Founded in 1846, the Hakluyt Society seeks to advance knowledge and education by the publication of scholarly editions of primary records of voyages, and travels dealing with the geography, ethnology and natural history of the regions visited. A substantial number of the publications relate to British ventures but the majority concern non-British enterprises and are based on texts written in Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, French or Dutch. These historically significant texts and translations, often appearing in print for the first time, are fully annotated, well illustrated with maps and plates, and conform to the highest standards of scholarship.

1 HAKLUYT SOCIETY.

Together 300 volumes. All in blue cloth with gilt vignette on front and spines lettered in gilt (spines of vol. 74-74 damaged). With maps and plates. €12,500,00

A very uncommon set of 'scholarly editions of primary sources on 'the voyages and travels' undertaken by individuals from many parts of the globe. These include early accounts dealing with the geography, ethnology and natural history of the regions visited. Such texts, many previously available only in manuscripts or in unedited prints in other languages, are the essential records of the initial stages of inter-continental and inter-cultural encounter. All editions are published in English. Although a substantial number of the Society's past editions relate to British ventures, with documentary sources in English, the majority concern non-British enterprises and are based on texts in languages other than English. Material originally written in Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, French or Dutch has regularly appeared, material in Russian, Greek, Latin, Ethiopic, Chinese, Persian or Arabic occasionally. The English translation in which this material is presented is normally a fresh version, but in certain instances an earlier rendering which has been appropriately checked and if necessary corrected. All editions contain scholarly annotation. This, together with an introduction, is designed with two aims in mind. The first is to give both the general reader and the student a degree of assistance in the elucidation of the material presented. The second is to provide guidance on the relevance of the episodes described, within the context of global development and world history. Volumes are normally furnished with maps and contemporary illustrations, often generously'. - A very rare almost complete set in fine condition.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 138 - 139.

- The Russian embassy of Zvenigorodski and Antonov (1589-90) to the Georgian king ruling in Kakheti.

Jean Barbot served as a commercial agent on French slave-trading voyages to West Africa in 1678-79 and 1681-82.

4 BARBOUR, Philip L. (Ed.). The Jamestown Voyages under the first charter 1606-1609. Documents relating to the foundation of Jamestown and the history of the Jamestown colony up to the departure of Captain John Smith, last president of the council in Virginia under the first charter, early in October, 1609. Cambridge, 1969. 2 volumes. Cloth, with dust-jackets. With 11 maps and plates. XXVIII, VIII, 524 pp. € 65,00

In December 1606, one hundred twenty emigrants left London in three small vessels. They landed nearly five months later in Virginia and founded a settlement which they called Jamestown. Thus the first English colony was established in America.

The introduction provides an assessment of the historical, literary, and geographical importance of Robert Bargrave's journal.

The contribution of Anderson and Stewart was to pinpoint the site of the tragedy on King William Island of the Franklin expedition, missing in the Arctic since 1845.

Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 18. - This volume offers annotated texts with biographical and historical introductions of four previously unpublished travel journals from the period 1775-1874.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 150. - Travel-account of the leisurely tour by Luigi of Aragon, one of the most wealthy, cultivated and well-connected of Italian cardinals.

Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 9. - Although Bougainville published an account of his voyage in 1771, his original journal was published only in 1977; the present volume makes the latter text available for the first time in English translation.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 112. - These three shipwrecks are representative of a number of shipwrecks of homeward-bound ships off the coast of Natal where the survivors tried to march overland to the Portuguese trading stations.

13  BRENNAN, Michael G. (Ed.). The origins of the grand tour. The travels of Robert Mantague, Lord Mandeville (1649-1654), William Hammond (1655-1658),

Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 14. - The longterm English fascination with the Grand Tour was firmly rooted in the mid-tudor and early Stuart periods. Such travels were usually prompted by one of three reasons: the practical needs of diplomacy, the aesthetic allure of cultural tourism, and the expediencies of political or religious exile.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 183. - Volume of essays, celebrating the 150th anniversary of the Hakluyt Society.

Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 5. - This edition offers for the first time an English translation of those parts of Van den Broecke's original manuscript which describe the four trading voyages he made to Africa in the early seventeenth century.

Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 4. - This is the only first-hand account of a voyage, during which the Antarctic mainland was sighted for the first time.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 160. - Accounts of the earliest English settlements in Newfoundland.
18 COOK, James. The journals of Captain James Cook on his voyages of discovery. Edited from the original manuscripts by J.C. Beaglehole with the assistance of J.A. Williamson, J.W. Davidson and R.A. Skelton. Cambridge, 1967-74. 4 volumes in 5 and portfolio. Original blue cloth gilt, with dust-jackets. With 3 coloured frontispieces and 220 illustrations and maps; with portfolio with 58 charts and views. CCLXXXIV,696; CLXX,1028; CCXIV,VIII,1647 pp. € 695,00

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 148. - Including the lively narrative, attributed to Captain Walter Bigges (1588), the main source of information about Drake's expedition to the West Indies.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 113. - First full account of the privateering voyage of Edward Fenton which proved to be a failure.

Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 6. - Sir Martin Frobisher (c. 1535 – 1594) was an English seaman and privateer who made three voyages to the New World to look for the Northwest Passage. He landed in northeastern Canada, around today's Resolution Island and Frobisher Bay.[2] On his second voyage, Frobisher found what he thought was gold ore and carried 200 tons of it home on three ships, where initial assaying determined it to be worth a profit of £5.2 per ton. Encouraged, Frobisher returned to Canada with an even larger fleet and dug several mines around Frobisher Bay. He carted 1,350 tons of the ore back where, after years of smelting, it was realised that the ore was worthless iron pyrite.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 156. - These voyages have been regarded as the first sea journeys undertaken for purely scientific purposes.

Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 2. - 'Jobson's account of the river, its commerce, natural history, peoples, religion and politics, was the earliest to appear in print, in this fullness of details in any language. It was also the earliest detailed account of any part of Black Africa, by an Englishman.'

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 179-180. - La Pérouse's was one of the greatest exploring voyages of the 18th century.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 133-135. - Ludwig Leichhardt, a Prussian explorer and naturalist, is chiefly known as the most important of the scientific explorers of Australia.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 171. - The ventures in the Amazon are probably the earliest example of independent Irish colonial projects in the New World.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 147. - Documenting the first attempt on the part of the English to establish a spice trade, an attempt that antedated the chartering of the East Indian Company by nearly twenty years.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 169-170. - The Plover's voyage of 1848 to 1854 was the first constant presence of Europeans in the western Arctic, and Rochfort Maguire's journal is the earliest account of a sustained foreign association with the Eskimos of northern Alaska.

Hakluyt Series, 3rd series, 8,11,13. - The Malaspina Expedition (1789–1794) was a five-year maritime scientific exploration commanded by Alessandro Malaspina and José de Bustamante y Guerra. The expedition was funded by the Spanish government and originally pursued strictly scientific goals.,

30 MARKHAM, Clements. (Ed.). Book of the knowledge of all the kingdoms, and lordships that are in the world, and the arms and evices of each land and lordship, or of the kings and lords who possess them. Written by a Spanish Franciscan in the middle of the XIV century. Published for the first time with notes by Marcos Jiménez de la Espada in 1877. Translated and edited. London, 1912. Cloth. With 20 plates. XIII,85 pp. € 30,00

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 29. - Kraus Reprint 1967.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 140. - An account of the history of the Spanish colony in the Philippines during the 16th century.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 143. - Peard's journal of the voyage of Captain Frederick William Beechey is a lucid account of one of the most comprehensive British naval voyages to the Pacific since the days of Cook.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 185-186. - While the emphasis is on Purchas' major work, Purchas his pilgrimes (1625), his earlier works are also considered.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 174. - Remedius Prutky, Franciscan missionary, was in 1751 appointed vice-prefect of a mission sent to Ethiopia. Including also his account of Mocha, and of the European trading factories there, as well as his description of India and Ceylon.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 161. - Contains the first documents of the exploration of Norumbega, the later New England.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 144-145. - Provides a reference guide to the works of the reverent Richard Hakluyt (1552-1616) and a critical evaluation of his achievements as a collector, editor, translator and author of travel literature.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 104. - The Roanoke Voyages were attempts by Sir Walter Raleigh, under his 1584 patent from Queen Elizabeth I, to establish an English colony in the New World on the coast of present-day North Carolina between 1584 and 1590. Although Raleigh was unable to establish successful English colonies in America under his 1584 charter, the Roanoke voyages and colonies were valuable precursors to the eventual formation of a permanent English colony at Jamestown in 1607.

Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 15. - Sir Walter Ralegh's account of his 1595 expedition to the Orinoco in search of the fabled empire of El Dorado was an immediate publishing success and is one of the most important pieces of Elizabethan travel literature.

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 184. - Juan Maria Schuver, son of a wealthy Amsterdam businessmann, remained for two years in the hills of the upper Blue Nile and the eastern watershed of the White Nile basin. His lively account of the region and his encounters with local people is presented from the rediscovered original manuscripts.

Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 12,20. - The lengthy journals combine scientific records and social and religious comment as well as detailed descriptions of navigation and whaling.

Captain Charles Napier Sturt (1795 – 1869) was a British explorer of Australia, and part of the European exploration of Australia. He led several expeditions into the interior of the continent, starting from both Sydney and later from Adelaide. His expeditions traced several of the westward-flowing rivers, establishing that they all merged into the Murray River. He was searching to determine if there was an 'inland sea'.

43 SURVILLE, Jean de & Guillaume Labé. The expedition of the St Jean-Baptiste to the Pacific 1769-1770. Translated and edited by John Dunmore. London, 1981. Cloth, with dust-jacket. With 4 maps and 10 illustrations. X,310 pp. € 40,00

Hakluyt Society, 2nd series, 158. - Providing a valuable picture of a Pacific expedition in the heroic period of exploration, of the men who took part in it and the difficulties and hardships they encountered.
