigkeit ausgerichtet werden. (Lexikon der ökonomischen Werke, S. 47). Stammhammer Sozialismus III, S. 38

04. BÖHM-BAWERK, Eugen von: Capital und Capitalzins. Zweite vielfach vermehrte und verbesserte Auflage. Erste Abtheilung – zweite Abtheilung. Innsbruck, Verlag der Wagner'schen Universitäts-Buchhandlung, 1900-1902. Zwei Bände in einem in gr. 8vo; XXXV, 702 Seiten; 1 Bl. XXII, 468 Seiten; schwarzer Leineneinband der Zeit, goldgeprägter Rückentitel, oberes Kapital fachmännisch repariert, braune Vorsätze, Exlibris auf fliegendem Vorsatz, Titelrückseite von Band I mit Stempel, schwache Tönung zu den Rändern hin, sonst sauber und frisch, ein gutes bis sehr gutes Exemplar.

Zweite Ausgabe. E. v. Böhm-Bawerk (1851-1914) war einer der Begründer der Österreichischen Schule der Nationalökonomie. Sein Werk Capital und Capitalzins ist ein Klassiker der Kapitaltheorie, der der modernen Forschung viele Ansätze bot. So übernahmen z.B. Wicksell und Hayek sein Konzept der Zeitstruktur des Produktionsprozesses, während Irving Fisher oder G. Cassel von einer reinen Markttheorie ausgingen. Lexikon ökonomischer Werke S. 52-53, Menger Sp. 128

05. BROGGIA, Carlo Antonio: Trattato de' tributi, delle monete, e del governo politico della sanità, opera di Stato, e di commercio, di polizia, e di finanza... In Napoli, Presso Pietro Palombo, 1743. One volume in 8vo; pp. (14), XVIII, 572, (4); contemporary stiff vellum, spine sunned with gilt lettering-piece, spine ends a bit rubbed, red edges, first and last leaves foxed, else only occasional foxing, a good to very good copy.

1280 €

First edition. C.A. Broggia (1683-1763) was a Neapolitan business man who had an understanding of the economic situation, both in terms of economic causes and effect, and in terms of social and economic conditions. For Schumpeter Broggia was a writer of first-rate importance with great completeness and penetration of his subject. Goldsmiths 7984, Einaudi 709, Cat. Sraffa 563

06. (CANCRIN, Graf G. von): Die Oekonomie der menschlichen Gesellschaften und das Finanzwesen. Von einem ehemaligen Finanzminister. Stuttgart, E. Schweizerbart'sche Verlagshandlung, 1845. Ein Band in 8vo; XIV, 346 Seiten; Halbleinen der Zeit mit verstärkten Ecken, Deckel etwas berieben, Rücken mit Blindprägung und blindgeprägtem Rückentitel, marmorierter Schnitt, erste und letzte Blätter stockfleckig, sonst sauber und frisch, ein gutes Exemplar.

Seltene erste deutsche Ausgabe des zweiten Hauptwerkes von Graf Cancrin (1823-1844 russischer Finanzminister). Er erläutert und rechtfertigt darin sein wirtschaftliches System und zeigt die Richtlinien für die weitere Entwicklung Russlands auf. Roscher setzt sich in seiner Geschichte der National-Oekonomie sehr ausführlich mit Cancrin auseinander. Roscher S. 813-821, Humpert 12111, Stammhammer Finanzwissenschaft 155, Masui 929, Goldsmiths 34075

07. CARVER, Thomas Nixon: The Distribution of Wealth. New York, The Macmillan Company, 1904. One volume in small 8vo; pp. XVI, (2), 290, (2); original green publisher's cloth, slightly rubbed at extremities, clean, some gilding and gilt lettering to spine, small paper label to front cover pastedown, inside absolutely clean and crisp, a very good+ copy.

250 €

First edition. Th. N. Carver (1865-1961) was professor of economics at Harvard and the University of Southern California. His chief work was the distribution of income and wealth, but he also did pioneering work in the economics of agriculture. (Blaug, Who's who in economics, p. 149) Hollander 3523, Batson p. 123, Schumpeter p. 869

08. CASSEL, Gustav: The nature and necessity of interest. London, Macmillan and Co., Limited, 1903. One volume in 8vo; pp. XII, 188, (4); original publisher's brown cloth, gilt lettering and some gilding to spine, extremities slightly bumped, exlibris to front cover pastedown and to front flyleaf, name and date to front flyleaf, untrimmed edges, inner hinges with repair, clean and crisp, a good to very good copy.

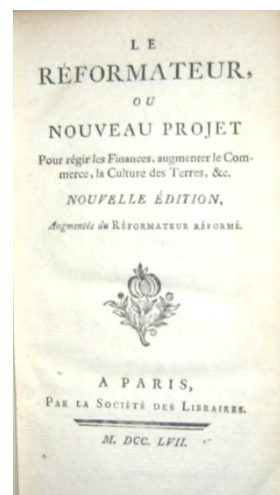

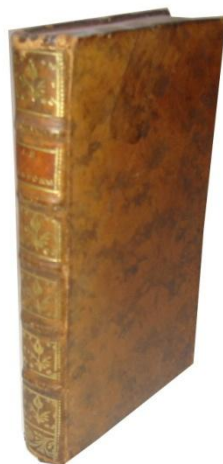

170 €

First edition. In this early work Cassel (1866-1944) presented a critique of Böhm-Bawerk's agio theory of interest and instead argued for a basic supply and demand theory. Sandelin p. 125, Batson p. 78, Cat. Sraffa 743

09. CLARK, John Bates: The Problem of Monopoly. A study of a grave danger and of the natural mode of averting it. Columbia University Lectures. New York, The Columbia University Press, 1904. One volume in 8vo; pp. VI, (2), 128, (2); original publisher's burgundy cloth, some gilding and gilt lettering to spine and front cover, clean, extremities slightly rubbed, Ex Libris to front cover pastedown, inside clean and crisp, a very good+ copy.

420 €

First edition. John Bates Clark (1847-1938) was a leading American pioneer of marginal productivity theory of distribution (The Distribution of Wealth 1899). He also published two widely-read books on unfair competition: The Control of Trusts 1901 and The Problem of Monopoly 1904. Blaug, Great economists before Keynes, pp. 50-52

10. (CLICQUOT DE BLERVACHE): Le Réformateur, ou nouveau projet pour régir les finances, augmenter le commerce, la culture des terres, & c.. Nouvelle Édition, augmentée du Réformateur Réformé. A Paris, par la Société des Libraires, 1757.

Two parts in one volume in 12mo; (4) half title and title, 28 pp. for Le Réformateur Réformé 1757; XVI, 207, (5) pp. for Le Réformateur, nouvelle édition, corrigée, 1756, plus one folding table, contemporary marbled calf, raised bands, spine gilt in compartments with red gilt lettering-piece, moderate rubbing or bumping at extremities, clean and crisp, a very good copy.

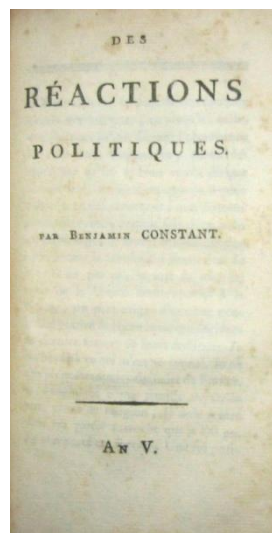

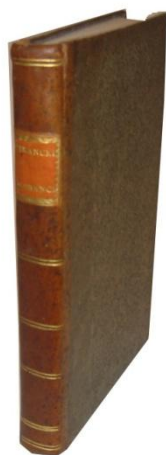

750 €

A new and corrected edition of Le Réformateur, first published in 1756. First edition of Le Réformateur Réformé, a reply to the first work and sometimes wrongly attributed to Clicquot himself. Cl. De Blervache (1723-96), general inspector of commerce, was an economic liberal. The present work was inspired by Vauban's Dixme Royale and Boulainvillier's Plan de Réforme. Part I: Higgs 1477, part II: Einaudi 1137

11. COASE, R.H.: The firm, the market, and the law. Chicago and London, The University of Chicago Press, 1988. One volume in 8vo; pp. VII, (1), 317, (5) blank; original publisher's grey cloth, gilt lettering to spine, dust jacket not price clipped and in near fine condition, inside clean and crisp, a fine copy in a near fine dust jacket.

100 €

First edition, first printing. Coase's particular interest has been that part of economic theory that deals with firms, industries, and markets – what is known as price theory or microeconomics. In The firm, the market, and the law, which collects his most important papers, Coase renews his challenge to economists to change the way they analyze a number of important questions in microeconomics. (from dust jacket)

12. CONSTANT, Benjamin: Des réactions politiques, n.pl., n.n., An V (1797). pp. VI, (2), 110. Bound before: MONTESQUIOU, P.: Du gouvernement des finances de France, d'après les lois constitutionnelles et d'après les principes d'un gouvernement libre et représentative. Paris, de l'imprimerie du Journal d'Économie Publique, An V – 1797, pp. (2), 138. Bound before: (NECKER): (Mémoire publié par M. Necker au mois d'avril 1787, en reponse au discours prononcé par M. de Calonne devant l'Assemblée des Notables). N.pl., n.n., (1787), pp. 79, (1). All three bound in one volume in 8vo. Early 19th century half calf, some gilding to spine, orange-red gilt lettering-piece, some foxing and mild age-toning in places, else clean and crisp, a very good copy.

1. First edition. Henri-Benjamin Constant de Rebecque (1767-1830) was a Swiss-French politician, a writer on politics and religion, and a fervent liberal. He believed that in the modern world commerce was superior to war. Goldsmiths 17152, Cioranescu 20693.
2. First edition. Anne-Pierre, marquis de Montesquiou-Fézensac (1739-1798) was a French general, politician and writer who was open to the ideas of the physiocrats. This is his last work. INED 3258, Einaudi 3998
3. One of the issues published without title page. Necker's pamphlet attacks his successor to the post of Director-General of Finance. Kress B 1292

13. DAHLBERG, Karl von: Verhältnisse von Moral und Staatskunst. Erfurt, bey Georg Adam Keyser, 1786. Angebunden: Von der Erhaltung der Staatsverfassungen. Erfurt, bey Georg Adam Keyser, 1795. Angebunden: Constitution de la République Française. Proposée au peuple français par la Convention nationale. Paris, le 5 fructidor, l'an III. Ein Band in kl. 4to ; 19, (1) S. ; 28 S. ; 24 S. ; Halbleder der Zeit über gesprenkelten Deckeln mit Lederecken, Rücken im Stile der Zeit erneuert unter Verwendung des originalen goldgeprägten Rückenetiketts, Exlibris auf Innenseite Vorderdeckel, vereinzelt Anmerkungen oder Unterstreichungen, durchgängig mäßig gebräunt oder stockfleckig, gutes Exemplar.

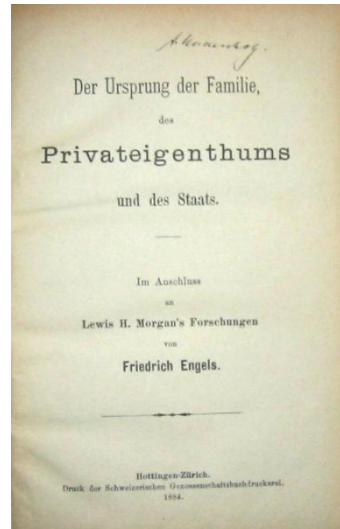

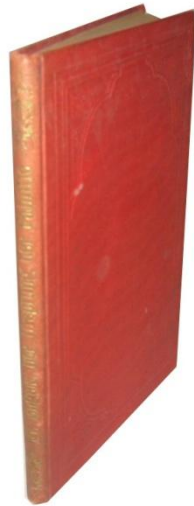

200 €

Erste Ausgaben. Es handelt sich um zwei Vorlesungen, die von Dahlberg am 3.7.1786 und 3.8.1795 in Erfurt an der Akademie der nützlichen Wissenschaften gehalten hat. Karl Theodor von Dahlberg (1744-1817) war Kirchenfürst, Staatsmann, Schriftsteller; Popularphilosoph, Freund der Weimarer Dichter sowie Mitglied zahlreicher wissenschaftlicher Akademien.

14. DUPUIT, J.: La liberté commerciale. Son principe et ses conséquences. Paris, Guillaumin et Cie., 1861. One volume in small 8vo ; pp. (4), 236 ; contemporary half morocco over marbled boards, raised bands, some gilding and gilt lettering to spine, minor rubbing to extremities, marbled endpapers, bookseller label to front cover pastedown, moderate foxing in places, else clean, a very good copy.

360 €

First edition. Dupuit (1804-1866) studied at the École Polytechnique and later held the office of Inspecteur-général des ponts et chaussées and he was a collaborator of the Journal des Économistes. He is best known as a forerunner of the marginalist school. In the present work he examines and shows the advantages of the free-trade issue. Coquelin & Guillaumin, p. 626; The Gustave Gimont Collection 219, IEISS IV, p. 309; New Palgrave I, p. 945.

15. ENGELS, Friedrich: Der Ursprung der Familie, des Privateigentums und des Staats. Im Anschluss an Lewis H. Morgan's Forschungen. Hottingen-Zürich, Druck der Schweizerischen Genossenschaftsdruckerei, 1884. Ein Band in 8vo; (VI), (7)-146, (2) Seiten; originaler roter Verlageinband mit blindgeprägten Deckelbordüren, goldgeprägter Rückentitel, Einband leicht angeschmutzt und minimal bestossen, dekorative Vorsätze, kleines Buchhändleretikett auf Innendeckel verso, marmorierter Schnitt, zu den Rändern hin altersbedingt gebräunt, ein Blatt lose, Titelblatt mit Namen im oberen Rand, sauber, ein gutes bis sehr gutes Exemplar.

3300 €

Erste Ausgabe, selten. Der Ursprung der Familie ist eines der Hauptwerke des Historischen Materialismus und hat innerhalb der marxistischen Bewegung große Verbreitung gefunden. Die von Friedrich Engels (1820-1885) betriebene Analyse historischer gesellschaftlicher Institutionen nach dem Kriterium ökonomischer Macht und Herrschaft hat als methodischer Ansatz in einer sozialwissenschaftlich orientierten Nationalökonomik auch heute ihren festen Platz. Lexikon ökonomischer Werke S. 125-125.

16. FISHER, Irving: De la nature du capital et du revenu. Paris, V. Giard & E. Brière, 1911. One volume in 8vo.; pp. (4), 475, (1); original green printed wrappers slightly soiled, unopened and uncut, inside clean and crisp, a very good copy.

150 €

First French edition of Fisher's famous The nature of capital and income, 1906. "This book is an attempt to put on a rational foundation the concepts and fundamental theorems of capital and income. It therefore forms a sort of philosophy of economic accounting, and, it is hoped, may supply a link long missing between the ideas and usages underlying practical business transactions and the theories of abstract economics." (I. Fisher). Masui p. 606

17. (FORBONNAIS, F. Veron de): Elémens du commerce. Première partie – seconde partie. Nouvelle Édition. Amsterdam, chez François Changuion, 1755. Two parts in one volume in 12mo ; pp. (8), 239, (1) ; pp. (4), 164 ; interim binding in contemporary blue carton boards, uncut, titles printed in red and black, one page with contemporary annotations in lower margin, else clean and crisp.

480 €

A new edition, compared with the two 1754 editions surprisingly rare. Forbonnais was one of the leading French economists of the middle of the 18th century. Éléments du commerce is one of his major works. "It has the distinction of being the first French work on economics using mathematical argument." (The New Palgrave). Higgs 991, Kress 5437

18. FRIEDMAN, Milton and Rose: Tyranny of the status quo. San Diego – New York – London, Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1984. One volume in 8vo; pp. (10), 182; original publisher's black half cloth over red boards, gilt lettering to spine, clean, no rubbing or bumping, dust jacket in near fine condition, inside clean and crisp, a fine copy in a near fine dust jacket. 80 €

First edition, first printing. "In Tyranny of the Status Quo Milton and Rose Friedman describe a remarkable political phenomenon: the uniform tendency in government to reverse the declared policies of leaders whether left or right. In the first six to nine months following their election, Reagan, Thatcher, and Mitterand, too, initiated big changes. Soon, each was frustrated by the "Iron Triangle" which preserves the status quo. In the Triangle's corners are the direct beneficiaries of laws, the bureaucrats who thrive on them, the politicians who seek votes." (from dust jacket)

19. GODWIN, William: Thoughts of man, his nature, productions, and discoveries. London, Effingham Wilson, Royal Exchange, 1831. On volume in 8vo; pp. VI, (2), 471, (1); contemporary half calf over marbled boards with corners in leather, extremities rubbed, spine with blind-stamped and gilt decorations, red gilt lettering-piece, sprinkled edges, brown endpapers, some browning or foxing in places, two leaves with closed tear, else clean and crisp, a good to very copy. 680 €

First edition. William Godwin (1756-1836) was an important English radical, husband of Mary Wollstonecraft, and father of Mary Shelly. This is a collection of essays on a variety of subjects: body and mind, the distribution of talents, the durability of human achievements and productions, liberty of human action, belief, etc. etc. He strongly influenced the early socialist thinkers. Goldsmiths 26655, Menger c. 455, Catalogue Sraffa 2041

20. (GRAUMANN, Johann Philip): Abdruck von einem Schreiben, die Deutsche und anderer Völcker Münz=Verfassung und insonderheit die Hoch=Fürstl. Braunschweigische Münze betreffend. Ohne Druckort und Verlag. 1749. 96 Seiten, 4 Bll.; ohne Einband, Fadenheftung, breitrandig und unbeschnitten, erste und letzte Seite etwas angestaubt, sonst sauber und frisch.

Einzigste Ausgabe, selten. „Interessantes zahlungsbilanztheoretisches Exposé aus der Zeit des Hoch-Merkantilismus mit Plädoyer für eine Abwertung der Umlaufmünze. J.P. Graumann (1690-1762) war der Chef der Münzen in Braunschweig und später in Berlin“. (Commerz Courier 5, 155). Menger Sp. 47, Humpert 11100, Goldsmiths 8425

21. HAWTREY, R.G.: The Economic Problem. London, Longmans, Green and Co. Ltd., 1926. One volume in 8vo; pp. XII, 417, (1); original publisher's green cloth, slightly rubbed at extremities, gilt lettering to spine, spine lightly sunned, neat name on front free endpaper, inside clean and crisp, a very good+ copy.

90 €

First edition. "In economics, as everywhere in the application of systematic thought to human affairs, there is a conflict between the general and the particular. Economists, seeking to establish general economic laws, evolve simplified versions of human nature and of circumstances in which human nature works. But when they come to apply their laws to particular cases, their conclusions are vitiated by the abstract nature of their premises." (from preface)

22. HAYEK, F.A.: The Constitution of Liberty. Chicago, The University of Chicago Press, 1960. One volume in 8vo; pp. X, 569, (1); original publisher's cloth, gilt lettering to spine, minor bumping, ffep with ownership stamp, clean and crisp, a very good+ copy.

280 €

First edition, first printing. The Constitution of Liberty is a thorough exposition of social philosophy which ranges from ethics and anthropology through jurisprudence and the history of ideas to the economics of the modern welfare state (from dust jacket). It represents the intellectual sum of Hayek's years at the University of Chicago (1950-1962).

23. HAYEK, F.A.: Studies in philosophy, politics and economics. Chicago, The University of Chicago Press, 1967. One volume in 8vo; pp. X, 356; original publisher's cloth, clean, a bit bumped, gilt lettering to spine, dust jacket bumped and frayed at extremities, inside clean and crisp, a very good+ copy in a good+ dust jacket.

110 €

First edition. This is a selection from the author's work over the last twenty years; some of these essays are published for the first time.

24. HAYEK, F.A.: The tiger by the tail. The Keynesian legacy of inflation. Hobart Paperback. London, The Institute of Economic Affairs, 1972. 8vo; pp. XI, (1), 124; original printed carton boards, no rubbing or bumping, clean and crisp, a fine copy.

100 €

First edition. A 40-years' running commentary on Keynesianism by Hayek. Compiled and introduced by Sudah R. Shenoy. With a new essay on The Outlook for the 1970s: Open or repressed inflation? by Hayek. This fourth Hobart Paperback comprises a series of 17 extracts from Hayek's writings and lectures, two from Keynes and one from F.D. Graham of Princeton University.

25. HAYEK, F.A. von: Die verhängnisvolle Anmaßung: Die Irrtümer des Sozialismus. Tübingen, J.C.B. Mohr, 1996. Ein Band in 8vo; X, 186 Seiten; originale bedruckte Verlagsbroschur, minimal berieben, innen sauber und frisch, ein sehr gutes Exemplar.

70 €

Erste deutsche Ausgabe der Schrift The Fatal Conceit: The Errors of Socialism 1988. Es geht darin um die Fragen: Welchen Irrtümern und Anmaßungen erlag der Sozialismus? Welche Hauptargumente für eine freie Marktwirtschaft lassen sich daraus ableiten?

26. HICKS, J.R.: Essays in World Economics. Oxford, at the Clarendon Press, 1959. One volume in small 8vo; pp. XVIII, 274, (2); original publisher's dark-blue cloth, fine, gilt lettering to spine, no rubbing or bumping, dust jacket a bit sunned but in very good condition, now mylar protected, inside clean and crisp, a fine copy in a very good dust jacket.

140 €

First edition. "Most of the essays that are included in this book have appeared before – in economic journals, in bank reviews etc.. They are marked in the table of contents with the date of their original publication, and the place of such publication has been noted at the beginning of each separate essay.." (from preface) Blaug: Great Economists since Keynes, pp. 91-93

27. HUHNS, E.H.Th.: Finanzwissenschaft. Volksthümliche Darstellung der Lehre vom Staats- und Gemeindehaushalt. Leipzig, Friedrich Wilhelm Grunow, 1865. Ein Band in 8vo; IX, (1), (13)-426, (2) Seiten; Halbleder der Zeit über marmorierten Deckeln, Rücken auf 4 Bänden, etwas Rückenvergoldung und goldgeprägtes Rückenschild, nur gering bestoßen, erste und letzte Blätter mäßig gebräunt, sauberes insgesamt gutes Exemplar.

130 €

Erster separater Druck, erstmals 1863 als Teil 4 des mehrbändigen Werkes Der Staat erschienen (entsprechend fehlt hier der Reihentitel, Seiten (11)+(12)). First American edition, first printing. "Apart from suggesting ideas of adding greatly to the financial resources of the government, this inaugurated the idea of an iron ration at low, fixed prices of a list of necessities in lower income-budgets, with government subsidies if required. He proposed also to assist families with low incomes by introducing family allowances payable directly to the mother. The net effect of these concessions would have been to effect an actual improvement in the condition of the worst-off compared to pre-war years." (ODNB)

29. KEYNES, John Maynard: The general theory of employment interest and money. New York, Harcourt, Brace and Company, 1936. One volume in 8vo; pp. (2), XII, 403 with the erratum at the end; original publisher's dark-blue cloth, rubbed at extremities, gilt lettering to spine a bit faded, name on half title, endpapers age-toned, inside clean and crisp, a very good copy.

180 €

First American edition, first printing (printed in Great Britain). "Few would dispute today the main thesis of this epoch-making work, or could imagine the furore of disagreement aroused by its first appearance. That national budgets are major instruments in a planned economy, that financial booms and slumps are controllable by government rather than by laissez-faire is now a universally accepted doctrine." (PMM 423)

30. KEYNES, John Maynard: The general theory of employment interest and money. London, Macmillan and Co., 1936. One volume in 8vo; pp. (2), XII, 403 with the erratum at the end; original publisher's dark-blue cloth, very little rubbed or bumped, gilt lettering to spine, binding mylar-protected, endpapers slightly age-toned, else clean and crisp, a very good+ copy.

1480 €

Rare first edition of Lueder's major work. F.A. Lueder (1760-1819) was one of the first German writers to escape the doctrines of mercantilism and to represent the ideas of liberalism. In this work he elaborates the doctrines of Adam Smith but deviates from him in his emphasis of the subjective nature of value and he stresses the significance of intellectual and moral factors in the development of a nation. Kress B 4225, Humpert 12766, Sauer 5/1968: 1692, Stammhammer Finanzen p. 282, Goldsmiths 17851, Roscher pp. 619-623.

37. MAFFEI, Scipione: Dell' impiego del danaro libri tre, alla santità di nostro signore Benedetto decimoquarto. Secunda edizione. In Roma, nella Stamperia di Giambatista Bernabò, e Guiseppe Lazzarini, 1746. One volume in small 4to; pp. XXXVI, 300; recently rebound to style in half vellum over marbled boards, red gilt lettering-piece to spine, corners strengthened, endpapers renewed, title page with small stamp, first and last leaves a bit browned or foxed, last seven leaves with light traces of humidity in upper margin, else clean and crisp, a good copy.

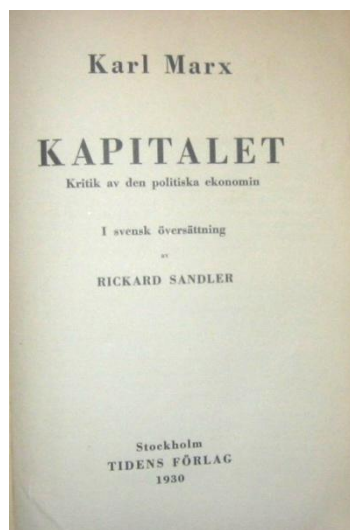

480 €

Second edition, first published 1744 in Verona. This work favors the legitimacy of interest. Maffei tries to prove that interest-bearing loans in principle had never been prohibited by the catholic church. His books provoked massive criticism which resulted in the encyclic Vix Pervenit in 1945. Kress 4818, Kress Italian economic literature 256.

38. MARSHALL, Alfred: Elements of economics of industry being the first volume of elements of economics. (all published) London, Macmillan and Co. and New York, 1892. One small volume in 8vo; pp. 90, (6); original publisher's green cloth, title printed on spine and front cover, extremities a bit bumped, inside clean and crisp, a very good+ copy.

130 €

First edition. Ludwig E. von Mises (1881-1973) was one of the last representatives of the Austrian School of economics. After teaching in Vienna and Geneva he emigrated 1940 to the USA where he was professor of economics from 1945 to 1969 at the New York University. Planned Chaos was written as epilog for the Spanish edition of his treatise Socialism. It is intended to explain the errors of those who believe a system based on individual freedom can be “mixed” with socialism.

44. MISES, Ludwig von: The historical setting of the Austrian School of Economics. New Rochelle, N.Y., Arlington House, 1969. One small volume in 8vo; pp. 47, (1); original printed stiff wrappers, clean, a bit bumped, top end of front panel slightly sunned, inside clean and crisp, a very good copy. 20 €

First edition, first printing. Ludwig von Mises (1881-1973) was an economist and philosopher of international renown. Foremost student of Eugen von Böhm-Bawerk, he was in turn the teacher of many eminent economists including F.A. von Hayek, Henry Hazlitt, Israel Kirzner, Murray N. Rothbard, Hans Sennholz and Percy Greaves. He was the acknowledged head of the Austrian School of Economics founded by Carl Menger. (from back panel)

45. MITCHELL, Wesley Clair: Business Cycles. Memoirs of the University of California, Volume 3. Berkeley, University of California Press, 1913. 49. PETTY, William: Tracts; chiefly relating to Ireland. Containing: I. A treatise of taxes and contributions. II. Essays in political arithmetic. III. The political anatomy of Ireland. By the late Sir William Petty. To which is prefixed his last will. Dublin, printed by Boulter Grierson, 1769. One volume in 8vo; pp. XXXIV, 488 of which 170-195 are double pages, 209-210 misbound directly after the title page, page numbers 211-212 omitted but text is complete; contemporary calf, some time re-backed using the original spine strip, corners repaired, some gilding to spine, contrasting gilt lettering-piece, sprinkled edges, age-toning towards edges, else clean and crisp, a good copy.

1380 €

First collected edition of Petty's political and economical writings. Despite the title most of the contents is not relating to Ireland. The book begins with Petty's last will which contains a rather curious account of his life. Sir William Petty (1623-1687) was one of the most remarkable British persons of the 17th century. Few men have possessed so great a variety of attainments. In addition to his talents as a political and statistical writer, he was distinguished by the proficiency in polite literature, medicine, mathematics, and mechanics. 50. PLUQUET, l'Abbé: Traité philosophique et politique sur le luxe. Tome premier – tome second. Paris, chez Barrois, 1786. Two volumes in 12mo; pp. (4), 488; pp. (4), 508; contemporary speckled calf, raised bands, a few restorations to corners and joints, spines gilt in compartment with red gilt lettering-piece and gilt volume numbers, red edges, marbled endpapers, endpapers browned, else clean and crisp, a good set.

First edition. In this work Pluquet delivers a detailed analysis of the "misdeeds" of luxury to the individual and to the state. He is clearly influenced by Cantillon and Petty, and he criticizes the ideas of Mandeville, Melon, Montesquieu, Hume, Condillac and others. As was apparently noticed by Anatole Braun in his review of Professor Murphy's book on Cantillon, published in a now defunct periodical, The Antiquarian Book Market Review, Pluquet gives an almost contemporary information on the way the text of Cantillon was saved to posterity. Pluquet who in his book refers to Cantillon on many occasions has a footnote saying that public owes Cantillon's book to the Marquis de Saint Georges, who was very close to Mirabeau and his brother, the Bailli (see the book of Loménie on the Mirabeau). This note seems to have escaped the attention of the historians and students of Cantillon and makes the book of Pluquet particularly interesting, not to mention his exhaustive treatment of the luxury question. Astonishingly Pluquet is unmentioned in the authoritative book of John Shovlin: The political economy of virtue, luxury, ...2006. Spengler pp. 160-163, INED 3611, Goldsmiths 13144

51. POPPER, Karl: The open society and its enemies. Volume I: The spell of Plato; volume II: The high tide of prophecy: Hegel, Marx, and the aftermath. London, George Routledge & Sons, Ltd., 1945. Two volumes in 8vo; pp. VII, (1), 268; pp. V, (1), 352; original publisher's black cloth, extremities a bit rubbed and bumped, gilt lettering to spines, name on endpapers and title pages, else clean and crisp, a very good set.

1100 €

First edition of both volumes.). Karl Popper (1902-94), Austrian by origin, emigrated 1937 to New Zealand where he taught at the Canterbury University College in Christchurch and where he wrote The open society and its enemies. In 1946, with the help of his friend F.A. von Hayek, he became a Reader in Logic and Scientific Method at the London School of Economics. Popper's main work is a masterly criticism and attack on totalitarianism. He dedicated it to the millions who have been sacrificed to the doctrine of Historical Inevitability, and his defense of democracy against its totalitarian opponents involves not only a respect for facts and a determination to discover them but also a determination to recognize that human beings cannot be made perfect by decree of a society invented from which conflict is absent (Thinkers of the Twentieth Century, p. 455).

52. PREISER, Erich: Gestalt und Gestaltung der Wirtschaft. Eine Einführung in die Wirtschaftswissenschaften. Tübingen, Verlag von J.C.B. Mohr (Paul Siebeck), 1934. Bound with : POTERAT, Marquis de : Observations politiques et morales de finance et de commerce. Ou examen approfondi d'un ouvrage de M. R, de Genève, sur l'emprunt et l'impôt. A Lausanne, 1780. Two works bound in one volume in 8vo ; (4), 171, (1) pp ; 235 (misnumbered 135) pp., (1) errata; contemporary half calf, spine gilt in compartments, contrasting gilt lettering-piece, spine at bottom with small repair, boards rubbed and bumped and a bit soiled in places, front fly-leaf with traces of humidity, a few leaves with pencil marks in outer margin, last leaves of part 2 with traces of humidity in upper and lower margin, else clean.

Both works are in first edition. R. de Saussure writes about public loans, taxes, commerce, and about fortunes based on precious metal and paper money. He proposes that interest on public loans should be financed by a luxury tax. Poterat's work is a reply to R. de Saussure. He is against public loans and does not accept that they can be advantageous in certain situations. I: Kress B 228, INED 3836; II: Kress B 308, INED 3645

55. ROTHBARD, Murray N.: For a new liberty. New York, The Macmillan Company, 1973. One volume in 8vo; pp. VI, (2), 327, (1); original publisher's purple cloth, gilt lettering to spine, spine a bit sunned, library stamp to front free endpaper, title page with blind-stamped library sign, endpapers with the usual library register showing that the book has not been lend out, inside clean and crisp, a very good copy.

60 €

First edition, first printing. Rothbard pretends. "We now have a fully integrated and consistent theory of liberty. All other theories and systems have clearly failed: socialism is in retreat everywhere, and notably in Eastern Europe; liberalism has bogged us down in a host of insoluble problems; conservatism has nothing to offer but sterile defence of the status quo. Liberty has never been fully tried in the modern world; libertarians now propose to fulfil the American dream and the world dream of liberty and prosperity for all mankind." (p. 317)

56. (RUEL, l'Abbé): Dissertation théologique sur les intérêts de l'argent placé à jour, chez les négocians et autres personnes qui le font valoir. Paris, Rue et Hôtel Serpente, 1783. One volume in small 8vo ; pp. VI, 7-117, (1) errata + (2) approbation et privilège ; inserted between the errata and the privilege are 8 leaves from the Mercure de France in the same format with a review of the book Théorie de l'intérêt de l'argent, tiré des principes du droit naturel... by Turgot, Rulié et Gouttes, contemporary full calf, spine with simple floral gilding, no gilt lettering or lettering-piece, boards with gilt ornamental border, spine with two tiny wormholes, foot of spine partly chipped, a few leaves with light traces of humidity in lower margin, some slight browning in places, extremities bumped, the ex libris to front cover pastedown (M. Monpoint, Chanoine) indicates that this a copy in a private binding from the library of a cannon.

Rare first edition of this essay replying to the encyclical vix pervenit, issued by Benedict XIV in 1745. The Abbé Ruel was apostolic prefect of the French colonies in the tropics. According to INED 3993 Ruel regards investments with persons wishing to acquire land or with traders as fair and just. As these loans are not for consumption they are not usurious, and it would be of great benefit to authorize them. Barbier I/1089, Masui p. 597, INED 3993 (second edition)

First edition. The first nine essays of this book show that the author is largely concerned with the problems of expectation and uncertainty and with the attempt to reduce these universal factors to some sort of plausible rules. After the nine essays he adds a second group devoted to the consideration of interest rates, a third group on investment and employment, and a final group of three papers on the philosophy of economics. "To be a complete economist" writes Professor Shackle in the last essay of this book, "a man need only be a mathematician, a philosopher, a psychologist, an anthropologist, a historian, a geographer, and a student of politics; a master of prose exposition, and a man of the world with experience of practical business, an understanding of problems of administration, and a good knowledge of four or five foreign languages." First edition. "By their nature and purpose different economic theories make almost opposite assumptions and use entirely different conceptions or aspects of time. These contrasting assumptions, which occur frequently, are essential to the nature of the various theories and cannot therefore be combined into a general theory. Coherence can only be obtained by an explicit scheme in which these theories are ordered to each other.

In this book Professor Shackle seeks a single, unified and coherent basis which would serve for all economic theories, particularly in regard to their treatment of time and to the possibility of acquiring the knowledge on which these theories are based.

He examines five main approaches to economic analysis: a pure general equilibrium; Marshall's science of economic evolution; Keynes's "Kaleido-statics"; the models of economic growth devised by Harrod and Hicks; and Leontief's input-output analysis. These basically divergent theories cannot be combined and must be ordered to each other."

First edition. "Even a decade after the end of the 1914-1918 War, economic theory assumed that the world was tranquil and orderly. By 1939 an economic slump without parallel, allied to the re-emergence of military ambition in Europe, had brought economic theorists face to face with reality. In this book Professor Shackle provides a study, in exact and professional language, of the precise nature, structure, presuppositions, language and inter-relations of the theories which were formulated in these fourteen years – unparalleled in the whole history of economics except perhaps by the years of the Physiocrats and Adam Smith. These theories are not prototypes on the way to something better but are of essential and permanent importance." (from dust jacket)

First edition. Keynes wrote three versions of his theory of money and employment. The Treatise on Money, academically congenial in manner, and the General Theory, in its deceptively orthodox seeming guise, have been treated as if they were mere revisions of value theory. But Keynes, having written the General Theory, recognized that its essence was a subversion and destruction of neo-classical economics, as the whole central corpus had existed up to 1936. He expressed this in "The General Theory of Employment" (Q.J.Econ. 1937). Professor Shackle seeks to present this evolution of Keynes' thought so as to show the truth of the statement in the preface to the General Theory, "the ideas which are here expressed are extremely simple".
