FIRST EDITION of a significant Spanish Golden Age novel. It was published at least four times in the seventeenth century, once in the eighteenth and several times in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The second edition, Lisbon: Vicente Alvarez, 1640, is even rarer than the first. None of the early editions are common.

The book is dedicated to Don Manuel Perez de Guzman el Bueno, Duque de Medina Sidonia, etc. The second leaf, with licenses, is in Portuguese. The rest of the book is entirely in Spanish.

Gonzalo de Céspedes y Meneses (1585? -1638), a native of Madrid, was a Spanish novelist, poet, historian, and polemicist. Nothing is known for certain of him before the publication of his celebrated romance, the Poema trágico del español Gerardo, y desengaño del amor lascivo (1615-1617), translated into English by Leonard Digges in 1622 as Gerardo the Unfortunate Spaniard. There is evidence that he had been sentenced to eight years in the galleys previous to January 1, 1620, and that the penalty had been commuted, but the nature of his offense is not stated. His treatment of political questions in the Historia apologética en los sucesos del reyno de Aragon, y su ciudad de Zaragoza, años de 91 y 92 (1622), having led to the confiscation of the book, Céspedes took up his residence at Zaragoza and Lisbon. While in exile he issued a collection of six short stories entitled Historias peregrinas y exemplares (1623), the present unfinished romance Varia fortuna del soldado Pindaro (1626), and the first part of his Historia de Felipe IV. (1631), a fulsome eulogy which was rewarded by the author's appointment as official historiographer to the Spanish king. His novels, though written in a ponderous, affected style, display considerable imagination and insight into character. According to Ward, "His achievement was to blend courtly and picaresque elements into a genre which reacted against the more sordid situations then popular in fiction. His best works are the semi-autobiographical ... Poema trágico del español Gerardo ... and Varia fortuna del soldado Pindaro" The Poema trágico was used by John Fletcher in The Spanish Curate and in The Maid of the Mill.

Céspedes y Meneses's unfinished romance Varia fortuna del soldado Pindaro shows the influence of Cervantes. It is a novella picaresca, with Byzantine episodes that are often difficult to believe. It is a classic "soldadesca," a genre dedicated to the life of soldiers. The novella is supposedly unfinished, and appropriately ends with (?) at the end of l. 188 recto. This is the same way that Céspedes y Meneses ends chapter XIX, l. 74 recto, which suggests an added element of suspense with the use of this punctuation mark at the end of a chapter. Chapter XXIII also ends in the same fashion, with the (?), before beginning Libro II of the work (l. 89 verso).

The novel is written from the first person, as an autobiography by a soldier from Castilla named Pindaro. An example of the complexities of style can be found immediately as the book begins with Pindaro telling of his adventures as a young man. Assuming it is to explain certain erudite literary references, Pindaro says that he studied under Jesuit priests as a young man where he became familiar with the sciences and letters (l. 7 verso). Pindaro speaks highly of the Jesuits, stating they were the men to whom Europe owes the glory and education of the nobility and youth ("me entregaron a los Padres Jesuitas, hombres a quien Europa deve en estos ultimos siglos, la gloria y enseñanza de su nobleza y juventud" l. 8 recto). The soldier Pindaro gets into trouble at school (which is not very well specified) and fearing the punishment that awaited him, he begins his first peregrinacion with his friend Figueroa on the road to Toledo. The excitement begins when he and Figueroa reach a town called Torrijos. They find a sword leaning against a statue and take it, as they find it appropriate for their trip. Figueroa puts it in his belt because he is the larger of the two boys. The boys continue on their way but hear voices behind them. One of the voices, they soon realize, is the owner of the sword. The owner of the sword chases after them and kicks Figueroa so badly that before Pindaro is none the wiser he looks back at his friend and sees him covered in blood (but they continue to run). Finally the young men are caught (not before jumping into a river first) because Figueroa is bleeding profusely from the head. The city guards hold them. At this point, because Figueroa is wounded and was carrying the sword, which made him appear to be the more guilty party, Pindaro takes his leave from Figueroa and does not meet up with him again for many years (this episode takes place from l. 8 recto to l. 9 recto).

The work is full of comments on bravery and honor, sometimes shown in a dark humor. For example, the first sentence of Libro II reads: There is nothing that can corrupt a man more than happiness (No ay cosa en este mundo que mas pueda corromper a los hombre que la felicidad), l. 90 recto.

Lisbon: Na Imprensa Nacional, 1834. 4°, contemporary quarter sheep over marbled boards (some wear to corners; rubbing to spine), smooth spine gilt with gilt fillets, gilt lettering and numbering, marbled endleaves, text-block edges sprinkled red. Woodcut Portuguese royal arms on title pages. Overall in good to very good condition. Internally very good. Three lines in red pencil drawn horizontally in upper blank margin of p. vii. Frontispiece plate, viii, 219 pp., (2 ll.); 206 pp., (3 ll.). 2 volumes in 1. $500.00

FIRST and ONLY EDITION of yet another thorough and thoughtful work on history, politics, and political economy by this author. Much of volume I deals with French history, politics, commerce and agriculture in order to draw attention to lessons thought useful for Portugal, with significant attention being given to the policies of Maximilien de Béthune, first Duke of Sully. Chapter VI of volume I (pp. 78-84) deals with the Royal Monastery of Alcobaça. Chapters X through two chapters XI of volume II (pp. 53-69) are devoted to ancient Egypt. Chapters XIII to XXIX of that volume (pp. 70-186) deal comprehensively with the Arabs in the Iberian Peninsula.

The lithographic plate at the beginning depicts a tree, labeled "Arvo da Liber," with a Portuguese royal flag at its base. To its right is a base labeled "Carta Constitucional", with a phoenix rising from its ashes on top. In the lower quarter of the plate is written "Plantada, e cultivada pelo nosso Heróico Libertador, crescerá, fructificará, assombrará o Throno, immortalizará o reinado da sua Augusta Filha, tornará até em verdade a ficção do Phenix renascer das suas cinzas no altar da patria."

Dulac (1768-1850) was born in France, becoming a naturalized Portuguese subject in 1799. From 1794 he was an official in the Secretaria d'Estado de Negocios Ecclesiasticos e da Justiça. He wrote several other books that, as this one, remain of considerable value.

* Innocência I, 206 (incorrect transcription of title and without collation); VIII, 253 (giving the correct title, but still without any collation or mention of the plate). Canto, Ensaio bibliographico ... 1828 a 1834 (1892) 54 (no collation or mention of the plate). Not in Biblioteca Pública de Braga, Portugal da Revolucao Francesa ao Liberalismo. OCLC: 19567337 (University of Kansas Archives, University of Texas, University of California-San Diego, British Library). Porbase locates five copies: four in the Biblioteca Nacional de Portugal, one in the Biblioteca João Paulo II-Universidade Católica Portuguesa. Copac repeats British Library only. KVK (44 databases searched) locates only the copies cited by Porbase.

Leiria: Printed by Tipografia Leiriense, for The Author, 1948. 8°, later three quarters crimson sheep over marbled boards, gilt rule between leather and boards, spine gilt with raised bands in six compartments (slight wear), green leather lettering pieces with author and short title gilt in second and fourth compartments from head, "FERSIL-PORTO" stamped in gilt to inner dentelle of front cover, marbled endleaves, top edges rouged, other edges uncut, red silk ribbon place marker, original illustrated wrappers bound in. Browned, as usual, but not brittle. In good condition. Author's five-line signed and dated presentation inscription across title page. 161 pp., (1 l.). $350.00

FIRST EDITION of these stories of Cabo Verde, the author's second book, one of his principal works of fiction. A second, revised edition appeared in 1967.

Manuel Ferreira (Leiria, 1917-Linda-a-Velha, 1992), author fiction, essayist, investigator, and university professor, served time in prison for political activities from 1938 to 1939. In 1941 he became an army officer. Serving in various colonial posts, first in Cabo Verde, where he remained until 1947, he married there the writer Orlanda Amarílis. He also spent time in India, Angola, as well as visiting Nigeria and Guiné-Bissau, eventually rising to the rank of Captain. Through his wife he became familiar with most of the more important literary figures of Cabo Verde, as well as familiarizing himself with the local culture and language, which was reflected in his fiction. He also developed a passion for Lusophone African literature, which marked the rest of his life. After the April 25, 1974 Portuguese revolution, he held the first chair in Lusophone African literature at the Faculdade de Letras da Universidade de Lisboa, a position he maintained for the rest of his life. At the same university he was co-director of the Instituto de Estudos Africanos.

*Detailed Information About the Natural History and Topography of Brazil in General
And Minas Geraes in Particular
By a Native of Vila Rica*

11. LISBOA, Joaquim José. Descrição curiosa das principaes produções, rios, e animaes do Brazil, principalmente da Capitania de Minas Geraes, por ... Alferes do regimento regular de Villa Rica. Lisbon: Na Impressão Regia, 1806. 8°, recent green Oasis morocco, plain spine with raised bands, gilt short title and date on front cover, marbled endleaves. Woodcut Portuguese royal arms on title page. Light waterstains. Overall in good condition. 62 pp. $3,200.00

FIRST EDITION, second issue, or second state of the title page. There is an earlier issue, or state of the title page, dated 1804, and with an errata leaf not present in the 1806 issue. The Descrição curiosa was reprinted in Varnhagen's Florilegio, and is the only work by Lisboa quoted in histories of Brazilian literature. There are also editions of São Paulo, 1994, and Belo Horizonte, 2002.

While this poem in "quadras octossilabas" has been judged mediocre from a literary standpoint, an opinion shared by the author in his preface, it is important as an expression of Brazilian nationalism. Moreover, the notes (pp. 31-62) are truly significant in elaborating on the resources, topography and natural history of Minas Geraes. In the preface, the author explains that he wrote this work to convey to Portuguese friends the riches of Brazil, and the peculiar vocabulary of the country. As Borba de Moraes points out, like José de Santa Rita Durão, Lisboa was one of the first Brazilian poets to glorify his fatherland and use Brazilian words.

A native of Vila Rica [present-day Ouro Preto], Minas Geraes, Joaquim José Lisboa (born 1775, still living in 1812?) served as a military officer in Portugal and Brazil.

Comparing the title page of the present work to the one dated 1804 reproduced by Borba, the main setting of type appears the same. However, the Portuguese royal arms on our title page seem to be from a newer, fresher cut. Below the date 1804 is stated "Por Ordem Superior"; on our title page below the date 1806 is stated "Com licença". It is our hypothesis, without having been able to compare our copy to one with the 1804 title page, that the mistakes listed in the errata have been corrected in issues with the 1806 title page. Only copies dated 1804 are described as having an errata leaf at the end.

* Borba de Moraes (1983) I, 492-3 (reproducing the 1804 title page, and without mention of this 1806 issue); Período colonial, pp. 211-2 (also reproducing the 1804 title page, and also without mention of this 1806 issue). Sacramento Blake IV, 168 (giving the date as 1804; without mention of the errata). Innocência IV, 105 (gives the date as 1804; without mention of the errata); XII, 85 (giving the collation as 62 pp., [1 l. errata], still no mention of the 1806 issue). Palmira Morais Rocha de Almeida, Dicionário de autores no Brasil colonial (2010; gives the date as 1804), pp. 308-9. Rodrigues 1436 (dated 1806; without the errata): "Raro. Muito precioso volume." Neither issue in Bosch. Not in Brasíliana Itaiú. Neither issue in JCB, Portuguese and Brazilian Books. OCLC: 42779157 (Cornell University; 1806, 62 pp.). Porbase cites the 1804 issue without being able to locate a single copy, giving the collation as 62 pp, (1 l.), and locates a single copy of the 1806 issue at the Biblioteca Municipal de Elvas, giving the collation as 62 pp. Not located in Copac. KVK (44 databases searched) locates only the single copy of the 1806 issue cited by Porbase.

13. MATA, José Melitão da. Compendio do calculo da latitude no mar pela observação meridiana dos astros. Lisbon: Na Officina de Simão Thaddeo Ferreira, 1789. 4°, recent olive Oasis morocco, spine with raised bands in five compartments, gilt letter, marbled endpapers. Finely engraved vignettes on title-page and p. 1; 58 engraved diagrams in text (see below). Some minor staining and soiling. Overall clean and crisp, in very good to fine condition. (1 l.), 134 pp. $1,200.00

FIRST EDITION. Gives rules for fixing one's position at sea by the stars, with sample diagrams and calculations.

The title-page vignette shows Poseidon and an allegorical female flanking the Portuguese coat of arms; behind them are a row of columns topped by Muses and the ocean, with a tall ship approaching and seagulls. On the first page, the half-page vignette shows three putti holding navigational tools at the lower left; at the right are two tall ships and a castle (the Torre de Belém?); at the top of the semicircular frame is the sun. Outside the frame, two putti supply wind to move the ships. The 58 diagrams demonstrate how to calculate latitude at sea; each shows the zenith and the globe with meridians and compass directions, plus one other factor (e.g., the position of the sun, moon, or a star) that is required to calculate the latitude. Among the stars used are the North Star, Procyon (the brightest star of Canis Minor), Rigel (Orion constellation), Spica (Virgo constellation), Aldebaran (Taurus constellation), Castor (Gemini constellation).

Mata (d. 1809) taught navigation in Lisbon and wrote several other handbooks for pilots.

This important "heterodox" history is unfortunately not available through normal book trade channels. Printed in Barcelona with the collaboration of a Madrid publisher, it is sold only by Ediclube, directly to the public, door to door—the purchaser is required to buy the books in order to obtain a TV, and pays in installments over an extended period, including huge amounts of interest. Contrary to what one might conclude about the quality of this work based on its method of distribution, it is a somewhat erudite production. In fact, we think it would probably not be very "user-friendly" to students below the university level. Specialized articles provide synthesis of research in their fields, and sometimes suggest new avenues of research of value to experts. We have at present one set in stock.

FIRST EDITION of this significant book of poems. Alexandre O'Neill [Alexandre Manuel Vahia de Castro O'Neill de Bulhões] (Lisbon, 1924-1986), an important Surrealist artist, poet, and writer, was one of the founders of the Lisbon Surrealist Movement, although he soon split from it. He is known for disrespecting social and literary conventions, for his black humor, and for his love/hate attitude toward Portugal. He made his living as a publicist, and his witty way with words can be seen in his poetry as well.

Always appreciated by a select elite, O'Neill's poetry has been gaining increasing critical recognition in recent years, and O'Neill is becoming recognized as one of the major Portuguese literary figures of the twentieth century. A sculpture of him (of a rather surreal appearance!) was erected in Oeiras in the Parque dos Poetas, which was established in 2003.

His first book of poetry, Tempo de fantasmas, was published in 1951, and 1956 saw the publication of No Reino de Dinamarca, perhaps his most successful book of poems. (It appeared again in 1967, 1969, 1974, 1997, and 1999.)

Provenance: Clara [Crabbe] Rocha (b. 1955), Portuguese essayist, literary historian, critic and university professor, daughter of Adolfo Correia Rocha (Miguel Torga) and André Crabbé Rocha (university professor of Belgian origin). In 1987 she was awarded the Ordem do Infante D. Henrique, has participated in diverse Portuguese and international juries for literary prizes, among them the Prémio Literário Europeu (1992 e 1993) and the Prémio Camões (2013). Her doctoral dissertation, published in 1985, was the influential Revistas Literárias do Século XX em Portugal, perhaps the work in progress O'Neill was referring to in his presentation inscription. Her early work, O Espaço Autobiográfico em Miguel Torga, Coimbra: Almedina, 1977, is still considered an essential text. She was also responsible for Miguel Torga, Fotobiografia, Lisboa: Publicações Dom Quixote, 2000, and for writings about Mário Sá Carneiro, as well as Alexandre O'Neill. Her O Cachimbo de António Nobre e Outros Ensaios, Lisboa: Publicações Dom Quixote, 2003 was awarded the Prémio de Ensaio do PEN Clube Português and the Grande Prémio de Ensaio 2003 of the Associação Portuguesa de Escritores. See José Augusto Cardoso Bernardes in Biblos, IV, 879-80.

Joaquim [Maria] Pessoa (b. 1948), poet, artist, publicist, student of Portuguese pre-history, and book collector, was the author or co-author of many Portuguese television programs, and for six years (1988-1994) was director of the Sociedade Portuguesa de Autores. He also founded the artistic cooperative Toma Lá Disco, with Ary dos Santos, Fernando Tordo, Carlos Mendes, Paulo de Carvalho and Luiz Villas-Boas, among others. 2 volumes bound in 1. $350.00

First Edition in Portuguese of the account of Francois Pyrard, a French sailor who spent a decade in South Asia between 1601-1611 after being shipwrecked in the Maldives, including extensive accounts of peoples, flora and fauna he encountered. He was captured by the natives and interned on the island of Male. While there, Pyrard learned the Dhivehi language and the customs of the Maldives. The region was largely unknown to Europeans previously. He was able to escape in the chaos of a Bengali raid (Chittagong) in 1607 and make his way to Portuguese Goa. He returned to France through Saint Helena and Brazil, after enduring other shipwrecks and suffering imprisonment on several occasions. The first volume focuses on the Maldives. Volume two covers Goa, Portuguese India, Ceylan, the Spice Islands, St. Helena, Azores, and Brazil, including significant sections on Bahia. According to Borba de Moraes, Pyrard's account of his two month stay in Bahia is the oldest that is known about life in a Brazilian city. The primitive "elevator" connecting the lower and higher levels of the city, whaling, contraband, the high cost of living, the opulence of the sugar mill owners, and his adventures in Bahia are described. There are also references to Pernambuco, Diu, Ormuz, Mozambique, Ceylon, Malaca, Sonda, Sumatra, Banda, Bali, Java, Borneo, Manila, Philippines, Japan, Cape of Good Hope, and Comoro.

The editor and translator, Cunha Rivara (1809-1879), was born in Arrayollos, where he began his studies. He continued his education in Évora and Coimbra, despite the fact that his matriculation was interrupted by the Civil War. He served in the Administração Geral de Evora, but then took a chair in Philosophy at the Lyceu de Évora. A learned scholar, he was appointed Bibliotecario na Biblioteca Eboense in December of 1836. He continued serving the State, and in 1855 was appointed Secretario geral do governo do estado da India, a post which he held until 1872. In addition to his role as public servant, he was also a founding member of the Instituto Vasco da Gama. A prolific writer of many interests, he published works on linguistics, history, and politics. During the course of his career Cunha Rivara was a regular contributor to Panora, Revista Litteraria, Boletim do Governo da Índia, and he was editor of the monthly Chronista de Tissuary from 1866-1869. He also published a catalogue of the manuscripts held in the library at Évora.

20. SERPA, Alberto de. 20 Poemas da noite. Coimbra: Edições "Presença", 1935. 8°, original printed wrappers. In very good condition. Author's signed presentation inscription on first leaf recto: "Ao Senhor Dr. Ladislau Patricio—// com a muita consideração e // estima // de // Alberto de Serpa". 26 pp., (1 l. colophon). $300.00

FIRST EDITION and ONLY separate EDITION. These poems appeared again in 1944 together with the poems from several other books of verse by the author. The book is dedicated to Leonardo Coimbra and Adolfo Casais Monteiro.

Alberto de Serpa Esteves de Oliveira (1906-1992), poet, dramatist, essayist and book collector, attended the University of Coimbra for 3 years but was more interested in collaborating with the writers of Presença than in studying. He published his first novel, Saudade do mar, at age 17, and 2 collections of poetry (Quadras and Evoê), but it was 2 later collections, Varanda, 1934 and Vinte poemas da noite, 1935, that led to his unanimous recognition by critics as an important modern poet. Casais Monteiro says that Serpa, along with Branquinho da Fonseca, Carlos Queirós and Francisco Bugalho, give us "um novo aspecto do abandono egoísta a um eu inadaptado à acção ...[Serpa] tem, na poesia, não uma via de contacto com a realidade, mas, por assim dizer, um instrumento a cuja musica embala a sua dolorosa impressão de diferença e de incompatibilidade" (p. 239).

After his years in Coimbra, Serpa returned to his native Porto and became an insurance broker. He was imprisoned for political reasons in 1936, and at the same period became once again a fervent Catholic. Throughout his life he contributed to Portuguese literary reviews, including A Águia, Aventura, Cadernos de poesia, Cavalo de todas as cores (co-editor), Diálogo, Momento, Presença (editor of the second series, 1939-40), Quatro ventos and Tríptico.

Provenance: Dr. Ladislau Patrício (Guarda, 1883-Lisbon, 1967), physician specializing in the treatment of tuberculosis, director of the Sanatório Sousa Martins in Guarda, and teacher. He wrote of a number of works on tuberculosis as well as short fiction, poetry, literary history, criticism, and plays. 21. SERPA, Alberto de. Pregão: para o I Congresso de Poesia em Segóvia. Porto: Edições Saber, 1952. 8°, original printed wrappers (some foxing to front cover). Minor foxing to half title. Ink squiggle of ca. 2 cm. on title page. Overall in good to very good condition. Author's signed presentation inscription on half title: "Ao querido e grande // João Villaret // com o melhor abraço do // Seu amigo e grato // Alberto". 13 pp., (1 l.). $200.00

FIRST and ONLY EDITION. Alberto de Serpa Esteves de Oliveira (1906-1992), poet, dramatist, essayist and book collector, attended the University of Coimbra for 3 years but was more interested in collaborating with the writers of Presença than in studying. He published his first novel, Saudade do mar, at age 17, and 2 collections of poetry (Quadras and Evoê), but it was 2 later collections, Varanda, 1934 and Vinte poemas da noite, 1935, that led to his unanimous recognition by critics as an important modern poet. Casais Monteiro says that Serpa, along with Branquinho da Fonseca, Carlos Queirós and Francisco Bugalho, give us "um novo aspecto do abandono egoísta a um eu inadaptado à acção ... [Serpa] tem, na poesia, não uma via de contacto com a realidade, mas, por assim dizer, um instrumento a cuja musica embala a sua dolorosa impressão de diferença e de incompatibilidade" (p. 239).
