1. ABEL, Carl Friedrich 1723-1787
[Op. 8, WK 61-66]. Six Quartettos for two Violins, a Tenor, and Violoncello Obligati. Most humbly Dedicated To His Majesty... Opera VIII. [Parts]. London: The Author; R. Bremner, [1769].

First Edition, probable first issue (later issues list only Bremner as publisher). RISM A89. BUC p. 2.

A composer and bass player, "during the 1758–9 season Abel went to London, the city where he was to spend most of his remaining years... The association with J.C. Bach began late in 1763... and led to the establishment of the Bach-Abel concert series... Abel’s... symphonies, concertos, quartets... trios... and keyboard sonatas designed for the amateur were published from 1765 by Robert Bremner, who thereafter issued the first editions of almost all Abel’s works and reissued those that had been printed before that date... [His] harmonic style is exceptionally rich and expressive. His melodies are often markedly instrumental in character, with broken chords, syncopation and appoggiaturas as common features; but he had a penchant for phrases of unusual lengths, and some of his music is refreshingly free from the two- and four-bar unit so common in the pre-Classical period. The slow movements usually have elegant, lyrical, highly ornamented melodies of considerable breadth; his finales are commonly in dance rhythm, often minuets (sometimes with variations but rarely with trios) or rondos. The result is a refined, urbane version of the Mannheim style with perhaps an Italian influence evident in the more vocal melodies and lighter moods. Burney remarked that his ‘invention was not unbounded, and his exquisite taste and deep science prevented the admission of whatever was not highly polished’; he commented on a certain languor, and praised his harmony and ‘selection of sounds’ as models of perfection.” Walter Knape et al in Grove Music Online. 2. ABEL, Carl Friedrich 1723-1787
3. ABEL, Carl Friedrich 1723-1787, Johann Christian BACH 1735-1782, and Felice de GIARDINO 1716-1796

Folio. Disbound. Violino o Flauto Primo: 1f. (title), [1] (publisher's catalogue), 2,14 pp.; Violino secondo: 1f. (title), [1] (blank), 2,15, [i] (blank) pp.; Viola: 1f. (title), [1] (blank), 2,13, [i] (blank) pp.; Basso/Violoncello: 1f. (title), 12 pp. Engraved. Authors credited in caption titles of Violino o Flauto primo parts: No. 1 (D major): "I.C. Bach" [Warburton B57]; No. 2 (F major): "C.F. Abel" [WK 225]; No. 3 (C major): "I.C. Bach" [Warburton B58]; No. 4 (D major): "C.F. Abel" [WK 226]; No. 5 (A major): "I.C. Bach" [Warburton B59]; and No. 6 (E-flat major): "F. Giardini." The Basso/Violoncello part uses "Basso" as a header for the first five quartets; here, the part is figured; the sixth quartet uses "Violoncello" as a header and is not figured. "No. 9" in contemporary manuscript to head of each title. Edges browned; some leaves detached; occasional stains, especially to Basso/Violoncello part; final leaf of Flauto o Violo primo part frayed and soiled at upper and inner edge.

4. AGUS, Giuseppe ca. 1725-?1803

Sonate a violino solo e basso [?Op. 1]... Dedicated a sua eccellenza Il Conte d'Haslang, Signore di Hohen Cammer, di Haslang Kreith, di Dissleng, e di Giebing; Gran Maestro Ereditario dell' Alta, e Bassa Baviera; Consigliere di Stato della fù Maestà Imperiale Carlo VII; Inviato Straordinario di S.M. Se.ma Elettoreale di Baviera alla Maesta il Re della Gran Bretagna; e Gran Croce dell' Ordine di Sn. Geórgio in Baviera. [Score] [London]: [ca. 1760].

Folio. Disbound. 1f. (title with dedication), 25, [i] (blank) pp. Engraved. Violin part with basso continuo accompaniment. Some soiling, staining, and wear, heavier to title and final blank page; minor foxing and show-through; several small tears with slight loss to upper margin of title.

BUC p. 10 and RISM A454 (no copies in the U.S., 2 copies in Britain only, at the British Museum and the Royal College of Music). According to Grove Music Online, the Sonate, op. 1 were originally published as Six Solos in London in 1751. Cf. Six solos for a violin with a thoroughbass for the harpsichord... Opera 1st (25 pp.), London, John Johnson, [1751], BUC p. 10 and RISM A453.
"Agus was an Italian composer and violinist. By 1748 he was in London, where his orchestral career lasted over half a century. He was particularly in demand as a composer of ballet music for the Italian opera, and by 1758 works by him were included in the anthology known as Hasse's Comic Tunes. A selection from the eighth volume is entirely by him, and between 1768 and 1788 he published no fewer than seven further books of opera dances. In addition to publishing collections of his own vocal and instrumental music, Agus edited Six Favourite Overtures in 8 Parts (London, 1762) containing works by Cocchi, Galuppi, Jommelli and Graun. His sonatas and trios are fluent essays in the Tartini idiom, with judicious use of double stopping. However, public taste was best suited by his flair for brief but tuneful dance movements in a variety of styles, the tambourin being especially favoured." John A. Parkinson and Simon McVeigh in Grove Music Online. (26966) $350

5. ALARD, Delphin 1815-1888

First Edition, later issue. Rare. The first issue was published in 1840, with adifferent address and price (WorldCat lists one copy only, at the Eastman School of Music). Address and price on the otherwise unchanged title and upper wrapper were re-engraved in 1862 or later. The Costallat handstamp postdates 1898, when Richault was taken over by that company. Devriès-Lesure II, p. 365. Hopkinson, p. 104. The style "Richault & Cie. Succrs." is not recorded in either Devriès-Lesure or Hopkinson.

"French violinist and composer [Alard] entered Habeneck's class at the [Paris] Conservatoire in 1827 and won first prize in 1830. He continued to study composition with Fétis (1831–3)... In 1831 he made his début as a soloist with the Société des Concerts du Conservatoire, earning the praise of Paganini, present in the audience, who subsequently dedicated to Alard his 6 Sonatas op.2... He also became known as a superb chamber music player, particularly with his own string quartet, which he had formed in 1835 with the cellist Pierre-Alexandre Chevillard... Alard's most enduring achievement was his long period (1843–75) as professor at the Paris Conservatoire... He transmitted the great Italian-French tradition of Viotti to a generation of violinists. His most famous student was Sarasate... Alard's teaching skill is evident in his excellent Ecole du violon: méthode complète et progressive (Paris, 1844), which was translated into several languages, and his numerous studies (among which is a set of caprices in all keys, op.41). His other compositions... have disappeared from the repertory... Through his father-in-law, the famous luthier Vuillaume, he owned some of the most beautiful violins, including the 'Alard' Stradivari and the incomparable 'Messia' Stradivari." Boris Schwarz and Cormac Newark in Grove Music Online. The present quartet, Alard's only work in this genre, dates from his early years. (25613) $65

Two volumes. Folio. Dark red textured cloth-backed marbled boards, large octagonal paper label with manuscript titling and stenciled shelfmark "B 122" to upper. Duos op. 23 lettered E-H; op. 27 lettered J-M (I=J). E-H, L: engraved; J, K, M: transfer from original plates. Some titles and catalogues typeset or lithographed. With plate number "S. 1722" to op. 23; "S. 1848" to op. 27. Letters E-F are Schonenberger editions, with "HL" (= Henry Lemoine) handstamps to title. The Lemoine editions (letters G-K) have additional, individual plate numbers to first page of music: "15560-15561 HL [ligature]" for op. 23; "HL [ligature] 15734-15737" for op. 27. Publisher's handstamps and handstamps of various music dealers in Paris and Lyon to foot of titles. Manuscript annotations, some dated "1905 " and "1910." Binding worn, rubbed and bumped. Slightly worn and foxed; impression occasionally light.

Later issues (Titelauflagen) of early (?)first edition. Letter E: an early issue, ca. 1853. Letter F: before 1875. Others: after 1877; issues printed by transfer possibly much later. Schonenberger was the original publisher. His business was purchased by Lemoine in 1875; the address given on the Lemoine titles was valid from 1877 to 1885. Devriès-Lesure II, pp. 278 and 395-96.

Alard published twelve duos of increasing difficulty (lettered "A" through "M") in groups of four: "élémentaire" (op. 22), "facile" (op. 23), and "brilliant" (op. 26). (25626) $75

The Rare First English Edition of Albinoni's Trattenimenti Armonici

7. ALBINONI, Tomaso 1671-1750/1751

Trattenimenti Armonici Per Camera Divisi in Dodici Sonata A Violino Violine E Cembalo Da Thomaso Albinoni Opera Sexto. An Entertainment of Harmony Containing Twelve Solos or Sonatas for a Violin with a Through Bass for the Harpsicord or Bass Violino Compos'd by Thomaso Albinoni Opera Sexta. [Score]. London: I. Walsh, [ca. 1732].

First English edition, later issue. Rare. Not in BUC. Walsh II, no. 29. RISM A732 (two copies of this issue only, one at the Library of Congress and one in the collection of André Meyer). The first issue was published in 1718 (with Walsh and Hare imprint; Walsh I, 541).

"Albinoni's reputation has fluctuated, but is probably higher now than at any time since his own age, when his instrumental music was much in demand all over Europe, particularly among amateurs, and was ranked with that of Corelli, Vivaldi and (in France) Mascitti... Albinoni's earlier instrumental works in particular were reissued and reprinted as much as any in the first three decades of the century... His sonatas, which (with two exceptions) are in four movements, are conservative in layout... Albinoni's strongest asset is the pronounced individuality of his music, to which the insularity of his life may have contributed." Michael Talbot in Grove Music Online. (26130) $3,200

8. AMÉ, Leonard fl. ca. 1780
Recueil d'Airs Choisis dans differens Operas Comiques Et Ariettes de diverses Auteurs arrangés Pour deux Violons ou Flûte et Violon... N. 1 [-10] Prix 1 [livre] 16s. [First violin part only]. Paris: Frere Md. et Graveur de Musique, [ca. 1780].

Oblong octavo. Contemporary half leather with marbled boards, raised bands on spine. [i] (title), 2-11, [i] (blank), [i] (title), 2-11 (blank), 1f. (title), 9, [i] (blank), 1f. (title), 9, [i] (blank), 1f. (title), 9, [i] (blank), 1f. (title), 9, [i] (blank), 1f. (title), 9, [i] (blank), 1f. (title), 9, [i] (blank), 1f. (title), 9, [i] (blank). pp. Engraved. Several titles with "Gravé par Madame Frere" printed at lower margin. Some pages with partial watermarks at upper edge. With the manuscript name "De Gourvoux" to title of No. 1. With annotations in both ink and pencil to margins including numerical notation to inner margin of title. Includes music by Dalayrac, Dezède, Floquet, Grétry, Piccini, J.J. Rousseau, and others. Binding quite worn, with spine lacking at head and foot. Light foxing and soiling; some minor dampstaining; occasional slight loss, tears, and/or repairs to outer edges, not affecting music.

From the renowned collection of André Meyer, Paris. (25069) $400

9. ANDRÉ, Johann Anton 1775-1842
[Op. 15]. Trois Quatuors pour deux Violons, Alto et Violoncelle concertans, dediés à Mr. Cherubini Administrateur du conservatoire de musique à Paris... Oeuvre 15 /:Deuxième Oeuvre des Quatuors:/ No. 1600 Prix f3. [Parts]. Offenbach s/m: J. André [PN 1600], [1803 or later].

A later issue from plates of the first edition. Constapel pp. 133 and 358. The second plate number, "1775," refers to André's own arrangement of the quartet no. 3 for flute, violin, viola, and violoncello (1803; Constapel p. 141); the flute part (not present), replacing the first violin, was newly engraved. "Deuxième Oeuvre des Quatuors" refers to André's first set of three quartets, published simultaneously with the present set as his op. 14 (PN 1599). "W. Speyer" stands for Wilhelm Speyer (1790-1878), a violinist, composer, and collector based in Offenbach. (25630) $225

10. [ANON.]
Six Miscellaneous Quartetto's for two Violins a Tenor and Bass, or a Flute, Violin, Tenor and Bass Consisting of The most Favourite Airs selected from the English, Scotch, Irish, German,
Italian & French Music; Composed Adapted & Arranged by the most Eminent Masters. Set 1st. Price 9s. [Parts]. London: Wm. Napier [PN 55], [ca. 1780].

Probable First Edition. BUC p. 867. RISM BII p. 238 (2 copies only of the first set in the U.S.). The first of two sets of six quartets. Composers represented include Barthelemon, Graf, Stamitz, and Vachon. ($40)

11. ARENSKY, Anton Stepanovich 1861-1906

[Op. 35]. Quatuor (La mineur) pour Violon, Alto et deux Violoncelles... Partition 1Rbl.50./6 frs. net. Parties 3 Rbl./12frs. net. [Parts]. Moscou: P. Jurgenson [PN 19311], [1894-1903].

4 volumes. Folio. Stapled. Violino: [i] (title), [i] (incipits of the four main themes and comments [in French and Russian] on their origin—all are borrowed), [1] (dedication, "A la mémoire de P. Tschaïkowsky." with lithographic illustration by Shul'gin, dated "94"), 2-15, [iii] (blank) pp.; Viola: 15, [i] (blank) pp.; Violoncello I: [1] (part title), 2-15, [i] (blank) pp.; Violoncello II: [1] (part title), 2-13, [i] (blank) pp. Transfer from engraved plates. Note to lower right corner of final page of music of each part: "Grave et impr. chez P.Jurgenson à Moscou." The first and third themes displayed on the verso of the title leaf are from Orthodox chant (Mass for the Dead) and printed in the archaic typeface still used by the Russian Orthodox Church. The second theme is from Tchaikovsky's song "Legend," op. 54, no. 5; the fourth is the well-known folksong "Slava." Performance-related annotations to all parts, in English; to Violoncello II part in red and blue crayon, to other parts in pencil. Browned; edges frayed; many leaves detached; first leaf of Violoncello I torn.

Written in response to Tchaikovsky's death, the quartet replaces the second violin with a second violoncello. No other quartets for this "inverted" ensemble are known. It remains one of Arensky's best-known works. A later arrangement by the composer for standard string quartet (1899, as op. 35a; PN 24632) has never gained wide currency. The second movement, variations on the aforementioned theme by Tchaikovsky, also exists in a fairly popular version for string orchestra. ($40)

12. ARMA, Paul 1905-1987

Folio. Wrappers with Fayal's striking geometric design in relief on a cream background stapled at two points at upper margin and two points at lower to blank white upper wrapper. Score: 1f. (title), 13, [i] (catalogue of works by Paul Arma) pp. With separate part for soprano saxophone and piano laid in, 4 pp. Wrappers somewhat worn and soiled; staining to bottom edge of lower. Slightly worn; lower edge of two leaves just slightly stained.
First Edition.

*Arma, a French composer, pianist and ethnomusicologist of Hungarian birth, studied the piano with Bartók from 1921-24. "Between 1924 and 1930 he gave many recitals in Europe and the USA and lectured on contemporary music at American universities... The advent of the Nazi regime in Germany forced his move to Paris, where he made his permanent home... he lectured at the Phonothèque Nationale and at the University of Paris (1949); from the 1950s he was associated with the RTF musique concrète group.... As a composer he is known chiefly for his experimental work." Vera Lampert in Grove Music Online. Marianne Fayol (1908-ca. 2003) was a French painter born in Strasbourg. "Her work is characterized by its long, clean vertical lines and musicality, as well as subtle harmonies of color... She was president of the Union of Female Painters from 1984-1987... Fayol's paintings are included in many private collections in France as well as abroad, and in public collections including the Centre Georges Pompidou, Musée de Strasbourg and the Picasso Museum in Antibes."

13. BACH, Johann Christian 1735-1782
[Warburton B51-56; op. 8]. Six Quatuor a Deux Violons, ou une Flute, un Violin, Taille, et Basse... Oeuvre IX[1]. Prix f.5. [Parts]. La Haye: Antoine Stechwey, [?1772].

Second edition, published within months of first. Warburton 1 p. 48. BUC p. 76. RISM B309 (12 copies; three in the U.S.: University of Michigan; Eastman School of Music; Library of Congress). The flute is mentioned only on the title, the oboe only in the header of the first partbook. (26990) $225

14. BAILOTT, Pierre Marie François 1771-1842

First Edition, mixed issues, with the Violino Primo part being one issue and the Violino Secondo and Basso parts another. Dating the Violino Primo issue is difficult because of contradictory criteria. The Violino Primo part has the title page of the first issue (1800), containing the publisher's earlier address (valid through 1805; see Devriès-Lesure I, p. 120) and making no reference to the arrangement with piano accompaniment; the correction to the final line of the title, where the original reading "Enreg[i]é à la Bibliothèque Nationale" has been changed to "... Royale," however, points to a date after 1815 as do the added metronome markings. The plate number "13" is also a later addition; although "Livre 1," containing the first three trios of the collection, had the plate number "12" from the beginning, the first issue of "Livre 2" had only "b" (see digitized copies of the first issue at the University of Western Ontario and Eastman School of Music, both at IMSLP). The other two parts carry the publisher's address of 1807-24 and lack the metronome markings; it is likely that they were published before the Violino Primo part.

15. BARTHÉLEMON, François-Hippolyte 1741-1808

[Op. 9]. Six Quartettos for Two Violins a Tenor [i.e., viola] and Violoncello; Composed & humbly Dedicated (by Permission) to His Royal Highness, The Duke of Gloucester &c. &c. Op. IX. Pr. 10/6. [Parts]. London: Wm. Napier [PN 135], [ca. 1783].

First Edition. BUC p. 88. RISM B1114 (4 copies only, at the British Library, the University of Cambridge, the Library of Congress, and the Moravian Archives in Bethlehem, PA).

Barthélemon, a French composer and violinist, lived in London from 1764. "He was clearly one of the best violinists of his time. Burney commented on Barthélemon's 'powerful hand and truly vocal adagio'... [His] compositions exhibit considerable charm...” Neal Zaslaw and Simon McVeigh in Grove Music Online.

16. [BARTHÉLEMON, François-Hippolyte 1741-1808]

A Miscellaneous Quartetto, for two Violins a Tenor and Bass, or a Flute, Violin, Tenor and Bass. Consisting of The most Favorite Airs, selected from the English, Scotch, Irish, German, Italian & French Music, Composed Adapted & Arranged by the most Eminent Masters. [No. 3]. Price Is. 6d. [Parts]. London: Wm. Napier, [ca. 1777].

Folio. Disbound. Violino o flauto primo: [1] (title), [2-3], [i] (blank) pp. Violino secondo: [1] (blank), [2-3], [i] (blank) pp. Viola: [1] (blank), [2-3], [i] (blank) pp. Basso: [1] (blank), [2-3], [i] (blank) pp. Engraved. With "N.B. There will be a Quartetto of this kind Published every fortnight" printed to lower margin of title. A quartet, here ascribed to Barthelemon, based on the airs "Why how now Madam Flirt," "Saw you my Father," "Lochaber," and "Hooly and Fairly." No. 3 of the series. Some foxing, staining, fraying, soiling, and wear, rather heavy to several pages; several leaves loose; some offsetting; binder's holes at inner margins; contemporary manuscript "8" (or "8 e 3") in black ink to first page of each part, slightly trimmed; new price in black ink over original price.

OCLC 311477703 (1 copy only). Not in BUC or RISM, but cf. BUC p. 867 and RISM BII, p. 238, "Six Miscellaneous quartetto's... " also published by W. Napier, ca. 1780. (26984) $125
17. [BARTHÉLEMON, François-Hippolyte 1741-1808]
A Miscellaneous Quartetto for two Violins a Tenor and Bass, or a Flute, Violin, Tenor and Bass. Consisting of The most Favourite Airs, selected from the English, Scotch, Irish, German, Italian & French Music, Composed Adapted & Arranged by the most Eminent Masters. No. [7] Price 2s: 0d. 18. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827
Oblong folio. Quarter mid-tan leather with purple boards with overlapping leather flap. [1] (title within decorative oval border), 2-51, [i] (blank) pp. Engraved. Upper board stamped "I v G 1808." Binding quite worn and shaken; boards considerably abraided and cracked; spine frayed. Guttered pouch for string parts laid down to inner lower board. Title slightly stained; small stab hole to upper inner corners throughout. In quite good internal condition overall. Kinsky p. 5. (22914) $450

The First Edition of Beethoven’s Op. 4 Quintet

19. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827
Folio. Sewn. [1] (title), 2-11, [i] (blank); 8, [ii] (blank); 7, [i] (blank); 7, [i] (blank), 7, [i] (blank) pp. Engraved. Watermark incorporating a star within a shield. Moderately worn and soiled; some light foxing, heavier to title of first violin part. First violin part with old paper reinforcement to spine. Portion of imprint removed from title. First Edition, later issue. Kinsky-Halm p. 12 (first issue). Weinhold/Dorfmüller p. 256. Hirsch IV, 241. For other issues see Hoboken 2, 27-30. In the first issue the opus number is printed as "IV" and the price "f2." In the present issue "4" appears in manuscript and there is no printed price. In addition, the number "11-1/2B" is printed at the foot of the first page of music in the "Violino Primo" part, most probably a printer's notation referring to the number of sheets required to print the part.
Opus 4 is an original work, drawing on material from Beethoven's then-unpublished Octet for Winds (op. 103), "... with revisions sufficient to warrant calling it a new composition." Solomon: Beethoven, p. 102. "At some time before February 1791, probably when he was composing the C major Piano Sonata, Op. 2, no. 3, with its closely related opening theme, Beethoven re-cast the Octet (op. 103) as a String Quintet, Op. 4, and comparison of the two versions shows considerable light on his development as an instrumental composer during those four important formative years... The Quintet is by no means an arrangement of the Octet; unlike Mozart's parallel recasting of his Octet for the same combination of instruments (K.388) as a String Quintet (K.406), it is in many respects a new work. Everything has become more plastic; stiff formulae are softened; the texture is lightened in weight but enriched by polyphony and the devices of 'obbligato accompaniment'. The harmony, too, has become richer... Structurally everything is worked out in the Quintet on lines that are at the same time broader and subtler: the exposition of the first movement of the Quintet is 88 bars long as compared with the 69 of the Octet, the development 77 as compared with 56. The sixteen-bar periods that open minuet and trio of the Octet are expanded to 22 and 24 bars respectively in the Quintet, and the structure becomes much clearer, less fussy... All in all, it is hardly an exaggeration to say that the difference between Octet and Quintet represents the whole difference between the "al fresco," serenade music that was just going out of fashion and the new finely wrought quartet style of late Haydn with its 'openwork texture,' its so called 'durchbrochene Arbeit'. " Gerald Abraham in The New Oxford History of Music Vol. VIII: The Age of Beethoven 1790-1830, p. 260.

The autograph of the work is untraced. (17607) $3,250

20. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827

Folio. Unbound. 1f. (title), 9; 8; 8 pp. Engraved. Worn and soiled; title separated at spine; edges frayed. Series X No. 3 (second issue?) in the series of Beethoven's works issued by Haslinger. (21493) $50

21. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827
[Op. 23]. Sonate pour Piano-Forte et Violon... Oeuv. 23. [Violin part only.]. Mayence: Schott [PN 256], [?1818].

Kinsky p. 58. Not in Hoboken. (22927) $100

The First Edition of Beethoven’s Op. 29 Quintet

22. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827
[Op. 29]. Quintetto Pour 2 Violons, 2 Altos et Violoncelle composé et dédié à Monsieur le Comte Maurice de Fries... Oeuv. 29. [Set of parts]. Leipsic: Breitkopf & Härtel [PN 94], [December 1802].
Folio. Unbound, as issued. Preserved in a modern full dark green cloth folder with black leather label gilt to spine. [1] (title), 2-13; 9; 8; 8; 8 pp. Engraved. Early signature to title. Slightly browned throughout; repairs to spine of first violin part with slight paper loss.

"Between the Op. 18 Quartets and those of Op. 59 lie about six or seven years and the 'Eroica.' A whole world, in Beethoven's terms... The bridge between the two worlds is built of works other than quartets, and the only piece of chamber music for strings belonging to this interim stage is the splendid Quintet in C, Op. 29 (with two violas), which lies nearer to the first than to the second period. This work, which may be in some ways regarded as a crown to Op. 18, is still shamefully neglected. As a whole it has greater breadth and economy of line than even the F major Quartet, Op. 18, No. 1... Although there is a sufficiency of accomplished five-part writing and one gets the strong impression for much of the time that the quintet is... an enriched quartet, Beethoven contrives also to create from time to time an almost orchestral richness and weight, especially in the vividly resourceful 'storm finale.'" Ex-Libris the Early Beethoven Collector, Nina Appony

[Op. 30 no. 3]. Trois Sonates pour le Piano Forte avec l'Accompagnement d'un Violon, composées et dédiées à Sa Majesté Alexandre I, Empereur de toutes les Russies... Oeuvre XXX N. [3]. [Parts]. Vienne... Londres: Bureau d'Arts et d'Industrie [PN] 84, [June 1803].

Nina Appony was an early collector of Beethoven editions; items from her collection are held at the Beethoven Haus, in the Hoboken collection, and in other prominent institutions. She was possibly related to Count Anton Georg Appony (1751-1817) who, in 1795, reportedly suggested to Beethoven that he write in the string quartet genre (see Kerman: The Beethoven Quartets, pp. 7-9); Count Appony also commissioned Haydn’s quartets opp. 71 and 74. (22949)

26. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827

First Edition of this arrangement. Kinsky p. 90. Dorfmüller p. 307. Hoboken 2, 196. The authenticity of the arrangement is disputed (see Raab, critical report to NGA I, 1, p. 168). (22958)

27. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827
[Op. 38]. Grand Trio Pour le Piano Forte avec l'accompagnement de la Clarinette ou Violon et Violoncelle concertants, d'après le Septette pour Violon, Alto, Clarinette, Cor, Basson, Violoncelle et Contrebasse... arrangé par lui-même et dédié à Monsieur Jean Adam Schmidt... Oeuvre 15 [138]. [Piano part only]. Berlin... Amsterdam: J. J. Hummel [PN] 1333, [1805].

A later edition, published in the same year as the first. Kinsky p. 95 (with opus number in

An Interesting Copy of the First Edition of Beethoven’s Op. 47 Sonata, Extensively Marked Up for Publication

28. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827

Piano part extensively marked up for re-engraving in an unknown hand, occasionally in ink ("Commencer planche 2" and "Beethoven, op. 47" at head of p. 4); annotations to title in faint red crayon, partially illegible: "44 planch[es] Simphonie même [?]retourner;" additional annotations in red crayon and pencil; pagination amended to exclude blanks; references at page ends with custos function ("V.S.", "V. Var. 1," etc.) deleted; system rebreaks indicated; numerous errors in notation corrected; fingerings added (apparently in another hand, not for re-engraving). Violin part from another copy. The piano part of the present copy evidently served as a Stichvorlage for a later edition that remains to be identified. The French directives would suggest a French publisher, or at least a French engraver; the system rebreaks imply that the new edition was no longer to be in oblong format. Jacob Lateiner's catalogue card claims: "This copy used by Farrenc to publish his own edition." No edition of op. 47 by Farrenc has, however, been traced.

First Edition, later issue, with corrections to title consisting of "uno stile" instead of "uno stilo" in the 3rd line and the insertion of "per" before the composer's name. Kinsky p. 111. Dorfmüller plates 2 und 3. Hoboken 2, 228 (violin part could also be 227).

Beethoven completed the Kreutzer Sonata in 1803. He had intended to dedicate it to the violinist George P. Bridgetower (1778-1860), for whom he wrote the work and who gave its first performance. Beethoven changed his mind and dedicated it to the French violin virtuoso and composer Rodolphe Kreutzer (1766-1831), "who had made a very favourable first impression on him. Ironically, Kreutzer then refused the play the sonata, which he reportedly found 'outrageously unintelligible.' " Kaplan: The Cambridge Companion to Beethoven, p. 138.

Bridgetower, an English violinist, was the son of a West Indian father and a European mother. "He appeared at court in Windsor, and at concerts in Bath and Bristol, before making his London début at the Drury Lane Theatre oratorio on 19 February 1790. His concerto performances here attracted the notice of the Prince of Wales (later King George IV)... During the next decade he played at many prestigious London concerts, appearing alongside Haydn at Salomon's series... It was through Prince Lichnowsky that Bridgetower met Beethoven in the spring of 1803 and that their famous concert (in the Augarten, on 24 May) was financed... There is no question that Beethoven, who spoke highly of Bridgetower both as a soloist and as a quartet player, intended to dedicate this sonata to the young violinist... But the two men later fell out of favour with one another, allegedly after a quarrel over a girl..."
George Grove in Grove online "The virtuosity and scale of this famous sonata proclaim it even more decidedly a middle-period work. In composing it in, as the original title-page says, 'a very concertante style, almost like a concerto', Beethoven transferred the violin sonata from the private salon to the concert hall (at a time when public concerts were becoming established in Vienna) and did for the medium what the 'Razumovsky' Quartets did for the string quartet and the 'Waldstein' and 'Appassionata' Sonatas for the piano sonata." Arnold and Fortune: The Beethoven Reader, p. 220.

A particularly interesting copy. (22961) $4,500

35. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827

"After completing the Ninth Symphony in early 1824, Beethoven spent the two and a half years that remained to him writing with increasing ease, it seems, and exclusively in the medium of the string quartet. The five late string quartets contain Beethoven's greatest music, or so at least many listeners in the 20th century came to feel. The first of the five, op. 127 in Eb of 1824-5, shows all the important characteristics of this unique body of music." Joseph Kerman and Alan Tyson (with Scott G. Burnham) in Grove Music Online. The First Edition of the Full Score of Beethoven’s Op. 130
38. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827

_This, the third of the quartets dedicated to Prince Galitzin, was composed in 1825. "It is hard to resist the conviction, dangerous as superlatives must always be, that as a masterpiece of the sonata type of construction, the opening movement of this last and most mature of the Galitzin Quartets is unrivalled and unique, not only in Beethoven but possibly in all quartet literature."_ Mason: The Quartets of Beethoven, p. 208.

"The event that was personally important to Beethoven at this time was the first performance of his Quartet in B-flat, his "Leibquartett" as it [was] once called in the Conversation Books... The performance took place on March 21, 1826... [Matthias Artaria] had purchased the publishing rights of the Quartett and after the performance he went to Beethoven with the suggestion that he write a new finale and that the fugue be published as an independent piece... Beethoven complied, and the original finale was subsequently published as Op. 133." Thayer-Forbes: Beethoven, pp. 974-975. (18861) $2,850

Bound with:

*Edmund (originally Ödön) Singer (1830-1912) was a Hungarian violinist. He became concertmaster in Pest (1846), Weimar (1854), and finally Stuttgart (1861), where he also took a teaching position at the conservatory and evolved into a leading figure in the city's music life. In 1872, Richard Wagner selected him as concertmaster for the concert on the occasion of the laying of the cornerstone of the Bayreuth Festival Theater (Beethoven's Ninth Symphony). See Ehrlich, ed., Berühmte Geiger der Vergangenheit und Gegenwart, pp. 214-18. Singer died in Stuttgart.*
The date of the dedication (probably not before 1854) is unknown, as is the identity of the signer. According to "Musikverlagswiki" (Musikdrucke website) maintained by the Hochschule für Musik und Theater in Leipzig, Heinrich Schlesinger was the sole owner of the company from 1844 until 1865, when the company was sold to Robert Lienau. However, the signature is unlikely to read either "Schlesinger" or "Lienau." (23016) $2,500

Complete Collection of Sets of Parts for All of Beethoven’s String Quartets

42. BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van 1770-1827
[Opp. 18, 59, 74, 95, 127, 130-133, 135]. A very rare complete collection of sets of parts of all of the string quartets in first and early editions.

1. Op. 18

1tes [-6tes] Quartett... 2 Violinen, Viola und Violoncello... 18tes Werk. Wien: Tobias Haslinger [without plate number] [ca. 1840].

VI II: 9; 8; 8; 8; 8; 8 pp.

Va: 9; 7; 8; 8; 8 pp.

Vc: 9; 7; 8; 7; 8 pp.

Engraved. Kinsky p. 44. Hoboken 2, 96 and 97.

"It was to the set of String Quartets, op. 18, that Beethoven turned for the most ambitious single project of his early Vienna years. This set was begun in 1798, composed primarily in 1799 and 1800, and published in 1801 with a dedication to Prince Lobkowitz... All of them essentially accept the usual four-movement structure and all reflect the Viennese Classic style, with an occasional admixture of Italianate melody - perhaps under the influence of Salieri, to whom Beethoven had just dedicated his Sonatas, op. 12." Solomon: Beethoven, p. 101.

2. Op. 59

[Trois Quatuors pour deux Violons, Alto et Violoncello... Oeuvre 59]. [Vienne: Au Bureau des arts et d'industrie A' Pesth chez Schreyvogel & Comp. [PNs 580, 585, 585] [1808].

VI I: 2ff. (title, dedication to Count Razumovsky), [1] (blank), 2-13; [1] (blank), 2-11; 10 pp.;

VI II: 10; 9; 9 pp.

Vc: 10; 9; [1] (blank) 2-9 pp.

"The string quartets of op. 59 so strained the medium, as it was understood in 1806, that they met with resistance from players and audiences alike... Each quartet was supposed to include a Russian melody, for the benefit of the dedicatee Count Razumovsky, the Russian ambassador in Vienna. Here for the first time may be seen Beethoven's interest in folksong, which was to grow in later years. Folksongs did not much help the first two quartets, but Razumovsky's notion came to superb fruition in the third, where Beethoven gave up the idea of incorporating pre-existing tunes and instead wrote the haunting A minor Andante in what he must have conceived to be a Russian idiom." The New Grove Vol. 2, p. 383.
3. Op. 74
Quatuor pour Deux Violons, Viola et Violoncelle composé et dédié à Son Altesse le Prince Regnant de Lobkowitz Duc de Raudnitz... Oeuv. 74. Leipzig: Breitkopf & Härtel [PN] 1609 [1810].
VI II: 7 pp.
Vla: 7 pp.
Vc: 7 pp.
Engraved. First German edition, second issue (distinguished by the presence of "Adagio" at the head of the slow movement in the first issue and "Adagio ma non troppo" in the second). Published very shortly after the Clementi edition (see Del Mar: Beethoven's String Quartets op. 74 op. 95 Critical Commentary, pp. 14-15). Kinsky p. 198; Hirsch IV, 320; Dorfmüller-Weinhold p. 220; Hoboken 2, 333 (all citing the Breitkopf edition as the first). Often referred to as the "harp" quartet; the name derives from the pizzicato effects in the first movement.

4. Op. 95
Elftes Quartett für zwey Violinen, Bratsche und Violoncelle Seinem Freunde dem Herrn Hofsekretär Nik. Zmeskall von Domanovetz ... 95tes Werk. Wien: S.A. Steiner und Comp. [PN S. et C. 2580] [1816].

"The Quartets in Eb and F minor were written about a year apart, then: an appreciable span of time, by Beethoven's earlier standards. But on this occasion, nothing of first importance appears to have occupied him in between. There would seem to be every reason to consider the two quartets together, in the same way that we naturally group together the six quartets, Op. 18, or the three of Op. 59. Indeed, the two share certain technical proclivities - in the attitude toward sonata form, for example, and toward the key sequence of movements - and both exhibit a poise and control that mark a decided advance over the earlier period (or sub-period). Nonetheless, between the two there is a cleavage in aesthetic stance unlike anything that differentiates the "Razumovsky" Quartets from one another. The Eb Quartet is an open, unproblematic, lucid work of consolidation, like some others written at this time. The F minor Quartet is an involved, impassioned, highly idiosyncratic piece, problematic in every one of its movements, advanced in a hundred ways. One work looks backward, perhaps, the other forward. Or to put it better, one work looks outward, the other inward. It would be hard to imagine any composer grouping these antipodes together as a single opus." Kerman: The Beethoven Quartets, p. 156. We would like to thank Dr. Jonathan Del Mar for his kind assistance in the identification of this issue.

5. Op. 127
Quatuor pour deux Violons, Alto et Violoncelle composé et dédié à Son Altesse Monseigneur le Prince Nicolas Galitzin... Oeuvre 127. Mayence: les fils de B. Schott [PN] 2351 [March 1826].
VI II: [1] (title), 2-12 pp.
6. Op. 130
_Troisième Quatuor pour 2 Violons, Alte & Violoncelle des Quatuors composés et dédiés A Son Altesse Monseigneur le Prince Nicolas de Galitzin... Oeuvre 130... Ecrit et piquéure par A. Kurka._ Vienne: Maths. Artaria [PN M.A. 871] [May 1827].
VI II: 13 pp.

7. Op. 131
_Grand Quatuor En Ut dièze mineur pour deux Violons alto et Violoncelle composé et dédié à Son Excellence Monseigneur Le Baron de Stutterhiem... Oeuvre 131._ Mayence: les fils de B. Schott [PN] 2628 [June 1827].

8. Op. 132

VI II: [1] (blank), 9 pp.
10. Op. 135
Quatuor pour 2 Violons Alto & Violoncelle Composé & dédié à son ami Johann Wolfmeier...
Maurice Schlesinger [PN] 1444 [Sept. 1827].
Engraved throughout. With printed initials "FJ" to lower right corner of title, possibly those of 234. Hoboken 2, 528.

"[The late period quartets] carry not merely the string quartet but the art of music into new regions. Studies of them and commentaries on them are innumerable; like Hamlet they will never yield up their last secrets or admit of a 'final' solution. They are inexhaustible and all that can be done here is to indicate in what ways they advance the frontiers of the art of music. The first to be completed (in 1824), and the only one published during Beethoven's lifetime, was the E flat, Op. 127. Then came the A minor, Op. 132, and the B flat, Op. 130 (but with the afterwards separated Grosse Fuge, Op. 133, as its finale) (both 1825), the C sharp minor, Op. 131, the F major, Op. 135, and the present finale of Op. 130 (all in 1826). The immediate impulse to their composition may have been given by a commission from another quartet-playing Russian nobleman, the Prince 'von Galitzin' (more accurately 'Golitsin') to whom Opp. 127, 130, and 132 are dedicated... Beethoven's deafness and consequent spiritual isolation combined with certain specifically musical factors to make many things in the last quartets incomprehensible to contemporaries and not easily comprehensible to later

Four volumes. Folio. 19th century quarter cloth with marbled boards, titling gilt to spines and upper boards. Each part with collection number stamped to upper outer margin throughout.
19th century thematic index to Volume I. With neat performance markings in pencil to first violin parts throughout and occasional additional markings in pencil and red crayon to other parts. Binding slightly worn, rubbed and bumped. Occasional foxing and wear. In very good condition overall.

An important collection. (26772) $18,500 and pencil: "Nur No. 1;" occasional corrections in lead and blue pencil. Impression occasionally light; some minor stains; Viola part dampstained at upper margin; inner bifolium of Violoncello part reinforced with tape with spine reinforced with paper tape.

"[Benincori] was one of the few Italian composers of the early nineteenth century devoted, under the spell of Haydn, to the composition of string quartets. His early quartets fuse influences from Giovanni Battista Viotti and Haydn with sometimes bizarre results, rather eccentric in harmony and melody, but significantly surpassing the average quartet production of their time." Alessandro di Proﬁo in MGG 2. (25655)

44. BENNETT, William Sterndale 1816-1875

Folio. Unbound. Laid into handmade leather-backed portfolio with original title laid down to upper. Piano: 3-35 pp.; Violin I: 8 pp.; Violin II: 8 pp.; Alto: 8 pp.; Violoncello I: 8 pp.; Violoncello II: 8 pp.; Contrabass: 8 pp. Engraved. Moderately browned; some staining; lacking title leaf; final leaf torn at inner margin and laid down to rear board of portfolio; each part with previous owner's signature "Chr. Dauer 15/7, 1927."

45. BERG, Alban 1885-1935
Lyrische Suite für Streichquartett... Partitur. [Study score]. Wien... Leipzig: Universal-Edition [PN U.E. 8780 W.Ph.V.173], [not before January 1928].

First Edition of the study score. All copies in WorldCat are dated 1927 although the publisher's catalogue is dated 1928. The present edition is a photographic reduction of the full-size score, which was published in 1927. The second plate number refers to the Wiener Philharmonischer Verlag, a company founded by Universal executive Alfred Kalmus in 1923 and absorbed by Universal in 1925.

Artur Holde (1885-1962) was a German conductor and music critic. Being Jewish, he emigrated to the United States in 1936. He became a staff editor at the German-Jewish exile journal Aufbau, then based in New York, and later worked for the U.S. State Department.

"George Perle's discovery... of a score in which Berg had annotated the details of the autobiographical programme, the Lyrische Suite... is the most completely documented demonstration of the extent to which such extra-musical considerations act as compositional determinants... The annotated score reveals that the six movements of the Lyrische Suite document the love affair between Berg and Hanna Fuchs-Robettin, the wife of a wealthy Prague businessman and the sister of Franz Werfel." Douglas Jarman in Grove Music Online. (24599)

_Violinkonzert Ausgabe für Klavier und Violine._ [Piano reduction and solo violin part]. Wien... Leipzig: Universal-Edition [PNs U.E. 10903 and 10903a], [November 18, 1938].

First Edition, first issue of this arrangement. According to Universal Edition, there was no earlier issue. Douglas Jarman's claim in the critical report to the full score of the work, within the complete edition of Berg's works, that the arrangement was first published in 1936 is unsubstantiated; only the full score was published in that year. It is notable that Berg's music was still published and advertised in post-Anschluss Greater Germany.

_The arrangement, not credited in the edition, is by the Austrian pianist Rita Kurzmann (née Pollak, 1900-1942). She premiered it with violinist Louis Krasner (1903-1995), who had commissioned the concerto. Kurzmann was engaged in the workers' music movement and emigrated to Argentina in 1936. The double dedication—to Krasner and the "memory of an angel"—is noteworthy. The "angel" is Manon Gropius (1916-1935), daughter of Alma Mahler-Gropius (1879-1964) and Walter Gropius (1883-1969), whose early death from poliomyelitis shocked Vienna._ (24563)

47. BERG, Alban 1885-1935

First Edition, later issue (the first issue was published in 1926).
"The Kammerkonzert, more than any other work, demonstrates Berg's love of intricate formal designs and his interest in using apparently abstract, mathematical schemes as structural determinants. It is, perhaps, both the most forbidding and one of the most fascinating works in his output... Important structural elements are determined by extra musical programmatic considerations. Berg himself touched on some of these in his dedicatory 'open letter' to Schoenberg, in which he revealed that the motto theme which opens the work is built of the musical letters in the names 'ArnolD SCHönBErG', 'Anton wEBErn' and AIBAn BErG', and that the number three, representing the three members of the Schoenberg school, was with its multiples a factor determining the length of sections, the metronome marks, the nature of the instrumental body and many other aspects of the work." Douglas Jarman in Grove Music Online. (24934)

58. BOCCHERINI, Luigi 1743-1805
Collection des Quintetti... pour deux Violons, Alto et deux Violoncelles. La partie de premier Violoncelle peut être remplacée par l’Alto Violoncelle Tome [I and] II. [Parts]. Paris: Janet et Cotelle [PNs 1037, 1038] [1818-22].

2 “Tomes” in 6 volumes each for a total of 12 volumes. Folio. Early half olive-green leather with titling gilt to spines in decorative compartments gilt.

Tome I:
Tome II:

Bindings somewhat worn and scuffed. Lacking list of subscribers and titles to some parts including to Tome I; minor foxing and staining; very small wormhole to blank margins of first 60 pp. of Alto violoncelle part and last 28 pp. of Viola part in Tome I; one leaf (pp. 43/44) detached in second violoncelle part of Tome II; other minor imperfections. A very good copy overall.

Rare, particularly with the portrait. RISM B3187.

The first collected edition, published in two “Tomes,” the first containing 51 quintets in Books 1-9 and the second containing 42 quintets in Books 10-16 for a total of 93 quintets.

“[Boccherini] wrote his chamber music for himself and other virtuosos to play, always showing a sure grasp of string technique. The high, florid cello parts… and the elaborate violin parts inevitably represent a heterogeneous element texturally, no less so because Boccherini also assigned virtuoso passage-work to the viola and the second violin, and in quintets to the second cello… In a sensuous, wholly Latin way, he relished the sound of an ensemble of instruments for its own sake.” TNG Vol 2 p. 828. 59. BOIELDIEU, Adrien 1775-1834
Ouverture [Ma Tante Aurore; Jean de Paris; Les Voitures Versées]... Arrangée en Quatuor Pour deux Violons, Alto et Basse par Martinn Prix 4f 50c. [Parts]. Paris: Boieldieu Jeune [PN 3s, 507, 909], [1811, ca. 1816, 1821].

First Edition. WorldCat (1 copy only, at the Houghton Library).
The publisher "Boieldieu jeune" was Louis-Armand Boieldieu (1777-1840), the younger brother of the composer. Dated according to plate numbers; while the date for Ma Tante Aurore is certain, the other two could be one year earlier. The publisher's address on the titles was valid from 1811-1817. The handstamp of Janet & Cotelle was added after 1824, when Boieldieu sold his business to that company. Devriès-Lesure I, p. 35-36. The arranger Jacob-Joseph-Balthasar Martinn (Martin), born in Antwerp, was a violinist and composer active in Paris. Van der Straeten II, p. 80. (25640) $185

60. BORGHI, Luigi ?1745-ca. 1806
[Op. 1]. Six Solos for a Violin and Bass Humbly Dedicated to Sir Rowland Wynne Bart...
Opera Prima. Price 7s:6. [Score]. London: Longman & Broderip [PN 3], [ca. 1790s].
RISM B3700 (1 copy only, at the Bayerische Staatsbibliothek). OCLC nos. 367528103, 663975292 (2 copies only, at Brigham Young University and the Koninklijke Bibliotheek). Not in BUC, but cf. another edition with the same pagination, first published in London by William Napier, ca. 1772.

Borghi, an Italian violinist and composer, "was a pupil of Pugnani and friend of Sir William Hamilton, and settled in London around 1769. A prominent orchestral violinist, he was leader of the second violins at the Handel Commemoration of 1784 and at the Professional Concert from 1785 until 1792, and played regularly with Cramer in quartets and other chamber music. He composed ballet music for the Italian opera, was assistant manager of O'Reilly's opera company at the Pantheon in 1791 and, shortly afterwards, married the prima donna Anna Casentini (fl 1787-96). His works, among which the violin concertos are notable examples of the galant style, were published both in England and on the Continent." John A. Parkinson and Simon McVeigh in Grove Music Online. 65. BREVAL, Jean-Baptiste 1753-1823 [Op. 19]. Six Duettis for a Violin & Bass... and humbly Dedicated to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales... Op. XIX. London: J. Cooper, [1786-87; after 1787].

The Viola part, not advertised on the title, is identical with the Violoncello part, transposed up an octave; it carries a different imprint and is identified as being part of a later (1787) edition: Cooper's address is no longer "No. 39 Whitcomb Street near Coventry Street" but "No. 7 Gerrard Street, Soho." Also, a price ("10s/6d") has been added, and the items advertised to the foot of the title now include the present item, restyled "Six Duettts for a Violin, Violoncello, or Violin & Tenor [i.e., viola], Op. 19;" Breval's opus 28, published in 1787, is also advertised. Occasional notational corrections in pencil; annotation "good" in pencil to some pieces. All parts reinforced at spine with paper tape. Minor stains and paper imperfections.

A later edition; apparently a reprint of the slightly earlier edition of Longman & Broderip published in London ca. 1786. BUC I p. 134 (dated 1783). RISM B4384 (4 copies, one at the University of California, Berkeley). Dates based on publisher's addresses (see Humphries and Smith, p. 115 ("Cooper [James]")). The first edition was published by Burchard Hummel in The Hague and Amsterdam (1785).

"[Breval was a] French composer and cellist. He studied with Jean-Baptiste Cupis, and may also have received lessons from Berteau... He made his début at the Concert Spirituel in 1778, playing one of his own sonatas... On the temporary cessation of the Concert Spirituel, he joined the Théâtre Feydeau orchestra from 1791 to 1800. Afterwards he assumed the administration of the Concerts de la rue de Cléry and became a member of the Paris Opéra orchestra, a position from which he retired in 1814. Bréval's compositions, written between 1775 and 1805, consist mostly of instrumental music and reflect contemporary Parisian musical taste: graceful melodies are propelled by energetic rhythms and supported by an unobtrusive harmonic structure... He was ranked among the best composers for amateur musicians by his contemporaries." Barry S. Brook, Richard Viano, and Valerie Walden in Grove Music Online. (25638) $185

66. BRÉVAL, Jean-Baptiste Sébastien 1753-1823

67. BRUNI, Antonio Bartolomeo 1757-1821

Folio. Cloth-backed wrappers with later manuscript titling and part name in black ink to upper. Violino primo: 1f. (title), [1] (blank), 2-53, [i] (blank) pp. Violino secondo: [1] (title), 2-27, [i] (blank) pp. Engraved. Some browning, soiling, and staining, quite heavy to title, final leaf, and endpapers; some foxing and show-through, heavier to several leaves; binder's holes to upper inner blank margins; lower outer corners of several leaves with competent early repairs; some loss, with somewhat crude repair to middle portion of final leaf of Violino secondo part affecting several measures; occasional annotations in pencil and red crayon; titles with manuscript dates in ink of Paris, 1912 (Violino primo) and 1913 (Violino secondo) parts.

*Bruni was an Italian violinist, composer, and conductor, active in France. 68. CALL, Leonhard von 1767-1815

First Edition. Weinmann, Senefelder-Steiner-Haslinger I, p. 151. RISM CC72aI, 191 (2 copies only, at the Österreichische Nationalbibliothek and the Wienbibliothek). Additional copies in German and Swiss libraries; one copy in the U.S., at the Free Library of Philadelphia.

"[Call] was employed as a liquidator's assistant in the Vienna court treasury and was active as a guitarist and composer; his works appearing in the Viennese publishing houses from 1802. His instrumental works suited the tastes and demands of amateur musicians who wanted pleasant chamber music that could be performed easily. Apart from songs with guitar or piano accompaniment (in a few cases, with string or wind accompaniment), he wrote collections of male choruses which contributed significantly to the early history of the genre."

70. CAMBINI, Giuseppe Maria 1746-1825
Six Airs Variés Pour Violon Avec Accompagnement de Baße... Lettre O. Prix 3 [Livres]. 12s.
Paris: Chez Sieber Musicien [PN] 1385, [ca. 1795].
Folio. Unbound. Sewn. 1f. (title), [1] (blank), 2-13, [i] (blank) pp. Engraved. Partially uncut. Publisher's signature in ink to lower margin of title. Comprised of variations on the following 6 airs: Quels accens quels transports; Defiez vous peuple francais; Air sur le salpetre – Descendons dans nos souterrains; Les vertus a l ordre du jour; Air moi jaime la montagne – ci devant la croisee; and Je suis montargnard moi.

In each of the 6 pieces, the melody is given with a bass accompaniment followed by a series of variations for solo violin. Some minor foxing to edges and margins, heavier to final bifolium; title and final blank page slightly soiled.

Rare, possibly unique. Not in Grove Music Online, BUC, Lesure, RISM, Worldcat, or KVK. (26969) $100
71. CAMPAGNOLI, Bartolomeo 1751-1827
[Op. 15]. Concerto Pour le Violon avec accompagnement de grand Orchestre composé et dédié à Monsieur d'Augustowsky... Oeuv. 15 No. 1 de Concertos. Prix 1 Rthlr. 16 gr. [Parts].
Leipsic: Breitkopf & Härtel [PN 1369], [ca. 1810].

First Edition. RISM C602 (7 copies, all in Europe, some incomplete). The Lavinée blindstamp includes that publisher's address from 1881-85 or later (see Devriès-Lesure II, p. 262). The correction to the price dates from after 1841 (Neugroschen currency).

"Campagnoli scored successes as a virtuoso on the violin... His educational activity played an important role in his life... He was less lucky as a composer... In general, his compositions display a simplicity of form and a characteristic penchant for melodies with simple cantabile themes." Giacomo Fornari in MGG 2. (25673) $550

72. CANAVAS, Joseph [Canavasso, Giuseppe] 1714-1776

Folio (350 x 250 mm). Green cloth-backed marbled boards with titling gilt to spine. 28 pp. Notated in brown ink on 16-stave paper, with a watermark featuring a bunch of grapes. Includes elaborate bass figures. First sonata with caption title "Sonata 1er[!]." Sonata IIa begins on third staff of f. 4r.; "false start," also with heading "Sonata IIa" and apparently identical with the main text, to first two staves and pasted over; "Sonata iida" in ink to overpaste in a different hand. Some additional overpaste corrections. Some penciled slurs to slow movement of Sonata IIa; pagination and other annotations in pencil in a modern hand. Binding very slightly worn and rubbed. Closely trimmed, with slight loss to music and to headings of movements. Published in 1739 as Sei Sonate by Carlo and Giovanni Tessarini in Urbino, Italy (RISM C781; 1 copy, at the Bibliothèque nationale, Paris) and in the same year by Mlle. Monnet, Mme, Boivin, and Le Clerc (RISM C780; 5 copies, all in Europe). Manuscript copies of the third movement of Sonata no. 1 and the first movement of Sonata IV at the Henry Watson Music Library, Manchester, U.K. (RISM 806550137 and 806550138).

"[Canavas] was an Italian violinist and composer... The date of his arrival in Paris cannot be determined with certainty... The first unequivocal reference to him is the privilege of 1739, connected with the publication of his first set of violin sonatas in Paris in the same year; the sonatas had just been published in Urbino, so it is possible that he only then arrived in Paris... His two sets of violin sonatas, separated by 24 years, are perhaps less interesting in themselves than as an indication of changing styles in the mid-18th century." Michelle Fillion in Grove Music Online. (25663) $750
73. CANNABICH, Christian 1731-1798

First Edition. Rare. BUC p. 159. RISM C835 (no copies in the U.S.).

By one of the main representatives of the Mannheim school. "Cannabich's central importance is in his orchestral works... especially the treatment of the winds, first and foremost of the clarinets, which he added to the standard orchestra... Besides Cannabich's orchestral output, his chamber music pales somewhat although it appeared in print almost completely [in his lifetime]." Stephan Hörner in MGG2.

Folio. Disbound. 1f. (title), 9, [i] (blank) pp. Engraved. Includes 8 airs, each with its own set of variations: De Lamitie au Village (with incipit "Lamour dont vente"); De Dardanus (with incipit "Soit que le ciel recompense"); De Lheureux Dépit (2 versions; with incipits "Toujour de tet rigueur," and "Pourriez vous bien douter," respectively); Du Faux Serment (with incipit "Quand jeune veuve"); La Dot (with incipit "Jallois lui dire"); Fanfare du Bon Tems (with incipit "Nous navons quen tems avivre"); and Le Novice de la Trappe (with incipit "Lainval aimait Arsene"). In each of the pieces, the melody is given with a bass accompaniment followed by a series of variations for solo violin. Slightly browned; some soiling, foxing, and dampstaining, primarily to margins; lower and inner margins frayed, with occasional small tears not affecting music; impression to p. 7 light.

Rare, possibly unique. Not in Lesure, BUC, RISM, Worldcat, or KVK.

Cartier was a French violinist and composer. "The son of a dancing-master, he studied with the Abbé Walraef. In 1783 he went to Paris, where he joined the select circle of students of Viotti. Two years later, Viotti recommended him for the post of accompanist to Queen Marie Antoinette. From 1791 to 1821 he was assistant leader of the Paris Opéra orchestra. In addition, he was a member of the court orchestra from 1804 to 1830, serving under both Napoleon and the Bourbon regime. He died in comparative obscurity." Cartier is best remembered for his L'art du violon, which contained "a comprehensive selection of sonatas and single movements composed by Italian, French and German masters of the 17th and 18th centuries." Trois Quatuors pour deux Violons, Alto & Violoncelle composés et dédiés à son ami Baillot... No. I...II...[II] Pr. 2 Rthlr _Gr. [Parts]. Leipsic: Fr. Kistner [PNs 1101, 1102, 1103], [March 1836].

Early (possibly the first) edition, most probably first issue. RISM CC2028 I, 489 (ca. 10 copies, none in the U.S.). Price in Groschen (instead of Neugroschen) excludes any date after 1841. Wolfgang Hochstein, in his article "Cherubini" in MGG 2, postulates that the Parisian edition by Pacini (1836; RISM CC2028 I, 490) is the first, dating the present edition at 1837; the edition was, however, announced in Hoffmeister's Monatsbericht for March 1836. Which of the two editions is the earlier remains open to debate.

"[In Cherubini's string quartets] the first violin dominates, almost invariably introducing the thematic material, but the other parts provide a harmonic foundation or, more often, participate in establishing and developing the theme. At times a high degree of virtuosity is demanded from all performers; the quartets are thus ostensibly to be played only by a professional ensemble... In Quartet no.1, his most popular quartet, movements are linked thematically and by emphasizing contrapuntal technique; its Scherzo is a 'Spanish' genre piece with refined texture and colourful instrumentation." Barthold Cobelli is a completely obscure composer; the standard reference works (including Eitner and Mendel) do not mention him. He is included in a "List of Jewish writers and artists born in Hamburg in the present [i.e., 19th] century who have been members of the congregation [i.e., Deutsch-Israelitische Gemeinde, Hamburg] at one time" in M. M. Haarbleicher, Zwei Epochen aus der Geschichte der Deutsch-Israelitischen Gemeinde in Hamburg (Hamburg: Otto Meissner, 1867), p. 317. A few editions of his music, from the 1850s to the 1870s, are held in German libraries. It appears that Cobelli mostly composed salon music and that the present trio was his most serious work. Four volumes. Folio. Contemporary marbled boards with green cut paper label to upper. Upper board of Violino part detached, spine lacking, signatures loose. Handstamps, "A. Glas Berlin" and "Max Henze," to front endpaper of each part and to first blank page of Viola part. Signature, "Lemke," to upper right corner of front endpaper and some titles of Violino I part. Manuscript table of contents in black ink to front endpaper of Violino I part; title pages numbered accordingly. Composer's name and part name added in different hands to most first pages of music in Violino II and Viola where not printed. Slightly worn, browned and foxed; other minor defects. In very good condition overall.

_A. Glas was a music dealer in Berlin; the business operated from 1838 until the 1960s. "Max Henze" is possibly the actor and journalist Max Henze von Starorypinski (1871-1903)._

84. [COLLECTION] Ouvertures arrangées pour deux Violons, Alto et Violoncelle... No. [7, 14, 20, 17 and] 26... Nouvelle Edition. [Parts]. Offenbach s/M: Jean André [PNs 5550, 6090, 6096, 7336, 10408], [?ca. 1870s].

Each part contains the overtures to the following five operas and incidental music:

- ROSSINI, Gioachino (1792-1868). _Otello._ Violino I: 1f. (decorative title), 3-7, [i] (catalog) pp. Violino II, Viola, Violoncello: 4 pp. each. Lithographed. Otello, to a libretto by Francesco Berio di Salsa, after Shakespeare, was first performed at the Teatro del Fondo in Naples on December 4, 1816. Mostly probably a reissue of an edition originally published by André, ca. 1853. Not in Worldcat or KVK.

Folio. Early cloth-backed mottled brown paper boards, manuscript labels with shelfmark, titling, and part name to upper. Boards worn, especially at outer corners; partially detached or tender at upper joint. Lower outer corners with minor to moderate soiling; several leaves detached, slightly browned, or with small stains; some minor offsetting; occasional fingerings, markings, or annotations in pencil. Vienna vendor's handstamp to lower blank margin of each title. (26995) $75

85. CONTIN, Francesco 1780-1860
[Op. 6]. Quintuor pour deux Violons, deux Altos & Violoncelle, dédié à Monsieur Jansa... Oeuvre 6. Prix f.3._. [Parts]. Offenbach s/m: J. André [PN 4254], [1821].

First Edition. Constapel p. 254 and 543. One copy at Statsbiblioteket Aarhus, Denmark. Not in RISM. The music library of Haltenbergstetten castle, one of the residences of the house of Hohenlohe, was catalogued for RISM by Gertrud Haberkamp in 1970 and purchased by the Bayerische Staatsbibliothek, Munich, in 1975. Not all items became part of the sSaatsbibliothek's collection, however: "The amount of prints of sheet music (recorded in RISM) that was sold to antiquarian dealers is unknown." Armin Brinzing, "Haltenbergstetten," RISM website.

The composer, identified on the title as "François de Contin," is an obscure figure absent from standard reference works. He was the father of the violinist and composer Count Giuseppe Contin (1835-1899; Van der Straeten II, p. 356f.). His life dates follow those of the Italian online database Internet Culturale. 86. CORELLI, Arcangelo 1653-1713 [Op. 5]. Sonate a violino e violone o cimballo dedicate all Altezza serenissima Elettorale di Sofia Carlotta Elettrice di Brandenburgho... Parte Prima [Parte Seconde Preludii Allemande Correnti Gighe Sarabande Gavotte e Follia]. Opera Quinta. Incisa de Gasparo Pietra Santa. [Rome], [1700].
Oblong folio. Full contemporary vellum. 2ff. (title and dedication, printed on the recto of each leaf and numbered "1" and "2" respectively), 3-39 music; [40] (secondary title), pp. 41-68 pp. Engraved. With manuscript annotation to free front endpaper dated 1735 indicating that the present copy was formerly in the collection of Baron [Johann] Matthias de Ascheberg. Binding somewhat soiled and worn. First leaf soiled; moderate dampstaining to lower corners throughout. Lacking full-page frontispiece engraving. With strong clear impression.

The first six sonatas are "church" sonatas, while the second six (with a separate title) are "chamber" sonatas, the last of which is actually the Folia, one of the most renowned compositions of Baroque string literature. "Despite the modest size of his output, comprising six collections of instrumental music and a handful of other authentic works, and its virtual restriction to three genres – solo sonata, trio sonata and concerto – Corelli exercised an unparalleled influence during his lifetime and for a long time afterwards. This influence, which affected form, style and instrumental technique in equal measure, was most closely felt in Italy, and in particular in Rome, where he settled in early manhood, but soon spread beyond local and national confines to become a European phenomenon. As a violinist, teacher of the violin and director of instrumental ensembles Corelli imposed standards of discipline that were unusually strict for their period and helped to lay the groundwork for further progress along the same lines during the 18th century. To Corelli belong equally the distinctions of being the first composer to derive his fame exclusively from instrumental composition, the first to owe his reputation in large part to the activity of music publishers, and the first to produce 'classic' instrumental works which were admired and studied long after their idiom became outmoded." Michael Talbot in Grove Music Online.

An excellent example of the art and craft of Italian music engraving and printing of the period, continuing a tradition dating from the time of Frescobaldi. (20841) $2,500
87. CROES, Henri-Jacques de 1705-1786
[Op. 4]. Six Sonates A Quatre Parties, Violino Primo, Violino Secondo, Alto Viola Et Basso Continuo, Qui peuvent être Exécutées en Trios. Dediées A Son Altesse Royale Madame la Princesse d'Orange et de Nassau, &c &c... Oeuvre 4me... Prix en blanc 7. florins de Brabant. [Parts]. Brusselles: L'Auteur, J.L. Krafft, [1747].

First Edition. RISM C4499 (2 copies only, at the Zentralbibliothek Zurich and the Hofbibliothek Thurn und Taxis, Regensburg). Two additional works by de Croes were also published under opus number 4: Six Divertimento[!] for the same forces (Paris: Le Clerc, [after 1749], RISM C4497) and Six Divertissements (Paris: Le Clerc, Mme Boivin, [after 1750], RISM C4498).

"[A] Flemish composer, conductor and violinist... [de Croes's] style may be described as an interweaving of the French and Italian traditions... In [his op. 4] sonatas he conformed to a more modern Italian pattern: fast–slow–fast, with a lighter texture and more ornate melodic lines... De Croes was influenced by Corelli, Vivaldi, Tartini and even Handel, and his opening themes frequently bear close resemblance to their works." Suzanne Clercx-Lejeune in Grove Music Online. Pages 23-24 (end of Sonata V and beginning of Sonata VI) and 35-end (end of Sonata VII and all of Sonatas VIII-XII) lacking; pp. 31-34 (beginning of Sonata VII) loosely inserted, trimmed and slightly frayed at edges. Slight loss to music to upper outer corner of pp. 7-8 and to fifth measure of p. 15. A later edition, later issue (first published in Dresden, 1721). RISM V1208 (7 copies). Lesure p. 623 (dated "1736"); apparently earlier issue). Dated according to publisher's catalogue, which corresponds closely to Devriès-Lesure catalogue no. 125. "Veracini... dedicated a set of 12 solo sonatas to Prince Elector Friedrich August of Saxony. Though knowing that a violinist was not needed at the Dresden court... the prince persuaded his father to retain Veracini... Veracini travelled to Dresden where he was transferred from the prince's private employment to the regular court payroll on 20 November 1717. His salary was equal to Heinichen’s, Volumier’s and Johann Schmidt’s, and far exceeded those of the other composers, J.G. Pisendel, Christian Pezold and J.D. Zelenka. In February 1719 Veracini was entrusted with hiring more singers for the court while he was in Bologna and Venice. He returned to Dresden where he remained until 1722, when on 13 August he leapt from a third-storey window in a fit of madness brought on by too much application to music and reading of alchemy, according to Mattheson. Veracini’s treatise hints that there was a plot against his life inspired by jealousy, however... The op. I sonatas of 1721 are... contrapuntal, perhaps owing to the influence of the German composers at Dresden, from whom he certainly got the idea of beginning a suite of dances with a French overture (unheard of in Italian solo sonatas)." John Walter Hill in Grove Music Online.

Folio. Modern quarter mid-tan calf with marbled boards, raised bands on spine in compartments gilt, red leather title label gilt. From the noted collection of André Meyer, Paris. Binding slightly worn. Some soiling and offsetting; occasional stains; many leaves wormed at gutter and dampstained at lower margin; extensive professional paper repairs to all leaves.
A compilation of rare early French editions.

The Meyer collection, formed over a period of some 75 years, was one of the most important collections of printed music, musical autographs, and books on music of the 20th century. (25129) $1,000

90. DALAYRAC, Nicolas 1753-1809
Ouverture des deux Savoyards... Arrangée Pour [deux violons alto & Basse] Prix 1 fr. 50 c. [Parts]. Paris: Janet et Cotelle... Successeurs de Mr. Imbault [PN O.Q. 97], [after 1812].

Rare. Not in RISM, WorldCat, or KVK. The imprint suggests that the edition is a reprint/Titelauflage of Imbault's (cf. RISM D175, for string quartet with oboes and horns ad libitum, also with PN 97); Janet & Cotelle bought Imbault's business in 1812. The identity of the arranger is unknown. The title of the present copy is generic, to be used for all possible arrangements of the overture.

"Before the Revolution [Dalayrac's] chief successes were [the operas] Nina (1786), Azémia (1786) and Les deux petits Savoyards (1789). Most of his output was published in full score; Beethoven possessed copies of Les deux petits Savoyards and La soirée orageuse... Dalayrac's work, almost totally within the opéra comique tradition, formed a logical continuation of Grétry's." David Charlton in Grove Music Online. (26017) $50

91. DAVAUX, Jean-Baptiste 1742-1822
[Op. 6]. Six Quartettos for two Violins a Tenor and Violoncello... Opera VI. [Parts]. London: W. Napier [PN 45], [ca. 1780].

Early (?second) edition. BUC I p. 255. RISM D1122. Plate number not always printed to the same parts; the copy at the British Library has it to Violino Secondo and Viola parts only. RISM lists the collection as "op. 1," following the presumed first edition by Burchard Hummel, The Hague (RISM D1121), but all other early editions use the opus number 6. Both Grove Music Online and MGG 2 list the collection as opus 6.
"A composer of appealing chamber music for strings, Davaux published six duos, six trios, at least 25 quartets and four quintets. The quartets represent a significant contribution to the history of the genre, and featured prominently in the popular weekly concerts held, for many years, at his house each winter. In the quartet... there is a tendency for all four instruments to be treated soloistically." Barry S. Brook, Joel Kolk, and Donald H. Foster in Grove Music Online "Barry S. Brook et al in Grove Music Online. (25685) $275

Betz's edition of Six Grand Quartettos by Friedrich Hartmann Graf (RISM G3361) has a publisher's catalogue to the title listing the present edition at its head. Both editions are commonly dated at ca. 1780, but the present edition is definitely earlier than that of the Graf. Betz was in business only from about 1775 to about 1780 (Humphries and Smith, p. 70). (26997) $350

The texture of Devienne's compositions is primarily that of a single melodic line with a subordinate accompaniment. The melodies are elegant and graceful, and the instrumental works are frequently interspersed with sections written to display the performer's technique." William Montgomery in Grove Music Online. Second edition. Krebs 19. Grave C10/C-16. RISM D3280 (9 copies, some incomplete; the only complete copy in the U.S. is at the Eastman School of Music (also with two basso parts). The first edition was published by Venier in Paris in 1767.

"Dittersdorf's symphonies span virtually his entire career, and his changing approach to the genre mirrors recognized patterns of evolution in 18th-century Viennese instrumental music. Apart from a group of early three-movement works, almost all are in four movements. While the earliest symphonies have small proportions, nervous energy and modest instrumentation, the later ones tend towards more extended structures, simpler themes, richer harmony and more elaborate orchestration." Margaret Grave and Jay Lane in Grove Music Online.

95. DOTZAUER, Friedrich 1783-1860
Trois Duos Concertants pour deux Violons composés et dédiés à Mons. I. Kleinwächter à Prag. Leipsic: Frédéric Hofmeister [PN 485], [ca. 1822].

First Edition. Rare. WorldCat (1 copy only, at the Statsbiblioteket Aarhus, Denmark).

Dotzauer was a celebrated violoncellist and teacher. He produced numerous compositions, often for pedagogical purposes and usually for the violoncello; works exclusively for other instruments, like the present one, are relatively rare. "I. Kleinwächter à Prag" refers to Ignaz Kleinwächter (1766-1845), a merchant and important patron of Prague's music life.

96. DOTZAUER, Friedrich 1783-1860

Possible First Edition of this arrangement for violin. OCLC nos. 842201709, 879618373 (1 copy only in the U.S., at the New York Public Library).

"Combining great musicianship with a technique advanced beyond contemporary standards, Dotzauer's work represented a milestone in the development of cello performance. His teaching ability and didactic publications resulted in the so-called ‘Dresden School’ of playing, which influenced such pupils as F.A. Kummer, C. Drechsler, C. Schuberth and his own son Karl Ludwig, and through them Grützmacher, Cossmann, J. Goltermann and their pupils. Although many of Dotzauer's 178 or so compositions were quickly forgotten, others have been revived and welcomed as the subject of recordings. The pedagogical works remain important teaching material, and extracts have frequently appeared in later composers' collections of exercises and studies." E. Van Der Straeten and Lynda MacGregor in Grove Music Online. (26973) $150

97. DUSSEK, Jan Ladislav 1760-1812

Weinmann: Artaria p. 92. RISM D4277 (3 copies only).

“Dussek is an unjustly neglected composer. Admittedly some of his more insignificant works... are trivial and deservedly forgotten, but there is a body of piano sonatas, piano concertos and chamber works that are of sufficient musical worth to be performed and enjoyed today. His music seems to have been received with enthusiasm in his own time; reviews of the original editions in the Allgemeine musikalische Zeitung praise Dussek's originality and expressiveness, and the appropriateness to the piano of his melody, harmony and scoring... As has been frequently observed, much of Dussek's music resembles that of other composers. Most often, however, these composers are later than Dussek, and such resemblances show him to have been very much ahead of his time in the development of a Romantic piano style... Dussek's works were remarkably popular in his lifetime; most were reprinted at least once, and some as many as ten times (some important works appeared in as many as three different editions by Breitkopf & Härtel alone, who issued a 12-volume collected edition of his works just after his death). He quickly fell into disregard, however, and his name does not appear at all in the letters of Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Schumann, Chopin or Moscheles. Between 1860 and 1880 a revival of interest in Dussek brought about new editions of the piano sonatas by Breitkopf & Härtel and Litolff, as well as many performances of them, particularly in London." *There is no trace of the extended ossias for the right hand of the piano part, characteristic of the early French editions of this work. First Edition. BUC p. 329 (most copies incomplete). RISM F221.

"In [Burney's] Account of the Musical Performances ... in Commemoration of Handel (London, 1785/R) he related an anecdote about Felton's endeavours to persuade Handel to subscribe to his op.2 concertos through the violinist Abraham Brown; Handel started up angrily and said: 'A parson make concerto? Why he no make sarmon?'. Handel's name did, however, appear on the subscription list to Felton's op.1 concertos. Felton is chiefly known as a prolific composer of organ and harpsichord concertos; Burney pronounced that he 'produced two concertos out of three sets that were thought worthy of playing in London'. Despite this, Felton's concertos were widely acquired by music society libraries and private collectors, and his music frequently appeared in 18th-century domestic manuscript anthologies (see Harley)." Paper repairs to inner margin. First Edition. RISM F 284. Not in Lesure. Publisher's catalogue is Johansson facs. 23, of 1760 (same plate, including Privilege du Roy). The placement of the words "Mis au jour... Par Huberti" to the left and right of "Opera III" (rather than among the publishers in the imprint) on the title suggests that they were added later and that there was an earlier issue without Huberti's name; the inclusion of Ferrari's op. 4 in the catalogue would support this.

From the noted André Meyer, Paris collection, with handstamp "Provenant de la collection musicale d'André Meyer Décède en Mai 1974 F. Meyer Octobre 84," to rear pastedown.

Folio. 18th century dark green quarter morocco with marbled boards, red edges. Binding worn, rubbed and bumped.

Ferrari was "...considered one of Tartini's best Italian pupils... [He] composed only instrumental works, of which the most important are the violin sonatas with continuo. While his consistent use of a figured bass in these sonatas is characteristic of the Baroque, his treatment of form, melody and harmony associates him more closely with the emerging Classical style... Ferrari's use of harmonies [in op. 1, no. 5] is one of the earliest applications of this technique." Virginia D. Kock in Grove Music Online.

104. FESCA, Friedrich Ernst 1789-1826

First Edition, later issue. Frei-Hauenschild, p. 448. Weinmann, Mecchetti, p. 10. WorldCat (several copies, 5 of which are in the U.S., at the Newberry Library in Chicago, the Eastman School of Music, Harvard University, Duke University, and Brigham Young University, not distinguishing among issues. The first issue has a different address in the imprint: "Bürgerspital-Platz No. 1166" (see copies at the Eastman School of Music, the Bayerische Staatsbibliothek in Munich, the Russian State Library in Moscow (all at IMSLP), and Duke University (University website). The publisher moved to Michaelerplatz no. 1221 in late 1815; according to Weinmann, p. vii, the first issue of an unspecified edition with the new address dates from November 13, 1815. The not entirely correct address of the present issue suggests that its title was engraved at approximately the time of the move.

"Fesca’s reputation as a composer was based primarily on his string quartets and quintets. Between 1816 and 1826 he was the most frequently reviewed composer in this genre in the Allgemeine musikalische Zeitung, and his works were highly regarded by Spohr, Nägeli and Rochlitz, among others. Weber based his ideas on progressive contemporary chamber music on Fesca’s quartets, since they combined the detailed accompaniment figuration and complex thematic development of the Classical string quartet with the harmonic richness and virtuosity demanded at that time. Also characteristic is his gentle and amiable style, though the quartets opp.7, 12 and 14 display the more extrovert manner of the quatuor concertant." Markus Frei-Hauenschild in Grove Music Online. Numbers printed as headers to all pages of music: "(10)" to op. 4, "(14)" to op. 14, "(15)" to op. 34, "(16)" to op. 36. Somewhat soiled and browned. A partially uncut copy.

A later edition, part of a complete edition of Fesca's string quartets. Rare. Frei-Hauenschild, p. 448 (erroneously citing the present edition as a reprint of Richault's, which is actually later). Copies of opp. 34 and 36 at Biblioteca nazionale centrale, Florence; no other copies of opp. 4 and 14 recorded. Hanry bought the business of Benoît Pollet in 1824, selling the company to Richault in 1832 (see Devriès-Lesure II, p. 209). Devriès-Lesure does not comment on plate numbers, neither of Pollet nor of Hanry, but as no copies of editions of Fesca's music by Pollet are known, it can be safely assumed that the present edition was newly engraved by Hanry. Pagination, plate numbers, and headers indicate that Hanry issued Fesca's quartets as a complete series; the gaps point to the opp. 1-3 quartets (nos. 1-9, with plate numbers 130 A-C) and the opp. 7 and 12 quartets (nos. 11-13, with plate numbers 130 E-F). The Richault edition of Fesca's quartets is not a reprint of the present edition. Op. 4 was first published by S.A. Steiner (Vienna, 1816), op. 14 by F. Hofmeister (Leipzig, 1819), opp. 34 and 36 by Simrock (Bonn, 1824; "1814" for op. 34 in Grove Music Online and MGG is an error, as confirmed by Markus Frei-Hauenschild, author of both articles). First Edition. Lesure p. 225. RISM G736. Three copies recorded in the US.

A French violinist and composer, Gaviniés was "Leclair's successor as leader of the French violin school... The early 1760s were perhaps the apex of Gaviniés's career. He published three sets of sonatas for violin and basso continuo, one set for two violins and six concertos. Several symphonies were performed at the Concert Spirituel, where he conducted the orchestra from his position as leader. In the winter of 1763–4, the Mozart family attended some of his concerts." Jeffrey Cooper in Grove Music Online. (18948) $500

Oblong folio. Unbound, as issued. 1f. (title), 19; 7 pp. Engraved. Slightly worn and foxed; title and edges slightly soiled. A wide-margin copy.

A Czech composer, pianist and piano teacher, Gelinek met both Mozart and Haydn, and was a friend of Beethoven. “According to Dlabač, Gelinek met Mozart during the latter’s visit to Prague in 1787, and after successfully improvising on a theme by Mozart in the composer’s presence at the house of Count Philipp Kinsky, he was recommended by Mozart to the count... Gelinek went with Kinsky to Vienna... where for about 15 years he was a domestic chaplain, piano teacher and tutor for the Kinsky family... Most of [his] works are piano variations based on melodies from stage works..., instrumental compositions (Beethoven’s Seventh Symphony, second movement), Viennese folk tunes and his own themes. Their execution demands an advanced performer. They show considerable inventiveness and occasionally employ imitative counterpoint. They were appreciated by contemporaries both as agreeable music and for their pedagogical value...” Milan Poštovka in Grove Music Online. (21942) $375

117. GIORNOVICH, Giovanni 1747-1804

First Edition, later issue. RISM G2410 (2 copies only in the U.S., at the New York Public Library and the Eastman School of Music.).

"Giornovich's most important compositions are his violin concertos, which evidently reflect his performing style... He did much to stabilize certain typical aspects of the French violin concerto in the 1770s: he was a pioneer in the use of the romance, which quickly became the most characteristic type of slow movement, and he was influential in establishing the rondo as a finale. His first movements reflect the conventions of Classical sonata form more firmly and consistently than those of his contemporaries in the 1770s, excepting only Mozart." Chappell White in Grove Music Online. "His three extant string quartets (possibly, he composed another six) display the same soloistic treatment of the first violin and a formal and harmonic disposition similar to that of his concertos." Vjera Katalinić in MGG 2. "He draws a beautiful tone from his instrument, and he has pure intonation. He plays an allegro with precision and sings excellently in an adagio. Most beautiful of all, he plays easily, without affectation. In a word, he plays for art, and for the heart." Carl Ditters von Dittersdorf, autobiography.

[Op. 39, no. 1, 3, and 7; arr.]. Prélude, Berceuse, and Scherzo for Violin and Violoncello.

Musical manuscript with printed interpolations. Provenance: Adolfo Betti, first violinist of the Flonozaley Quartet, with his annotations. [After 1909].

Prélude op. 39, no. 1

Berceuse op. 39, no. 3

Scherzo op. 39, no. 7
Folio (350 x 270 mm). Two scores, to be used as parts, notated in black ink on 16-stave printed paper, with fragments of two copies of the first edition pasted to blank music paper as interpolations. Violin (instrument not specified): [1] (title: "Scherzo" in red pencil, followed by cut label from the first edition, "par R. Glière. Op. 39."), 2-5, [iii] (blank) pp. Signature "Adolfo Betti" to upper right corner of title. Some markup in red and lead pencil, with final measures rewritten for greater effect. Instruction for copyist in pencil, in French, to head of first page of music. Violoncello: [1] (title: "Scherzo Glière"), [2-3] (blank), 4-7, [i] (blank) pp. Signature "A. M. Betti" to upper right corner of title; "Cello" in Betti’s hand to center right of title. All music (manuscript or printed) heavily marked up in blue, lead, and occasionally red pencil, in at least two different hands, one of them in French. Comprehensive fingering in lead pencil, apparently for a student, with final measures rewritten for simplification.

Somewhat worn and browned; some edges frayed and with small tears; some leaves reinforced with tape; bifolia of music paper and printed overpastes partially detached; other minor defects.

The 8 Pieces for Violin and Violoncello, op. 39, belong to the compositions that Glière wrote for educational purposes during his tenure at the Gnesin Institute in Moscow. Adolfo Betti (1875-1950) was first violinist of the Flonzaley Quartet throughout its existence (1902-1929). (25709) $125

Gnecco was an Italian composer, reputedly a student of Cimarosa. (21912) $175

122. GOLDMARK, Karl 1830-1915

First Edition. WorldCat (7 copies, only 2 of which are in the U.S., at Harvard University and the New England Conservatory). Dated according to various library catalogues and printed price: Austrian Neukreuzer currency was introduced in 1857; German Reichsthaler currency was abolished in 1872. Later issues carry the imprint of August Cranz and price in Marks. The format of this publication is somewhat unusual, as the first violinist plays from the score, which prints the other parts in reduced size; the second violinist, violist, and violoncellist play from the parts, as usual.

"In Vienna, Goldmark made himself a name almost overnight with his String Quartet, op. 8 (1860), which was premiered by the Hellmesberger-Quartett in 1861.... It represents an important musical document from the surroundings of Brahms in Vienna." Gerhard Winkler in MGG2. Edouard Bron (d. 1955) was a French composer; he began publishing his music around 1900. (25705) $100

Six Grand Quartettos for Two Violins a Tenor and Violoncello Obligato Compos'd by Federico Graff. [Parts]. London: J. Betz, [1780].

First Edition. BUC p. 393. RISM G3361 (2 copies only, at the British Library and Harvard). The publisher's catalogue lists the six quartets by Jean-Baptiste Davaux (RISM D1129) as the first item, commonly dated "ca. 1780" but obviously preceding the present edition. Betz was in business only from about 1775 to about 1780 (Humphries and Smith p. 70).

A composer and flautist, "after joining a Dutch regiment [Graf] was wounded and captured, but returned from internment in England in 1759 to take up a career as a flautist... In 1772 he succeeded Johann Gottfried Seyfert as music director of the Protestant church and St Anna’s Gymnasium in Augsburg, where he organized the city’s amateur concert series from 1779 and wrote a number of oratorios, cantatas and instrumental music. In 1777 Mozart and the Augsburg piano manufacturer Stein visited him at his home for informal music-making.”

First Edition. RISM G5354 (3 copies only in the U.S., at the University of Michigan, Buffalo Public Library, and the Moravian Archives in Bethlehem, PA). WorldCat (2 copies, at the University of Chicago and the Peabody Conservatory).

"A promising young composer, Gyrowetz... travelled to the principal music centres of Europe: Vienna, Italy, Paris, London, and then back to Vienna. During his first visit to Vienna, in either late 1785 or 1786, he made the acquaintance of Haydn, Dittersdorf, Albrechtsberger and Mozart; he developed a warm relationship with Mozart... During his last decades he was greatly admired by the younger generation, including Meyerbeer, who even assisted him financially. Gyrowetz served as a pall-bearer at Beethoven's funeral, and encouraged Chopin early in his career." Adrienne Simpson and Roger Hickman in Grove Music Online.
