INSCRIBED BY SUSAN B. ANTHONY

3. [ANTHONY, SUSAN B. (1820–1906)].
NEW YORK STATE WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION.

Softbound pamphlet in restored printed wrappers, deckle edges, “From Susan B. Anthony” and owner signature to front wrapper, moderate toning to text, chips and tears to margins of a few leaves. Item housed in moderately worn cloth clamshell box.

$5,000.

THE 1894 NEW YORK STATE constitutional convention offered an opportunity for suffragists to press for state enfranchisement. The 26th annual convention of the New York State Woman Suffrage Association was devoted to the creation of a plan to realize this goal. As decided at the convention, Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton toured the state to collect signatures for a suffrage petition that they planned to present to the constitutional convention. Nearly 600,000 people, out of a state population of roughly 2,500,000, signed the petition. It was presented but it failed to bring about a suffrage amendment. Women would not be able to vote in New York until 1917. See inside rear cover.

Steele and Campbell’s alphabetically digested compilation was the second and last published during the territorial period. As indicated by such sections as Indians, Slaves and Vice and Immorality, it offers an interesting perspective on Arkansas when it was beginning its transition from a territory to a state. Babbitt 16.

6. BEVERLAND, ADRIAN (HADRIAN) [C.1654–1712].

SIXTH EDITION AND THE FIRST EDITION published in London. The most influential publication in the history of modern Anglo-American law, the Commentaries on the Laws of England is based on a course of lectures delivered at Oxford University. Because they were not intended for aspiring practitioners, they described general principles rather than practical specifics. Sensitive to the systematizing trends of the day and the prestige of the natural sciences, it described the common law as an intricate, well-designed system akin to Newton’s mechanistic universe. It was also an important account of the law’s evolution. As Holdsworth notes, “the Commentaries are not only a statement of the law of Blackstone’s day, but the best history of English law as a whole which had yet appeared...The skillful manner in which Blackstone uses his authorities new and old, and the analogy of other systems of law, to illustrate the evolution of the law of his day, had a vast influence, both in England and America, in implanting in the profession a sound tradition of the historical development of the law.”: Holdsworth, Historians 22. Laeuchli 12. See front cover.

His treatises on contracts and criminal law were standard works in Great Britain and the United States. Selections from his Blackstone notes were included in several American editions of the Commentaries. Laeuchli 42.

13. BLACKSTONE, SIR WILLIAM.

Light toning, light foxing in a few places. “F.F. 4.1.” in early hand to verso of front free endpaper. A very desirable wide-margined copy. $10,000.

FIRST EDITION and the first modern critical edition of the many versions of Magna Carta that were issued between 1215 and 1297. This exceptional edition of the Magna Carta is "Blackstone's first important work. It contains the Articles of the Barons, the issues of the Great Charter in 1215, 1216 and 1217, with several charters of confirmation, the Charter of the Forest, and the Statute of Marlebr. The introduction is in English and the texts of the Magna Carta and Carta de Foresta in Latin. The engraved dedication to the Earl of Westmoreland is surmounted with his armorial ensigns, engraved historiated initials in the text depict views of buildings at Oxford University: The tail-pieces on pages lxxvi and 73 are historical vignettes, the other ten engraved tail-pieces are royal seals that are attached to the original documents.

This remarkable work is esteemed for its production and scholarship. Its physical appeal was recognized as early as 1829 in Richard Thompson’s An Historical Essay on the Magna Charta of King John, which described it as a “beautiful and rare edition” and the “elegance of typography is very great.”

Blackstone’s essay, which is based on a great deal of original research, argued that the charter was the foundation of English liberties. This idea, first proposed by Coke, was a central tenet of Whig ideology. More important, Blackstone’s research into the original texts demonstrated that all earlier editions of the charter were based on the significantly different reissue of 1225, in the reign of Henry III, rather than the original one endorsed at Runnymede. His philological approach was highly influential, it established the textual focus that has governed subsequent study of the charter. Eller 237. Laeuchli 548. See front cover.

EXPANDED EDITION OF BLOUNT’S DICTIONARY

14. BLOUNT, THOMAS [1618–1679].

Nomo-Lexikon: A Law-Dictionary, Interpreting Such Difficult and Obscure Words and Terms, As are Found Either in Our Common or Statute, Ancient or Modern, Laws. With References to the Several Statutes, Records, Registers, Law-Books, Charters, Ancient Deeds, And Manuscripts, Wherein the Words are Used: And Etymologies, Where They Properly Occur. With Some Corrections, And the Addition of Above Six Hundred Words.

Recent period-style quarter calf over marbled boards, raised bands, blind ornaments and lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed, title page and following leaf rehinged. Light browning and occasional light foxing to text, brief annotations in a few places, some soiling, edgewear, later owner signature and very faint library stamp to title page, lighter edgewear to final leaf. $950.

SECOND EDITION, with "the Addition of Above Six Hundred Words.” Blount was a barrister and a member of the Inner Temple. Prohibited to practice at the Bar because he was a Catholic, but blessed with a large private income, Blount turned to legal scholarship and lexicography. Blount aimed to correct the defects he found in Cowell’s Interpreter (1607) and Rastell’s Termes de la Ley (1523). In his preface, he observed that Cowell “is sometimes too prolix in the derivation of a Word, setting down several Authors Opinions, without categorically determining which is the true”; Rastell “wrote so long hence, that his very Language and manner of expression was almost antiquated.” He hoped that by correcting these flaws he would create a dictionary useful to everyone in the profession from “the Coif to the puny-Clerk.” The Nomo-Lexikon is clearer and more detailed than its predecessors. It is also the first English-language dictionary with entries that include word etymologies and citations. An immediate success that quickly supplanted its predecessors, it was reissued in larger and revised editions throughout the eighteenth century. ESTC R231079.

“CHRISTIAN SATTLER IS MY NAME, I DIE A DEATH OF SCORN AND SHAME”

15. [BROADSIDE].

[EXECUTION].

SATTLER, CHRISTIAN [D. 1858].

Life, Trial, Confession, And Execution of Christian Sattler, For the Murder of Detective Thain.

[London], S.n., [1858].

19-1/2” x 14-1/2” broadside mounted on 22-1/2” x 15” thick-paper backing sheet. Text in three columns below headline and large woodcut execution scene within woodcut border. Light browning, minor creases to corners, a few chips to edges touching borders. $1,950.

Sattler was a German man who stole a bag of valuables belonging to a London stockbroker from an inn in Cambridgeshire (shortly after his release from jail). After stealing the bag Sattler fled to the Continent and was tracked down and arrested in Hamburg by two London detectives, Charles Thain and William Jarvis. On the journey back to England, Thain left Sattler alone in his cabin where he found a pistol, which he used to murder Thain when he returned to Sattler’s cabin. Sattler was found guilty and hanged at the Old Bailey on February 8, 1858. This broadside includes a contrite eight-stanza ballad in Sattler’s voice. The text is divided into seven sections titled “The Execution,” “The Life,” “The Murder,” “The Trial,” “Conduct of the Prisoner,” “A Commutation of Sentence” and “A Copy of a Letter.” (The commutation was due to a legal technicality relating the nature of Sattler’s arrest. “The Letter” is the text of a letter from Sattler’s Father). No copies listed on OCLC.
"HORRID AND BARBAROUS MURDER COMMITTED AT STAPLETON"

16. [BROADSIDE].
[MURDER].
[BARTLETT, CHARLES S. (D. 1837)].
[LEWIS, MARY (D. 1836)].

Full Particulars of the Murder, That was Committed on the Body of Mary Lewis, By Charles S. Bartlett, her Son-in-Law, On Saturday, September 10, 1836. With the Copies of Two Letters, That he Wrote to his Wife and Father-in-Law; Also Giving an Account of the Funeral of the Murdered Woman.

Bristol: John Bonner, [c.1837].

20” x 15” broadside. Three woodcuts, the largest of these, depicting the murder, has coloring in red ink depicting blood coming from the head of the victim. Main text in three columns, verses at foot text in five columns. Moderate toning and light foxing, horizontal fold line through center, folds, repaired tears to upper left corner with loss of a few words, without loss of sense, a few small holes along fold. $4,500.

BARTLETT WAS THE LEADING ACTOR of Inglestone’s San Pareil Theatre company, who had been playing at the nearby annual fair at St. James’ Barton, Bristol. He had been married to Sarah Lewis for only a couple of months before the discovery of his mother-in-law’s body. It transpires that before their marriage Sarah’s father had handed over a dowry of £47 to Bartlett, with the caveat that no more money would be forthcoming until the death of Mary Lewis. Bartlett had been seen alone with Mary on a number of occasions in the days leading up to her murder. With evidence stacking up against him Bartlett was arrested and committed to trial, where he pleaded “not guilty.” However, he was found guilty by the jury and executed on April 15, 1837. There is a vivid account of this case in the Newgate Calendar: www.exclassics.com/newgate/ng885.htm. No copies located on OCLC.
A TAX TO DEFRAY THE COST OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

17. [BROADSIDE].
[TAXATION].
[MASSACHUSETTS].
Commonwealth of Massachusetts. (Tax No 3.).
Boston, June, 1783.
16” x 10” broadside, amount of assessed tax and date added in manuscript by Thomas Ivers, treasurer and receiver-general of Massachusetts, his signature, dated October 1, 1783, below text. Mounted on linen, lightly browned, some edgewear, sections lacking from corners and along fold lines with minor loss to text. A rare item.
This broadside is, in effect, a warrant to collect unpaid taxes. In this particular case, an amount of four pounds and four shillings to be collected by the constable or collector in the town of Leverett, Massachusetts. According to Ford, this broadside was printed in June of 1783, at a time when the Commonwealth was trying to pay down expenses associated with the war. Financial hardship from the war would persist long after the conflict with Great Britain ended, and the Commonwealth applied sustained pressure to collect revenue from its cities and towns. Interestingly, this prophetic broadside foretells Shay’s Rebellion, in that just three years later perceived economic and taxation inequities prompted rural central and western Massachusetts such as Leverett to rise up in a series of historic protests against the Commonwealth. No copies listed on OCLC.

PREFERRED EDITION OF “AN EXCELLENT REPERTORY OR TABLE FOR THE YEAR BOOKS”

18. BROOKE, SIR ROBERT
[?–1558].
La Graunde Abridgement, Collecte & Escrie per le Iudge Tresreverend Syr Robert Brooke Chivaler, Nadgairs Chiefe Iustice del Common Banke.
[London]: In Aedibus Richardi Tottelli, 1586.
[AND]
La Secounde Part du Graunde Abridgement…
[London]: In Aedibus Richardi Tottelli, 1586. [iv], 351; [i], 2–328 ff.
Two parts in one. Small folio (11” x 7-1/2”). Recent period-style quarter calf over marbled boards, raised bands and lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed. A few nicks to spine, light rubbing to corners. Titles printed within handsome woodcut architectural borders. Moderate toning to text, faint dampstaining and dampspotting in a few places, some edgewear and crinkling to preliminaries and endleaves, crude repair to lower corner of F. 141 of Part I with no loss to text, small early owner signatures to title page of first part, another to F. 351 of Part I and F. 328 of Part II, early markings to a few passages in text, a few early annotations to rear endleaves. A handsome copy.

Third Edition. Sir Robert Brooke was renowned for his great learning and probity as a judge. His Abridgement is based on Fitzherbert’s Abridgement, but it contains much new material. In all, Brooke abridged nearly 21,000 cases and digested them alphabetically under 404 headings. It abridges fully the Year Books of Henry VII and Henry VIII. Brooke proceeded with great care and accuracy, and is believed to have had access to the original records of the Year Books. Coke calls the Abridgement “a worthy and painful work and an excellent repertory or table for the Year Books of the Law.” This edition is superior to earlier printings, in which abbreviations are frequently unintelligible. A fair number of important early American lawyers had copies of this title, and it remained a reference into the nineteenth century. Thomas Jefferson, to cite on example, had a copy of the present edition. Coke cited in Marvin, Legal Bibliography 151–52. Sowerby 1777. Beale R473, R476.

A PROFOUND INFLUENCE IN PRE-REVOLUTIONARY AMERICA

22. [CARE, HENRY (1646–1688)].

NELSON, WILLIAM (b. 1653), EDITOR.

Contemporary sheep, blind rules to boards, blind fillets along spine, raised bands and later hand-lettered title to spine. Light rubbing to boards, early owner signature (Ephraim Williard) to front board, slightly heavier rubbing to extremities with a few spots of wear along board edges, joints starting at ends, corners bumped and somewhat worn, crack in text block between front free endpaper and title page, a few leaves loose at beginning and end of text block. An appealing copy. $6,500.

SECOND AMERICAN EDITION. Preceded by an edition published in Boston in 1721, this 1774 Providence edition was published in the same year as the first Continental Congress and the Intolerable Acts (and about a year after the Boston Tea Party). A publisher's note at the end of the table of contents says this edition was “principally designed for America” and contained “extracts from several late celebrated writers on the constitution” (vi). It is almost certain that this publisher was capitalizing on popular resentment toward the crown and parliament. First published in England in 1680 (or 1682, the first edition was not dated), this layman’s guide reviews, from a Whig perspective, the principles of English law and government. Containing the texts of Magna Carta and other foundational documents of the English Constitution, it emphasizes the role of juries in the preservation of civil rights and prevention of tyranny.

First published in America in 1721 by James Franklin, the half-brother of Benjamin Franklin, who may have offered editorial guidance, this was one of the very first legal books published in the American colonies. It had a profound influence on several colonial readers, including the founding fathers. It was the primary source for William Penn’s Excellent Priviledge of Liberty and Property (1687), a work that inspired support for the revolution. George Mason used it when drafting Virginia’s Declaration of Rights (1776). And Jefferson, who owned two copies, probably referred to it when he wrote the Declaration of Independence and the Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom. Its influence is also evident in the Bill of Rights. See Sowerby 2702, 2703. Cohen 3416. See rear cover.
23. CATHARINE II, [1762–1796], EMPRESS OF RUSSIA.
KOZITZKI, GRIGORII VASIL'YEVICH, [D. 1775], LATIN TRANSLATION.

Nakaz Eia Imperatorskago Velichestva Ekateriny Vtoroy, Samoderzhtsy Vserossiiskiiia Dannyi Komissii o Sochinenii Proekta Novago Ulozheniia... [Instructions of Her Imperial Majesty Catherine II to the Commission on the Work of the Projected New Code of Laws].

St. Petersburg: Imperatorskaya Akademii Nauk, 1770. [viii], 403 pp. Four title pages, one in each language. Printed in double columns, Russian and Latin on one page and German and French on the opposite page. Allegorical engravings by C. M. Roth at head and tail pieces. Latin translation by Grigorii Vasil'evich Kozitzki. Quarto (9-1/2” x 8”).

Contemporary calf, raised bands, lettering piece and black-stamped ornaments to spine, edges rouged, patterned endleaves Light rubbing, faint stains, scratches and ink marks to boards, which are slightly bowed, moderate rubbing to extremities, corners bumped and worn. Large copperplate vignettes at beginning and end of text. Light toning to text, somewhat heavier in places, faint dampstaining to margins in a few places, internally clean. A nice copy. $4,500.

ONLY FOUR-LANGUAGE EDITION, the fourth, and best, edition overall. Described by Count M.A. Korf, then director of the Imperial Library, as “The Best and Most Luxurious Edition.” The Nakaz, or Instruction, is a statement of legal principles written by Catherine II between 1764 and 1766. It was among her most ambitious and significant undertakings. Infused with the ideas of the French Enlightenment, and copied mostly from the work of Voltaire, Montesquieu and Beccaria, it was compiled as a guide for the All-Russia Legislative Commission convened by the Empress in 1767 to create a new code to replace the 1649 Muscovite Code. Revised in consultation with Frederick the Great and Voltaire, the Instruction proclaimed the equality of all men before the law and denounced torture and the death penalty. Unfortunately, her proposed code was never completed. Catherine’s manuscript was written in French, and she later produced a Russian translation. Editions in German and Russian were published in Moscow in 1767. The book was initially banned in France because it was too liberal, which is why the first French-language edition was produced in Switzerland (with a false imprint). French and Latin editions were eventually published in 1770. Camus 3301. Butler 524 (Entry 8).
24. [CLAUDE, JEAN (1619–1687)].

An Account of the Persecutions and Oppressions of the Protestants in France.

London: Printed for J. Norris, 1686. [iv], 56 pp. Quarto (7-1/4” x 5-1/2”).

Stab–stitched pamphlet bound into twentieth–century three–quarter calf over cloth, gilt title to spine. Moderate rubbing to extremities with wear to spine ends and corners, bookseller catalogue listing for this title affixed to front pastedown. Moderate toning to text, light foxing to a few leaves, light soiling to title page, light browning along edges, early repair to tear on fore–edges, date modified by early hand (?) to read “1699.” $1,500.

ONLY ENGLISH EDITION, one of three London issues and one Dublin reprint from 1686. Claude was a French Protestant divine and a professor of theology at the Protestant college of Nîmes. After the Edict of Fountainbleau (1685), which revoked the civil rights of French Protestants and outlawed Protestantism, he fled to the Netherlands, where he received a pension from Stadtholder William of Orange, who commissioned him to write an account of the persecuted French Protestants, Plaintes des Protestants Cruellement Opprimés dans le Royaume de France (1686). The book, which includes the text of the 1685 edict, was translated into English, but the translation and the French–language original text were publicly burnt by the common hangman by order of King James II in 1686 because it contained passages that criticized the king of France. Due to this burning, all versions of this pamphlet are scarce. OCLC locates 4 copies our issue in North America, the ESTC adds 6 more. No copies located in North American law libraries. ESTC R18292.

25. COKE, SIR EDWARD [1552–1643].

Recent period–style speckled calf, blind rules and fillets to boards, raised bands and lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed. Moderate toning to text, light edgewear to folding table, light soiling to title page, a few brief early (and recent) annotations to endleaves, a few doodles in miniscule hand and a tiny stain to margins of frontispiece. A nice copy in a handsome binding. $750.

SEVENTH EDITION. Coke’s Institutes, which eventually comprised four volumes, are thought to be the first textbooks on the modern common law. Taken together, they are a virtual legal encyclopedia of the law as it stood in Coke’s lifetime. The first Institutes, better known as Coke on Littleton, contains the text of Sir Thomas Littleton’s Tenures with extensive commentary. First published in 1628, it was a standard work for decades and was often used as a textbook. “If Bracton first began the codification of the common law, it was Coke who completed it... In the Institutes (...) the tradition of the common law from Bracton to Littleton, whose name Coke’s Commentary made famous, firmly established itself as the basis of the constitution of the Realm.” PMM 126. EARLY EDITION OF COKE’S SECOND INSTITUTES: INCLUDES COKE’S LANDMARK COMMENTARY ON MAGNA CARTA

26. COKE, SIR EDWARD.

The Second Part of the Institutes of the Lawes of England. Containing the Exposition of Many Ancient, And Other Statutes; Whereof You May See the Particulars in a Table Following.

Light toning to text, occasional (very) faint dampstaining to lower margins, edgewear and light soiling to title page. A handsome copy. $1,000.

SECOND EDITION. The Second Part of the Institutes, an exposition of “many ancient and other statutes” including Magna Carta, was published by order of the House of Commons after the author’s death. It is a landmark work because it offered a novel interpretation of Magna Carta. Reflecting contemporary struggles between the king and Parliament, Coke presented the charter as the ancient constitution of England, one that established the fundamental rights of Englishmen and placed royal power under the laws of the land. Perhaps the most famous section is Coke’s commentary on the 29th chapter, in which he traced the origins of trial by jury and the right of habeas corpus. ESTC R30266.

It consists of five essays. “A Persian Pearl” is an appreciation of Omar Khayyam’s Rubaiyat. The other essays discuss Walt Whitman, Robert Burns, realism in literature and art and the importance of facing up to past mistakes without fear or shame. Fuller [1892–1982], a distinguished British actress, was famous for her portrayal of Ophelia to John Barrymore’s celebrated Hamlet on Broadway in 1922 and continued to perform into the 1970s. She also has a footnote in literary history for her brief affair with F. Scott Fitzgerald. Some scholars believe she was the model for Marcia, the bold chorus girl in “Head and Shoulders,” a story later included in Flappers and Philosophers (1920). Hunsberger 44.

30. DE LOLME, J[EAN] L[OUIS] [1740–1806].

FIRST AMERICAN EDITION. First published in 1771, this highly regarded popular exposition of the English constitution by a Swiss jurist went through several editions well into the nineteenth century. It was the first book-length analysis of the “separation of powers” proposed in Book XI of Montesquieu’s Spirit the Laws, which sketched an institutional distinction between the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government. As one would expect, it was held in high regard by many of the founding fathers; Hamilton cites it favorably in The Federalist. “This work has been held in high estimation from its first publication, and still holds a distinguished place. (...) It has been made the basis of larger works upon the same subject, by Stephens and Western. Judge Story remarks that the author ‘has presented a view of English Equity Jurisprudence, far more exact and comprehensive than many of the English text writers on the same subject.’” Marvin 263. Field’s aim was authorization by the legislative to design a court system operating under codes of practice, procedure and pleading, a goal realized with the enactment of New York’s Code of Civil Procedure in 1848–1850, which was written almost entirely by Field. FIRST PUBLISHED IN 1534, the Nouvelle Natura Brevium is a manual of procedure written by a Judge of the Common Pleas during the reign of Henry VIII. Winfield notes that “Coke put it among the books which he considered most necessary and of greatest authority and excellency”. Blackstone considered it an authority as well. Compiled from the earlier Natura Brevia and the Registrum Brevium, it includes several original observations on the form and function of writs. Rastell’s revisions include the addition of a table. A popular work, it went through numerous editions in Law French and English, the final appearing in 1794. It remains significant to this day for its descriptions of writs that were becoming obsolete in the early sixteenth century. Winfield 303. Beale T348. ESTC S4100.

LIMITED FINE-PRESS EDITION OF HAMILTON’S “REYNOLDS PAMPHLET”

47. HAMILTON, ALEXANDER [1757–1804].

Later three-quarter morocco over cloth, gilt fillets along edges of morocco, lettering pieces and gilt-edged raised bands to spine, deckle edges. Negligible light rubbing to spine ends and corners, light toning to text, early cellotape repairs to foot of final text leaf (with no damage to text). An attractive copy.

FROM AN EDITION OF 25, this number 10. This remarkable work, better known as the “Reynolds Pamphlet,” relates to one of the first sex scandals in American political history. While secretary of the treasury, Hamilton had a three-year affair with a woman named Maria Reynolds. This affair was instigated and encouraged by her husband, James, as a way to extort hush money from Hamilton. Jailed for his participation in a shady speculative scheme, Reynolds attempted to implicate Hamilton in exchange for his freedom, through the help of political enemies, believing Hamilton would claim responsibility if he threatened with public exposure of the affair. In the meantime rumors linking Hamilton to the speculative scheme began to circulate and find their way into print, most notably in Callender’s History of the United States. In a bold move to protect his public reputation, Hamilton addressed the rumors and prevented a political scandal by confessing the truth. Denying any charges of public financial impropriety, he admitted his “amorous connection” with Maria Reynolds with her husband’s “privity and connivance.” According to Sabin, Mrs. Hamilton tried to buy up all copies of the 1797 pamphlet, but some escaped. A second edition was reprinted in 1800 in the midst of the Jefferson-Burr election by a group of anti-Federalists. As one would expect, a small number of first editions exist today. The Hamilton Club reprint of the first edition was also issued as an octavo in 1865 in an edition limited to 50 copies.

50. Holmes, Oliver Wendell, Jr. [1841–1935].

The Common Law.

Boston: Little, Brown, And Company, 1881. [i]–xvi, 422 pp. Octavo (8-1/4” x 5-1/4”).

Original maroon pebbled cloth, blind double frames to boards, gilt title to spine, triple gilt rules at spine ends. Light wear to corners, a few clean short tears to spine ends, bookseller stamp and small woodcut image of Holmes affixed to front pastedown, offsetting from image to front free endpaper, light toning to text. A handsome copy. $1,250.

FIRST EDITION, first issue (two-line printer statement at foot of the title page, verso, reading “University Press: John Wilson and Son, Cambridge and a one-line statement to foot of p. 422 reading “University Press: John Wilson & Son, Cambridge”). As Friedman points out, “The Common Law was easily the most distinguished book on law by an American published between 1850 and 1900.” In contrast to earlier Anglo-American jurists, and the reigning positivist ethos of the nineteenth century, Holmes proposed that the law was not a science founded on abstract principles but a body of practices that responded to particular situations. This functionalist interpretation led to his radical conclusion that law was not discovered, but invented. This radical theme is announced at the beginning of Lecture I: “The life of the law has not been logic: it has been experience” (1). Winfield observes that Holmes’s “brilliant exposition, as effective on English scholarship and legal thinking as on American, of the true nature of law both as a development from the past and an organism of the present, blew fresh air into lawyer’s minds encrusted with Blackstone and Kent.” It went on to become a decisive influence on sociological jurisprudence, legal realism and the general development of Anglo-American law in the twentieth century. Philadelphia, Joseph Crukshank, 1789. xvi, [8], xlv, 530, [45] pp. Octavo (7-1/2” x 5”).

Contemporary sheep, lettering piece and gilt fillets to spine. Moderate rubbing, a few shallow scuffs to boards, minor chipping to head of spine, joints just starting at ends, corners bumped, hinges starting. Armorial bookplate of Francis Hopkinson to front pastedown, his signature to head of title page. Light toning to text, foxing in a few places. A nice copy with an appealing association.

FIRST AMERICAN EDITION. Lawyer, judge, merchant, author and musician, Hopkinson represented New Jersey in the Second Continental Congress and was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. He served the Continental Congress as a member of the Navy Board and was the treasurer of the Continental Loan Office. Leaving Congress, he was appointed judge of the Admiralty Court of Pennsylvania. While he was not a member of the Constitutional Convention, he played a leading role in the debates leading to ratification in Pennsylvania. Appointed by Washington, he became judge of the United States District Court for the District of Pennsylvania in 1789, the year he acquired his copy of Park’s Marine Insurance. Unfortunately, Hopkinson only held the post for a few years. He died at the age of 53 from a sudden epileptic seizure. First published in 1787, Park’s was the first legal work on insurance written by an English lawyer and the first book on the subject to appear in America. Holdsworth called it “the best text-book upon the law of insurance.” A work of great authority, it went through numerous English and American editions and remained the standard text until the middle of the nineteenth century. FIRST EDITION (IN THIS FORM). Innocent IV, pope from 1243 to 1254, was one of the most dynamic and influential leaders of the medieval period. He began his career as a lawyer. Educated in law at the Universities of Parma and Bologna, where he may have taught after finishing his studies, he went on to a career as a church official and was considered to be one of the finest canonists of his time. His Commentaria, also known as the Apparatus in Quinque Libros Decretalium, is an influential commentary on papal decrees in the books of the Corpus Juris Canonici. Our 1570 edition is enhanced by the commentary of Roselli and the appended interpretive summary/index by Ubaldi, which includes notes by Legge. A second edition was published in 1571. Contemporary sheep, blind fillets and decorative blind tooling to boards. Moderate rubbing to extremities, some chipping to spine ends, corners bumped and lightly worn, a few minor scuffs to boards, hinges cracked, light browning to text. Early owner signature to rear pastedown, interior otherwise clean.

FIRST AMERICAN EDITION, designated the seventh on the title page in reference to the prior six editions published in London. This popular layman’s guide by one of the most prolific legal writers of eighteenth-century England went through ten English editions between 1736 and 1788. The mention of “All Manner of Persons” in the subtitle is significant. Jacob, though certainly interested in boosting sales by attracting the widest audience possible, was an idealist who believed that widespread knowledge of the law would help create a more just society. This is also evident in his other publications, such as The Common Law Common-Placed (1726) and Treatise of Laws (1721). According to Cohen this was the first laymen’s guide published in America. The next two, which were intended also for aspiring lawyers, were The Young Clerk’s Magazine (Philadephia, 1774) and The Young Clerk’s Vade Mecum (New York, 1776). Cohen 8202.

PERKINS, JOHN [D. 1545].

London: Printed [by Adam Islip?] for the Company of Stationers, 1609. [xxiv], 168 ff.

Octavo (4-1/2” x 2-1/2”). Contemporary calf, gilt rules to boards, gilt fillets to spines, fragments of thong ties. Moderate rubbing to spine and extremities with some wear to corners, light scuffing to boards, a few tiny wormholes to spine, pastedowns loose, a few partial cracks to text block, wormhole from preliminaries through first third of text with no loss to legibility, final two signatures of A Profitable Booke a bit loose and slightly edgeworn, edges trimmed closely occasionally touching side-notes (with no loss to legibility). Light toning to text, somewhat heavier in places, internally clean. $1,500.

LATER EDITIONS. This volume collects two classic English treatises on the law of real property. Written during the reign of Edward IV [1442–1483] and first published around 1481, Littleton’s Tenures is probably the most revered treatise in the history of the common law. Much admired for its learning and style, it is concerned with tenures and other issues relating to real property. This venerable work, which Coke called “the ornament of the Common Law, and the most perfect and absolute work that ever was written in any humane science,” is a considered a landmark because it renounced the principles of Roman law (and Latin) in favor of a set of guidelines and doctrines drawn from the Year Books, and when necessary, hypothetical cases.

A popular work during the sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries that was held in high regard by Coke, Perkins’ Profitable Booke was first published in 1528 and went through numerous editions in both English and Law-French. Devoted mostly to the land law as developed in the Year Books, it is divided into the following topics: grants, deeds, feuftments, exchanges, dower, curtesy, wills, devises, surrenders, reservations, and conditions. OWNED BY A LITURGICAL SCHOLAR AND THE BISHOP OF BOMBAY

60. [LYNDWOOD, WILLIAM (C.1375–1446)]. [BADUS, JOSSE (1462–1535), EDITOR].

Contemporary calf with later rebacking, lettering piece and gilt-edged raised bands to spine, corners repaired, endpapers renewed, hinges reinforced, lower portion of p. 77 (blank portion below text) and following rear endleaf renewed. Moderate rubbing and light scuffing to boards, heavier rubbing to extremities. Moderate toning to text, occasional light foxing. Numerous annotations and bookseller descriptions of different editions of this work to front and rear endleaves by Christopher Wordsworth, annotations and underlining to a few leaves of text. A leaf of notes in Wordsworth’s hand and a 1950 letter from a bookbinder laid in. Ex-library. Small inkstamp to verso of title page. An appealing copy with interesting associations. $750.

LATER EDITION. Main text followed by nineteen-page, two-part index (Tabula). Compiled around 1433 and first published around 1483–1485, Provinciale is the main authority for early English canon law. Divided into five books, it is a digest of the synodal constitutions of the province of Canterbury, from the period of Archbishop Stephen Langton [c.1155–1228] to that of Archbishop Henry Chichele [1414–1443], with Lyndwood’s gloss. It is considered the law of the Church of England by some authorities. This book was owned and annotated by Christopher Wordsworth [1848–1938], the son of a notable bishop and a renowned liturgical scholar. One note indicates that he presented it in 1910 to Edwin James Palmer [1869–1954], Bishop of Bombay. The laid-in letter to Palmer, written in 1950 by the bookbinder A. Birdsall, concerns the rebinding of Palmer’s copy of the Book of Common Prayer. ESTC R11715.

RECONSTRUCTION-ERA ACCOUNT BOOK OF A RICHMOND, VIRGINIA LAW FIRM

61. [MANUSCRIPT].
COSBY, WILLIAM W.
TURNER, CHARLES W.

[Account Book of Cosby & Turner].

Richmond, Virginia, 1871–1875. [xxiv], 458 pp. Folio (13–1/2” x 8–1/2”)

Reversed calf, black-stamped frames to boards, raised bands and lettering pieces to spine. “Ledger” gilt-stamped to upper piece, marbled endpapers. Light rubbing and a few scuffs and stains to boards, heavier rubbing to extremities with some wear to spine ends and corners, rear joint starting, rear hinge cracked. Moderate toning to interior, “Cosby & Turner/ Attys at Law/ Richmond/ Virginia” to front endleaf, content to recto and versos of most leaves to p. 257, 5 manuscript items (one with entries 1876) laid in, a few annotations (including one dated 1883) and owner to front endleaves. $950.

WITH A THUMB-TABBED INDEX. Cosby and Turner practiced law in Richmond, the former capitol of the Confederacy, which was then recovering from the damage it suffered during the Civil War. Cosby, who was considered one of Richmond’s finest attorneys, was also a distinguished Confederate artillery officer. He probably met his partner, Turner, when they were law students at the University of Virginia. The firm’s 1871–1875 ledger records fees for an array of legal services to a large number of clients in Richmond and, on occasion, other parts of Virginia, including courts in Powhatan, Chesterfield, and Goochland counties. Clearly a successful firm at this time, it include fees for defense of warrants, writing land assessments and deed conveyances, executing summons in debt, representing collections on claims and providing felony defense and legal services in bankruptcy cases. Overall, this manuscript offers a fascinating daily chronicle of a successful Richmond law firm during the later years of the Reconstruction era.
ELITE MEMBERS OF THE NEW YORK CITY BAR ESTABLISHES A CLUB TO PROMOTE BENJAMIN HARRISON’S PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

62. [MANUSCRIPT].
HARRISON & MORTON CLUB OF NEW YORK.

[Harrison & Morton Club of New York (Cover Title)].

Limp calf, club name gilt-stamped to front cover, all edges gilt. A few light scratches to boards, moderate rubbing to extremities with wear to spine ends, bookseller ticket to front pastedown, front hinge cracked, a few cracks to text block, a few leaves loose or detached. Light toning to interior, occasional light soiling and finger smudges. Text in neat hand on ruled leaves. 6-1/2” x 4-1/4” cabinet-card photograph of Harrison, with light edgewear and faint spotting to image, laid-in. Items housed in archival enclosure. $2,500.

THIS CLUB WAS FOUNDED after the 1888 Republican National Convention to support the presidential campaign of Benjamin Harrison and his running mate, Levi P. Morton of New York. The first pages of its membership book contains the club’s constitution, in handsome calligraphy, which states: "We the undersigned, members of the Bar of the City of New York, being desirous of giving expression to our political convictions, in the pending campaign, through an organization, similar to those already formed by the Merchants and the members of the various Exchanges, hereby organize The Harrison and Morton Club of The Bar of New York." The constitution is followed by the signatures of 694 elite New York City attorneys and judges. Among these signers are Charles Evans Hughes [1862–1948], later chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, Benjamin H. Bristow [1832–1896], U. S. secretary of the treasury under President Grant, Chauncey Mitchell Depew [1834–1928], attorney for Cornelius Vanderbilt’s railroad interests, president of the New York Central Railroad System, and U.S. Senator from New York, 1899–1911, Henry Day [1820–1893], partner of the prominent New York City law firm Lord, Day & Lord, and Elihu Root [1845–1937], U.S. secretary of state under President Theodore Roosevelt, secretary of war under Roosevelt and President William McKinley and recipient of the Nobel Prize in 1912. With the exception of 13 tipped in autograph signatures (likely clipped from letters supportive of the club and the Harrison/Morton ticket), all of the membership signatures were made directly into the membership book in numerical sequence. The numbering is irregular in some places; seven signatures are un-numbered and there are some labeled duplicates. Some “autographs” may be secretarial, a few bearing initials beneath.

WITH A THUMB-TABBED INDEX OF CASES. John H. Remsen was a New York lawyer and notary public who served as private secretary to New York governor John Jay. This volume records work done and fees charged by Remsen on hundreds of cases at the Mayor’s Court, the Federal District Court, and the New York Supreme Court. Most of these cases were initiated from September 1795 to September 1796. Among the more noteworthy cases, Remsen represented the Bank of the United States in a protracted suit against Loyalist publisher James Rivington (pp. 169 and 170). He also represented a group led by John Jay and George Clinton.

64. [MANUSCRIPT].
[ROBERTS, WILLIAM (1767–1849)].
[COKE, SIR EDWARD (1552–1634)].
[LITTLETON, SIR THOMAS (C. 1407–1481)].

[Abridgment of Coke’s First Part of the Institutes of the Laws of England]

Contemporary limp calf with yapp edges and flap, blind fillets to edges of covers and flap, blind fillets and gilt title to spine (reading “Littleton’s Tenures”). Light toning to interior, text in neat hand to rectos and versos of most leaves, two small library stamps to front endleaf. Item housed in buckram archival box.

THE FIRST INSTITUTES, better known as Coke on Littleton, contains the text of Sir Thomas Littleton’s Tenures with extensive commentary. First published in 1628, it was a standard work for decades and was often used as a textbook. This interleaved manuscript is a painstaking abridgment of Coke’s work. The main text is preceded by a table of contents. Several leaves have footnotes and other references that appear to have been added at later dates. It was produced by a barrister with chambers at Essex Court in the Temple, who notes that he “Began this Abridgement in November 1811 [and] Finished it in July 1817.” This note is signed “Roberts Jr.” A laid-in note by a later owner of this manuscript plausibly identifies Roberts as William Roberts, a notable legal author and biographer. Overall, this manuscript abridgment is not just an epitome, but a record of serious engagement with Coke and Littleton. See front cover.

Bradford. Subscribers’ names were first solicited in February, 1755, the compilers having spent nearly two years in its preparation. Three more years were consumed in printing, and it was not until May, 1758, that it was ready for delivery. Up to that time 170 copies had been subscribed for, and the editors say, in the Pennsylvania Journal, May 11. 1758, ‘a number of copies yet remain not subscribed for,’ and ‘any person may be supplied’ until ‘the 17th of July next, after which we will not further extend the sale”: Tower 165. HANDSOME 1789 FOLIO EDITION OF NEW YORK LAWS WITH TWO INTERESTING LAID-IN MANUSCRIPT NOTES

71. [NEW YORK].
[VARICK, RICHARD (1753–1819), COMPILERS].

New York: Printed by Hugh Gaine, 1789. Two volumes bound as one. [iv], 336, [12], xii, [2], [iii], 471, [17] pp. Two laid-in manuscript notes, 5-3/4” x 8” and 6” x 8.” Folio (10” x 15”).

Contemporary calf, blind fillets to boards, “Leonard Bronk” gilt-stamped to center of front board, rebacked retaining existing spine with raised bands and lettering piece, spine ends repaired, hinges mended. Light rubbing to boards and extremities, moderate rubbing to board edges, corners bumped. Moderate toning, light foxing in a few places, offsetting to margins of preliminaries and rear endleaves.

THE FIRST VOLUME of collected New York laws printed after the ratification of the U.S. Constitution and the second issued after the American Revolution, the 1789 compilation contains laws passed 1778 through 1789, regulating such topics as governance, mortgages, debtors, land, slaves, New York City, criminal and marital law, rape, liquor and exports. Also includes an interesting law in King’s county (Brooklyn) and Queen’s county (Queens) establishing a 40 shilling fine to those carriages traveling from the City of New York that fail to give right of way to carriages going toward the city. Also includes the Constitution of the State of New York, passed April 20, 1777.

The laid-in notes are quite interesting. The first is a contract between New York City Mayor Richard Varick and Hugh Gaine dated February 7, 1792. It directs the city treasurer to pay Gaine 73 pounds for “printing an emission of notes for small change.” Issued two months before the establishment of the U.S. Mint, this note is essentially an authorization by the State of New York to issue fractional currency. The U.S. Constitution prohibited states from issuing paper money, but it appears that a few states and municipalities issued notes, or at least authorized them, in the early 1790s. Backed by the faith and credit of the issuer, these notes for small change were a response to the scarcity of coinage and the fluctuating value of copper. Such documents are rare, especially ones from New York, and offer important insights into early U.S. banking history and the interplay of federal and state rights. The other document is a note of acknowledgement for interest received on a bond from the N.Y. City treasurer signed by Hugh Gaine.

The former owner of this book, Leonard Bronk (1751–1828), was a judge and member of the New York State Assembly. He was descended from Jonas Bronck, the Dutch settler whose estate formed the basis of the present-day New York City Borough of the Bronx. Tower 632. Benedict 408.
THE LEGAL PERSECUTION OF IRISH CATHOLICS

72. PARNELL, HENRY [1776–1842].

A History of the Penal Laws Against the Irish Catholics; From the Treaty of Limerick to the Union.

London: Printed for J. Harding, 1808. [iv], 159, [i], xxiv pp. Octavo (8-1/2" x 5-1/2").

Stab-stitched pamphlet bound into recent quarter calf over cloth, gilt title to spine. Light wear to joints and spine ends. Light toning to text, faint spotting in a few places, final two leaves re-hinged. $650.

FIRST LONDON EDITION, published the same year as the first Dublin edition.

Sir Henry Parnell, later Lord Congleton, was an Anglo-Irish parliamentarian and treasury official sympathetic to the plight of Irish Catholics. Enhanced by its extensive quotation of source records, this book traces the history of laws against "religious non-conformists" between 1689 and 1801. Though certainly partisan, it is valuable for Parnell’s perspective and first-hand knowledge of several crucial events of the 1780s and 1790s. Later editions were published in 1822, 1825 and 1827. BMC 19:487.

These are the best editions according to Stobbe’s Deutsche Rechtsquellen. Gerichtlicher Prozess summarizes the Empire’s civil and criminal procedure. Der Lehenrecht addresses feudalism and feudal law. A nice copy of a notable edition. $750.

FIRST EDITION BY HOLLIS. The first edition of this important work was published in 1698, fifteen years after Sidney’s execution for treason in 1683. A reply to Filmer’s Patriarcha, the Discourses is one of the earliest modern statements of republican ideals. He proposes a doctrine of natural justice and governmental order from which all institutions vary at their peril. More important, Sidney asserts that a king’s authority is granted by parliament, which has the additional power to depose him—controversial ideas indeed during the Restoration period. The edition by Thomas Hollis helped to renew this work’s popularity during the mid-eighteenth century. A wealthy Whig author and political philosopher, Hollis produced handsome and affordable editions of works by Locke, Milton, Sidney and other seventeenth-century proponents of English liberty, which he distributed to institutions in the British Isles, Europe and the American colonies.

Thomas Jefferson was one of several individuals influenced by this text. He described it as “probably the best elementary book of the principles of government, as founded in natural right which has ever been published in any language.” Sowerby III:12. ESTC T131336.

FIRST EDITION. This book details a series of legal reforms regarding monasteries and holy orders implemented by Pope Clement VI, formerly a canon lawyer (Ippolito Aldobrandini, 1536–1605, the son of notable jurist Sylvestro Aldobrandini). For the most part, these reforms led to an increase of Papal control and supervision. Two other editions were published in 1597 and 1696. OCLC locates no copies of this title in North America. No copies located at the Library of Congress, Harvard Law School or UC-Berkeley Law School. Palau 319804.

LATER EDITIONS. First published in 1557, Staunford’s Plees is considered a “principal book” by Pollock and Maitland, one that enables us “to trace our modern laws of crimes, from the later middle ages onwards.” Based on Bracton and the Year Books, Staunford’s treatise is divided into three parts. The first treats offences, the second treats jurisdiction, appeals, indictments, and defenses. The third addresses trials and convictions. Plees was written after Staunford was appointed judge of the common pleas in 1554. Exposition of the Kinges Prerogative was first published in 1567. It addresses discretionary rights enjoyed by the monarchy in foreign policy, domestic affairs, legal and governmental administration, religion and economic matters. Noyes [1805–1864] was a leading New York lawyer and a member of the commission formed to codify the state’s laws, which resulted in the Field Codes. A man of extensive learning, he owned one of the finest law libraries in the United States. Pollock and Maitland II:448. ESTC S117813, S117817. Beale T489, T492.

FIRST EDITION. The Theodosian Code is an official compilation of all laws enacted since the reign of Constantine that was commissioned by Emperor Theodosius II in 429 CE. Completed in 438 CE, and ratified that year by the senate, it was the standard legal text of the empire, one that superseded all earlier codes. It would later exert enormous influence on the barbarians who assumed control of the Western Empire. The Visigoths, Ostrogoths, Franks, Lombards and Burgundians used it as the basis for their legal codes. Godfroy’s edition, which includes extensive commentary, was the first modern edition of the Codex. It remains a masterpiece of scholarship and erudition. This edition also contains additional notes by Antoine Marville. Graesse 209. BMC 21.980.
88. TREVERS, JOSEPH.

An Essay to the Restoring of Our Decayed Trade. Wherein is Described, the Smuglers, Lawyers, And Officers Frauds, &c.

FIRST EDITION. With two laudatory poems addressed to the author. Trevers was a customs officer who was formerly a clothier. His essay proposes legislation to combat trade policies, taxes and abuses by government officials and middlemen that affect the manufacture and trade of wool and woolen cloth. Most of his ideas are stridently protectionist, several reflect a keen hostility toward lawyers. Later editions were published in 1677 and 1678. All editions are scarce. OCLC locates 7 copies of the first edition in North America, none in law libraries. Kress 1390. ESTC R222765.

89. [TRIAL]. [CALIFORNIA]. [GAMBLING].

Pamphlet in stiff wrappers bound into contemporary three-quarter morocco over cloth, raised bands and lettering pieces to spine, patterned endpapers. Negligible light rubbing to spine ends and corners, signed inscription to verso of front free endpaper by presiding judge Louis Goodman. $350.

THE GRAND JURY of Los Angeles County convicted Adams and others for operating a gambling ship in the waters of Santa Monica Bay at a point four miles beyond the end of the municipal pier of the city of Santa Monica and approximately six miles landward from a line drawn between the headlands, Point Vicente on the south and Point Dume on the north. The case hinged on whether the ship’s location was in international waters. Adams appealed his conviction and the order denying his motion for a new trial. In this brief, Adams’s lawyer argues that the ship was in international waters because the territorial limit is measured from the shoreline, not the pier.

CARLILE, RICHARD [1790-1843], DEFENDANT AND REPORTER.

London: Printed and Published by R. Carlile, 1822. xx, 203 pp. Octavo (8-1/4” x 5-1/4”).

Stab-stitched pamphlet (without wrappers) bound into recent marbled boards with paper title label. Toning, light soiling to title page, creases to corners of a few leaves. An appealing copy. $750.

ONLY EDITION. Carlile was one of the most prolific freethinking journalist–publisher-political activists of his day. As one would suspect, he was often at odds with the government. In 1819 he was fined 1,500 pounds and imprisoned for three years for six counts of “blasphemous libel.” He published this account of the first day of his 1819 trial after his release. It deals with the information against him for publishing Thomas Paine’s Age of Reason and Examination of the Passages in the New Testament Quoted from the Old and Called prophecies Concerning Jesus Christ, which Carlile issued as The Age of Reason, Part the Third. Portions of these were read in court by Carlile with commentary. Carlile reissued this pamphlet in 1826. HLC II:1035.

[DARTMOUTH COLLEGE CASE].
FARRAR, TIMOTHY [1788–1874], REPORTER.

Portsmouth [NH]: Published by John W. Forster and West, Richardson, And Lord, Boston, [1819]. [iv], 406 pp. Octavo (8-1/2” x 5”).

Recent period-style calf, blind fillets to boards, blind fillets and lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed. Moderate toning to text, somewhat darker around margins, very faint dampstaining in a few places, light foxing to a few leaves. Small early owner signature to head of title page, brief early annotations to margins in a few places, interior otherwise clean. Ex-library. Two tiny inkstamps to foot of p. [iii]. A handsome copy. $1,500.

FARRAR’S IS THE FIRST published report of the landmark case involving the contract rights of corporations. With all the material related to the case, including the arguments of Webster and Wirt and the opinions of Chief Justice Marshall and Justices Story and Washington, and an appendix containing the texts of related documents. The New Hampshire legislature passed a bill in 1816 that revoked Dartmouth College’s original charter and converted the college from a private to a state institution. The college challenged the constitutionality of this act in the New Hampshire Supreme Court without success, but the U.S. Supreme Court reversed the state’s decision in a landmark opinion based on the contract clause of the Constitution (Article I, Section 10). “By construing the contract clause as a means of protecting corporate charters from state interventions, Marshall derived a significant limitation on state authority. As a result, various forms of private economic and social activity would enjoy security from state regulatory policy. Marshall thus encouraged, through constitutional sanction, the emergence of the relatively unregulated private, autonomous economic actor as the major participant in a liberal political economy that served the commonwealth by promoting enlightened self interest”: Alfred F. Konefsky, “Dartmouth College v. Woodward” in Hall 218–219. Cohen 11614.

CROSSWELL, HARRY (1778–1858), DEFENDANT.

The Speeches at Full Length of Mr Van Ness, Mr. Caines, the Attorney-General, Mr. Harrison, And General Hamilton, In the Great Cause of the People, Against Harry Croswell, On an Indictment for a Libel on Thomas Jefferson, President of the United States.

Disbound stab-stitched pamphlet. Moderate toning, occasional light foxing, negligible light soiling to title page and verso of final leaf. $2,500.

ONLY EDITION. People of the State of New York v. Harry Croswell, also known as People v. Croswell, is a landmark case in the history of the First Amendment. It was a prosecution for criminal libel under the Sedition Act in the Court of General Sessions of the Peace of Columbia County, New York. Croswell was indicted for an article, published in The Wasp, a Federalist newspaper he edited, that accused Jefferson of hiring James Callender to write articles attributing various crimes to Washington and Adams. Croswell was defended by a distinguished team of lawyers, among them Alexander Hamilton. In one of his greatest and most influential speeches, and one of the last he gave in his lifetime, Hamilton argued that freedom of the press consists in publishing the truth, from good motives and for justifiable ends, however it may reflect on its subjects. More important, he argued for a rejection of libel based on English rules, which remained a part of New York law, especially the rule that truthfulness is not a reason for acquittal. Croswell was convicted, but he was not sentenced or retried. And the cause of his case was mooted the following year when the New York State Legislature abandoned English libel law in favor of one based on Hamilton’s argument. It became the law of the land when the other states and the Federal government followed New York’s example. Cohen 13322.

HOWE, THOMAS, DEFENDANT.

Boston: Printed by T. Kennard, 1810. 299 pp. Octavo (9-1/2" x 5-3/4").

Original publisher boards, recent cloth rebacking, untrimmed edges, black-stamped title and fillets to spine, hinges mended, several signatures unopened. Light soiling and rubbing to boards, heavier rubbing to board edges with some wear, corners bumped, owner signature (Albert E. Greene) and a few inkspots to front board. Moderate toning, somewhat heavier in places, occasional light foxing. Library stamps to pp. 9 and 83, recent owner inscription to front free endpaper, early presentation inscription (to Greene from William P. Rogers) to head of title page. $1,250.

ONLY EDITION. This is the first and only volume of The Militia Reporter. It contains accounts of three courts-martial, including the notable court-martial of Captain Joseph Loring. "Brigadier General John Winslow accused [Loring] of permitting his men to mutiny by failing to enforce a brigade order to appear on parade in protest of a change in Winslow's rank and command. In 1805 a division court martial acquitted Loring, but Major General Simon Elliot, after asking for a reconsideration of the decision, refused to accept the acquittal and dissolved the court. A second division court martial convened in 1806 found Loring guilty, and ordered him removed and disqualified for military service for three years. In 1807 Loring petitioned the Massachusetts General Court to ask that the decision be invalidated, arguing that it had not been regularly detailed and thus had denied him an impartial trial. The General Court overturned the 1806 decision and ordered Loring reinstated to his former rank and command.". Cohen 13473, note to 13551.

1721 COMPILATION OF LAWS CONCERNING RELIGION AND EDUCATION IN THE ENGLISH COLONIES IN AMERICA

95. TROTT, NICHOLAS [1663–1740].

The Laws of the British Plantations in America, Relating to the Church and the Clergy, Religion and Learning. Collected in One Volume.

Recent period-style quarter calf over marbled boards, raised bands and lettering piece to spine, speckled edges, endpapers renewed. Title page printed in red and black, title and text printed within ruled borders, woodcut head-pieces, tail-pieces and initial letters. Moderate toning to text, light foxing in a few places, repairs to clean tears to two leaves, upper corner of title page repaired. $3,500.

FIRST EDITION. Trott was a judge, legal scholar and biblical scholar. Born into a prosperous commercial family with ties to Bermuda and the Bahamas, he spent most of his professional life in America. He was chief justice of South Carolina from 1703 until 1719. In 1718 he became famous as the judge who tried the pirate Stede Bonnet. His keen interest in the promotion of religion and education is reflected in his compilation of colonial laws on those topics. It covers South and North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, the New England states, Bermuda and Britain's Caribbean possessions: Barbados, Antigua, Nevis, Montserrat and St. Christopher. The preface includes a bibliography. A second edition was published in 1725. Both are quite scarce in commerce; the last two auctions records, both of first editions, are from 2014 and 1962. OCLC locates 7 copies of the first edition in North American law libraries (Columbia, Harvard, Library of Congress, New England Law School, UC-Berkeley, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota). A VIRGINIAN PEER TO KENT AND STORY

96. TUCKER, HENRY ST. GEORGE [1780–1848].

Commentaries on the Laws of Virginia, Comprising the Substance of a Course of Lectures Delivered to the Winchester Law School.

Winchester: Printed at the Office of the Republican for the Author, 1836–1837. Two volumes. xx, 9, 165, 458, 35; xxviii, 506, 34, 17 pp. Tipped-in errata slips noted in Bryson, but not in Cohen or Laeuchli, not present. Octavo (8-1/4” x 5-1/4”).

Recent period style quarter calf over marbled boards, gilt fillets and lettering pieces to spines, endpapers renewed. Moderate toning to text, early annotations in pencil in places, chip to lower corner of pp. 335–226 of Volume II just touching text, faint later library stamps to title pages, library markings to versos. A handsome copy. $850.

SECOND EDITION. Along with James Kent’s Commentaries on American Law and Joseph Story’s Commentaries on the Constitution, Tucker’s two volume work established the standard for American treatise writing and helped to organize American law. The Commentaries served as the primary reference source for the bar of Virginia as well as for many in the rest of the country, and was considered the most valuable text for students and lawyers in much of the South until the Civil War. While modeled on Blackstone’s Commentaries, Tucker’s treatise is entirely original. In that way it is a much more impressive accomplishment than his father’s edition of Blackstone. Tucker’s Commentaries on the Laws of Virginia is based on his lectures at Winchester Law School, which he established in 1824. The first edition appeared in 1831, the third and final edition in 1846. It is possible that some copies of the second edition were not issued with errata sheets, presumably earlier copies. Cohen 5427. Laeuchli 518.

“FOR MY MASTER IS NOBLE AND I AM HIS CLARKE SIR”

100. [WILLIAMS, CHARLES (D. 1830)].
[CLARKE, MARY ANNE (C.1776–1852)].

The Female Agent.

[London]: Walker, No. 7 Cornhill, March 1809.

13-1/4” x 9-1/2” hand-colored etching with etched verse, 5-3/4” x 8-3/4” image above title and 21 lines of verse, in three stanzas, framed by rows of fat purses tied to long pikes. Light even toning, top-edge trimmed somewhat close to head of image. Few minor stains to margins, a few negligible tiny spots to image. $750.

IN 1806 IT WAS DISCOVERED that Mary Anne Clarke, the mistress of the army commander-in-chief, Prince Frederick, Duke of York and Albany [1763–1827], was selling commissions for personal profit, presumably with Frederick’s cooperation. Investigated by Parliament, Frederick was exonerated. He resigned his post, however, because a large minority voted against him. In this print Clarke, seated on a drum upon a dais dressed in military regalia and holding a sword aloft, is receiving a group of unfit applicants for commissions. She is surrounded by soldiers, including one holding a Union Jack featuring the white horse of Hanover, an allusion to Frederick, a member of the House of Hanover. The end of the first verse, which ends with an allusion based on the English pronunciation of “clerk” as “clark,” reads: “A Warehouse I keep for the sale of Commissions, And our Prices you’ll find will suit all conditions, You’ll be treated with Honor if you secrecy mark Sir, For my Master is Noble and I am his Clarke Sir.” BM 11265. See title page.

ONE OF THE GREAT SCANDALS OF THE HANOVERIAN PERIOD

101. [WILLIAMS, CHARLES].
[CLARKE, MARY ANNE].

Mother Carey’s Chickens.

[London]: S.W. Fores, No. 50 Piccadilly, November 1808.

Hand-colored etching with etched text, 9-3/4” x 14-1/2” (measured to plate marks). Light even toning, light soiling, edgewear and a few minor tears and creases to margins, tiny spot to the left side of image. $750.

THE PRINT’S TITLE refers to the storm petrel, a small common sea bird associated with scavenging and, in nautical folklore, the imminent arrival of a storm. On the left side of the image Clarke stands at the door of a rustic cottage and shakes out a cloth full of tiny officers holding money-bags. The cloth is inscribed “Pin Money instead of Allowance,” that is, the allowance she would receive as a mistress. She says: “This is a profitable Plan of his and pays me a Devilish deal better than he can, besides the Patronage!” On the right, five old officers, two of them crippled from battle, watch their tiny rivals with consternation. One of the lines below the image reads: “NB these Birds have lately been seen hovering about the Horse Guards.” BM Satires 11050.
102. [WOOD, THOMAS (1661–1722)].

[BIND WITH]

London: Printed by W.B. for Richard Sare, 1705. [iv], 144 pp.

Octavo (7-1/2" x 4-3/4"). Contemporary paneled speckled calf, rebacked in period style with raised bands, lettering piece and gilt ornaments, endpapers renewed. Light rubbing to boards, moderate rubbing to extremities, joints just starting at ends, corners bumped and lightly worn, hinges cracked. Moderate toning, early owner annotation to half-title of New Institute, minor loss to lower corners of Leaves F1 (pp.65–66) and I1 (pp.113–114) due to paper flaws with negligible loss to text.

NEW INSTITUTE: first edition; Treatise: only edition as an independent work. Wood’s New Institute was a standard Anglo–American treatise during the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries and a well-thumbed reference for jurists who wished to apply an element of civilian learning to their work, such as Joseph Story. As the title suggests, it is not only a summary adapted to the needs of students, but also a pioneering essay in comparative law. Wood pays some attention as well to Roman law’s influence on the historical development of English law. Indeed, he observes that “Fleta and Bracton would look very naked if every Roman lawyer should pluck away his feathers” (ix). The Treatise is concerned with the philosophy of Roman law. It is incorporated in the later editions of the New Institute, which were published in 1712, 1721 and 1730. ESTC T112596, T112584.

COVERS REGNAL YEARS 1–16, 20 and 21 Henry VII. With an index of cases, side-notes and cross-references to Brooke, Fitzherbert and other authorities. It is difficult to overestimate the importance of the Year Books. As a series of notes on debates and points of pleadings in Norman England they are of crucial primary sources for our knowledge of medieval common law. They also provide a richly detailed portrait of contemporary English life, customs and manners. The origin of the Year Books is unknown. Maitland believed that the earliest volumes were notes taken by law students in court copied for the use of pleaders in later cases. Holdsworth maintains that they were records of cases made by lawyers for personal use. Though it is not known when the first manuscript volumes were compiled, it is clear that cases can be found to date from the 1270’s and the series continues to 1535. Printed editions of the Year Books were first issued by William de Machlinia between 1481 and 1482. The present volume belongs to the so-called “Quarto Edition.” Not a set in the conventional sense, these volumes were issued separately with various dates and impressions between 1522 and 1619. OCLC locates two copies of the present imprint in North American law libraries (Harvard, University of Pennsylvania). Holdsworth V. 357 – 377. ESTC S121423. Beale R414.
THE FIRST ENGLISH WRITER ON JURISPRUDENCE

104. ZOUCH RICHARD [1590–1661].

Elementa Jurisprudentiae, Definitionibus, Regulis & Sententiaribus Juris Civilis, Illustri; Accesserunt Descriptiones Juris & Judicii, Sacri, Militaris, Et Maritimi.

Recent period-style quarter calf over marbled boards, lettering piece and gilt ornaments to spine. Light toning to text. A handsome copy. $1,000.

THIRD EDITION, an issue of the Elzevier edition of 1652 with a cancel title page. One of England’s greatest civilians, Zouch was an advocate of Doctors’ Commons, Judge of the High Court of Admiralty and Regius Professor of Civil Law at Oxford. He published treatises on a broad range of legal topics and is best known for his contributions to international law. He is equally important as the first English writer to publish works on jurisprudence. Elementa Jurisprudentiae is an ambitious general study that lays out a general theory of general principles applicable to all branches and systems of legal science. The second, third and fourth parts, Descriptio Juris et Judicii Sacri; Ad Quam Leges, Quae Religionem, Et Piam Causam Respiciunt, Referuntur. Descriptio Juris & Judicii Militaris; Ad Quam Leges, Quae rem Militarem et Ordinem Personarum et Descriptio Juris et Judicii Maritimi; Ad Quam quae Navigationem et Negociationem Maritimam Respiciunt, Referuntur are distinct essays on topics in English ecclesiastical law, the laws of war and military discipline and laws concerning ships and sea-borne cargo. The latter two essays also deal with international law. The first two editions were published in Oxford in 1629 and 1636. The following two editions, with different additional contents, were issued in Holland in 1652 and 1665. According to Willems, some copies of this title were printed by other printers, some with cancel title pages, others with counterfeit Elzevier title pages. See Willems 717.

THE BLACK BOOK OF JUSTICE HOLMES
Text Transcript and Commentary
MICHAEL H. HOEFLICH and STEVEN A. EPSTEIN, Editors
Foreword by Justice Caleb Stegall, Kansas Supreme Court
Transcriptions by Michael H. Hoeflich, Steven A. Epstein, Ashley Akers and Will Admusson

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. was one of the seminal and most significant figures in American history, as a judge and as a legal scholar. He was also, without question, one of the most well-read and erudite jurists of his age. Justice Holmes kept his personal notes in a volume that he called the Black Book. He filled it with notes on his reading lists, notes on books he read, accounts of his travels, and even the schedule of flower blooms in Washington, D.C. for more than fifty years. This volume gives insight into his mind and activities for a half century.

Here the original text is provided with a transcription on facing pages. Additional essays by editors Michael H. Hoeflich, Steven A. Epstein and others highlight the significance of the Black Book.

ANGLO-AMERICAN LAW: A Comparison
DR. MICHAEL ARNHEIM

English and American law share a common origin. Yet the differences between them are now greater than the similarities. Anglo-American Law: A Comparison identifies the differences between the two systems of law and their constitutions. From Anglo-Saxon law to Brexit, from the Founders to President Trump, Arnheim compares the English and American legal systems and shows how they differ, particularly in matters of constitutional law, tort, civil and human rights, abortion, codification, freedom of religion, privacy, judicial review, defamation, and more.

“Noteworthy for its insights and up to the minute in coverage, experienced attorneys and law students have much to learn from this volume.”

WILLIAM E. BUTLER,
Dickinson Law, Pennsylvania State University
