$900.00

FIRST and ONLY EDITION of a series of documents dated between June 14, 1813, and October 31, 1815.

Joaquim Andrade was Consul General of Portugal in London. He collected and arranged to print these documents to justify his conduct, and dedicates the book to D. Fernando de Portugal [e Castro], Marquez de Aguiar (Lisbon, 1752-Rio de Janeiro, 1817), Secretario de Estado dos Negocios Estrangeiros e da Guerra at the Portuguese court in Rio de Janeiro. The documents are signed in print by Andrade, the Conde de Funchal, Portuguese Ambassador to Great Britain (mostly in Portuguese; one in English), Lord Castlereagh, British Foreign Minister, Antônio Julião da Costa, Portuguese Consul in Liverpool, José Manuel do Couto Garrido, Portuguese Consul in Dublin, and a Mr. Fred. Hammond to Snr. António Teixeira de Sampayo (in English). By far the largest number of letters are by the Conde de Funchal. The contents relate to assistance given to Portuguese and Brazilian seamen stranded in British ports, and “cockets”, i.e., documentary proof that customs fees had been paid, demanded by the British of Portuguese ships visiting British ports from Portugal and Brazil.

The Longitude Problem, Especially Regarding Navigation in America

4. GONZALEZ DE URUENA, Juan. Delineacion de lo tocante al conocimiento del punto de longitud del globo de tierra, y agua, y de la causa de las crecientes, y menguantes del mar, que consagra a los reales pies de Nuestro Rey, y Señor Don Phelipe Quinto (que Dios guarde) .... Madrid: Por Diego Miguel de Peralta, 1740. 4°, old (1817 or shortly thereafter) mottled sheep, rebacked preserving the smooth spine with gilt bands and short titles, marbled endleaves. Woodcut illustrations in text. Brownstain at upper inner corner through first few quires. Other milder stains. Small hole on FF3-4, with loss of one letter per page. In good condition. Overall Old armorial bookplate of Eco de P. Fernández del Valle, with coronet of a Marquis. Elaborately elegant early ink squiggle (incorporating the number “31”) in margin of p. 10. (11 ll.), 86 pp., folding plates at pp. 14, 28, 44; volvelles on p. 71 and folding plate facing p. 14; lacking a half title with the arms of Spain, and a volvelle on p. 17. $800.00

FIRST EDITION. The Delineacion appeared again in 1998 in the series Obras clásicas de náutica y navegación. The work is on determining longitude, and the causes of tides, with particular attention to facilitating navigation to America, where the author was a government official in Mexico; he makes frequent references to locations in the Caribbean, such as the Canal de Bahama and Veracruz in Mexico. The text is illustrated with numerous woodcut diagrams, including two volvelles.

The prologue (Al que leyere) mentions that the difficulties of determining longitude at sea have inspired prizes in England, France, and Spain, and have inspired the author’s research. Gonzalez de Urueña mentions at least twice that he was present when the Spanish silver fleet was destroyed at Vigo in 1702. When the Delineacion was published, he was Contador de Resultas en el Real Tribunal y Audiencia de Quentas de Mexico, y de las de la Armada de Barlovento.

The Delineacion was published a few years after John Harrison first won the Longitude Board’s award. The problem was far from solved: Harrison received awards for improvements to his clocks as late as 1773. Philip II of Spain and Philip III (in 1567 and 1598) had both offered substantial prizes for the discovery of a way to determine longitude (never claimed); Philip V, to whom this work is dedicated, had offered no prize.

The work is dedicated to Philip’s second wife, Elisabetta Farnese, who reigned in Spain when Philip was incapacitated by psychological problems.

FIRST and ONLY EDITION of an interesting and curious early work on the silk industry. An extra, slightly variant title page has been bound in; the two are almost identical. The author recounts the history of silk production in many countries, encourages the cultivation of silk-worms in Portugal, and gives detailed instructions for rearing silkworms and producing silk. He was a director of the Royal Silk Factory.

The author was a native of Bragança. He served as juiz de fora at the villa de Moncorva, and desembargador da Relação do Porto. Later he served in various high administrative posts in Lisbon, where he died in 1819. He was one of the earliest members of the Academia Real das Sciencias de Lisboa.

Provenance: We have not been able to discover anything about António R. Passos (fl. late nineteenth- and / or early twentieth-century), but over the years have seen many books bearing his signature. They are invariably interesting volumes, in above average condition, dealing mainly with agricultural products or minerals and their application in commerce. He must have been an astute and discerning book buyer and bibliophile.

First and only Edition in Portuguese of Toggia’s Storia e cura delle più familiari malattie de’buoi analoghe a quelle del cavallo, which had first appeared in 2 volumes, Turin, 1783-1784. The translator has added significant notes. Volume II is titled História, e cura das molestias mais essenciaes, internas do boi analogas às do cavallo ....

Vicente Coelho de Seabra Silva Telles (1764-1804), a physician, was a native of Congonhas do Campo (presently Congonhas), Minas Geraes (Brazil). A member of the Academia Real das Sciencias de Lisboa, he taught zoology, mineralogy, botany, and agriculture at Coimbra University, and is best known for his Elementos de chimica (Coimbra, 1788-90), the first work in Portuguese devoted entirely to chemistry, written while still a student because he found no good chemical handbook available. He later published Memoria sobre os prejuicios causados pelas sepulturas dos cadaveres nos templos, e metodo de os prevenir, Lisbon 1800, the first work in Portuguese to consider church burials from a public-health point of view.

Provenance: We have not been able to discover anything about the life of António R. Passos (fl. late nineteenth- and / or early twentieth-century), but over the years have seen a considerable number of books bearing his signature. They are invariably interesting volumes, in above average condition, dealing mainly with agricultural products or minerals and their application in commerce. He must have been an astute and discerning book buyer and bibliophile.
